BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

Music and pageantry and fireworks will be woven together again tonight in the bright pattern of a three hour entertainment—the seventh annual Chicagoland Music Festival at Soldiers' field. A crowd of more than 100,000 is expected to witness what has become one of the outstanding musical events of Chicago's summer season.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE bids you welcome. A cast of 6,000 performers promises an evening of "big moments." It will be an evening for display of the talents of individual artists, for the choruses and marching bands. It will be an evening in which the audience, too, will be the performers. For the great crowd will find emotional outlet in singing favorite songs.

Songs the Nation Loves.

From the routine of the day, the festival promises surcease on the surging tides of melody. Not academic music, but the songs that have been sung so often before and will be heard so many times again.

Here are massed bands moving in intricate maneuvers; choruses blending in song; drummers and buglers parading to their own stirring accompaniments; 600 little girls swaying and turning in a "dance flame" pageant; the victorious contestants from Chicagoland giving their winning selections; fireworks streaking across the sky.

Marion Claire, lovely opera star and W-G-N artist, is the soloist of the evening. She sings the "Blue Danube" waltz, re-creating the days of old Vienna when it was the frolic capital of the world.

The Marches of Sousa!

The festival begins at 7 o'clock in the evening. In the first forty minutes the winning drum and bugle corps and winners of the chorus and instrumental contests, to be held today, will give their selections. At 7:45, thirty-six bands—1,400 musicians—will make their grand entrance, playing Sousa marches. James Petrillo, head of the Chicago Federation of Musicians, will lead a band of 300 union men.

The spotlight swings then to the festival orchestra of 100 pieces, directed by Henry Weber, festival codirector with Victor Grabel. The orchestra plays the prelude to the third act of "Lohengrin." A chorus of 1,000 voices, from church choral societies, sings the rousing "Soldiers' Chorus" from the opera "Faust."

1,000 Voices Singing Spirituals.

At 8:25 a Negro chorus, also 1,000 voices, directed by J. Wesley Jones, sings three spirituals. The community singing follows, giving the audience the chance to aid the latent tenors and suppressed sopranos. Noble Cain, director of the festival chorus, leads in the singing of "America." Then come "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," "Old Black Joe," "Swanee River, and "Sweet Adeline."

Mr. Weber directs his orchestra in the fiery finale of Tschaikowsky's Fourth Symphony. Allan Grant, concert pianist, plays "On the Road to Mandalay." More winning bands march by; then the high school bands, with more than 1,000 Chicago students in the parade line. Their 32 directors precede them, carrying flaming torches.

At 9:10 Father Finn, director of the famous New York Paulist choir,

PRESIDENT SAYS HE'LL CONTINUE ANTI-WAR DRIVE

Cites Efforts Made to Promote Peace.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chautauqua, N. Y., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Commenting in bitter tones upon the unsuccessful efforts of the United States to promote international peace, President Roosevelt tonight pledged his administration to a continuance of attempts to prevent war.

Seven thousand residents at the Chautauqua summer camp here cheered the President as he delivered in his most eloquent fashion an oration featured by a poetic indictment of war which brought his audience to their feet in a very frenzy of enthusiasm.

Plays on Emotions.

The President's audience was composed mainly of elderly men and women, retired school teachers of both sexes, farming men and women, quiet, peace loving persons in their fifties and sixties, who were stirred almost to a religious hysteria as the President played upon their emotions with his throbbing periods.

He asserted that the effective maintenance of American neutrality depends mainly "on the wisdom and determination" of the President and secretary of state. He asserted that he and Secretary Cordell Hull possess those necessary qualities, although he added modestly that "all the wisdom of America is not to be found in the White House or in the department of state."

The President was in his best oratorical vein. His voice was vibrant as he thundered: "I hate war."

Refers to "Bitter Experience."

"It is a bitter experience to us when the spirit of agreements to which we are a party is not lived up to," he said. "It is an even more bitter experience for the whole company of nations to witness not only the spirit but the letter of international agreements violated with impunity and without regard to the simple principles of honor."

As if recollecting that he himself has been charged by his political opponents with being forgetful of party pledges made in 1932, the President paused before adding firmly:

Outlines U. S. Efforts.

Mr. Roosevelt outlined the attempts of the United States to assist international movement to end war.

"We coöperated to the bitter end—and it was a bitter end—in the work of the general disarmament conference," he recalled. "When it failed, we sought a separate treaty to deal with the manufacture of arms and the international trafic in arms. That proposal also came to nothing. We participated—again to the bitter end—in a conference to continue naval limitations, and when it became evident that no general treaty could be signed because of the objections of

WHEAT AND THE PLANNED ECONOMY

Mr. Roosevelt's planned economy and the Russian planned economy have points of resemblance and points of difference. The Russians took the prosperous farmer, the kulak, off his land and sent him to Siberia or up to the Arctic. The Roosevelt planned economy plowed the share cropper under with the third row of cotton and bounced the tenant and the farm laborer off the land and out on the highway by paying the proprietor to reduce his producing acres.

Thomas D. Campbell of Montana, because of the extent of his wheat lands, would amount to a hundred or more of the largest Russian kulaks. Mr. Roosevelt did not send him to a barren spot in Alaska. Mr. Wallace gave him $51,000 for not raising wheat. The Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Co., Ltd., got a million dollars for not producing sugar. Many other instances are in the interesting report which Senator Vandenberg of Michigan succeeded in forcing out of Mr. Wallace.

'L' Passengers Walk as River Bridge Jams

Passengers on all north side elevated trains were forced to walk to and from the loop last night during a 3½ hour period while the Wells street bridge was out of commission, due to broken main bearings on the north span. It was the third time within ten days that the bridge has been closed for repairs, blocking street and river trafic.

At 6:41 p. m. yesterday, just after the evening rush hours, the north span jammed at an angle of about 45 degrees. All trafic across the bridge was stopped. Included were all trains of the north side division of the Rapid Transit lines and all North Shore line trains.

Passengers Walk Across.

As a temporary expedient, southbound trains were shunted on to the Kinzie street stub, extending east from the main line to Clark street. Passengers were unloaded at the North Water terminal station, and walked across the Clark street bridge to board loop trains at the Clark-Lake station. Meanwhile northbound passengers also walked across the Clark street bridge to board trains at the North Water terminal.

River craft were able to get past the disabled bridge, since the south span could be raised and lowered independently. Automobile and pedestrian trafic was required to detour over other bridges.

River Trafic Blocked.

Finally, at shortly after 10 p. m., repair crews succeeded in lowering the north span, but found that it sagged below the other, still blocking trafic. A large jack was placed at the outermost edge of the south span and was raised to push the other section into position. This permitted resumption of street trafic, but prevented raising the bridge for the passage of boats. Completion of repairs was not expected before noon today.

The first of the recent mishaps to the Wells street bridge was on Aug. 5, when river trafic was jammed twice in the morning and afternoon as the mechanism went haywire.

On the following day the bridge was closed for nearly an hour while it was being repaired. Last Nov. 15 trafic on the lower, or vehicular, level of the bridge was blocked after a sandboat rammed it.

TOWN IS IMPERILED AS TRACTOR ROAMS WITHOUT OPERATOR

Stuttgart, Ark., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Running "wild" through Stuttgart, a powerful tractor with a trailer attached threw and ran over its operator, felled trees and broke down fences and for a time "threatened" the business district today.

Five Skeet club members, whose shooting match was broken up by the driverless vehicle, followed it on its rampage, hoping to get a chance to shoot off the carburetor. They finally caught up and switched off the motor when the tractor tackled one tree too many.

James Saunders, 25, of Arkansas City, the operator, was thrown from the machine and injured seriously. He had a broken leg and probable internal injuries.

The driverless machine headed across Main street and toward the nearby Skeet club. The members scattered, but the tractor veered off toward a field, broke down several fences, flattened small trees, and then headed back across Main street. It finally was halted within 20 feet of a residence.

BOMB DAMAGES FLAT BUILDING IN ROGERS PARK

A black powder bomb was exploded early today at the front entrance of a three story apartment building at 6434 Bosworth avenue, in the Rogers Park residential district, causing damage estimated at several thousand dollars. The blast shattered windows of the building, wrecked the door, and destroyed furnishings of the first floor apartment, which is occupied by the family of Angelo Salerno, 30 years old, operator of a news stand at State and Van Buren streets.

The building is owned by Salerno and his brother-in-law, Samuel Marotta, 38 years old, who lives on the second floor. Marotta operates a news stand at State and Lake streets. On the third floor lives Dr. William Larkin, 52 years old, a physician. Members of all the families were asleep when the explosion occurred and none was injured.

Salerno and Marotta, questioned by the Rogers Park police, said they had received no threats and knew of no reason for the bombing. Dr. Larkin also could offer no explanation of the attack.

18 Killed, 14 Hurt as Train Wrecks Truck

LOUISEVILLE, Que., Aug. 15 [Saturday].—(AP)—Eighteen men, returning from a political rally, were killed today and 14 others seriously injured when a fast Canadian Pacific freight train struck the truck in which they were riding. Four jumped to safety as the train plowed into the vehicle at a level grade crossing.

The victims were all residents of Louiseville and immediate vicinity and had attended a political debate staged as part of the campaign in Québec's provincial election.

Wrecked Truck Burns.

Bodies and wreckage were strewn along the railroad track after the terrific force of the collision shoved the truck along the rails. The truck caught fire and burned.

Joseph Richot, who owns a garage near the crossing, was the first to reach the scene. He organized a crew of rescue workers and, aided by the train crew and police, pulled many bodies from the wreckage.

Turn Garage Into Morgue.

The injured were taken to the Three Rivers hospital, 15 miles east of Louiseville. Dr. Thomas Caron, coroner, began an immediate investigation after establishing a temporary morgue in Richot's garage.

The men were returning home from St. Justin where L. J. Thisdel, liberal member of parliament, and Paul Caron, Union Nationale candidate, had debated.

Gets Hand at Pinochle Worth 480 and Falls Dead

The pinochle hand that was dealt last night to John Anderson, 67 years old, was one of the best he ever held—and it was also his last. Anderson, a conductor on the Soo Line, whose home is in Fond du Lac, Wis., was seated in a tavern at 9645 Irving Park boulevard, Schiller Park, when the hand was dealt. He swiftly appraised its worth—480 points—then made his bid and collapsed. A physician, who found Anderson dead on his arrival, declared excitement had brought on a heart attack.

All Americans Are Urged to Leave Madrid

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—The state department tonight announced that Eric C. Wendelin, who is in charge of the American embassy at Madrid, has prepared to close the embassy if that city is attacked by Spanish rebels. Wendelin has borne the brunt of caring for American refugees, while Ambassador Claude G. Bowers has kept far from danger or any of the tribulations of the revolt on his "floating embassy," the coast guard cutter Cayuga.

The announcement was based on a report from Wendelin, who said the American embassy had again urged all Americans to leave the city. In his plea Wendelin said that the embassy will be closed "if conditions warant," and that all Americans should leave unless they prefer to remain and take their chances in the fighting.

There are 186 Americans still in Madrid, of whom 65 are living in the embassy. Wendelin has arranged for these to go to Alicante tomorrow and board the cruiser Quincy.

Move to Rescue American.

The state department moved today to effect the release of an American reported to be among 38 members of the staf of a British mining company being held as hostages by forces of the Spanish government.

The American is J. O. Ambler, whose address is listed at the state department as San Antonio, Tex. Ambler is an employé of the Rio Tinto Mining corporation.

Acting Secretary of State William Phillips cabled Charles A. Bay, American consul at Seville, to coöperate with the British consul there to protect Ambler.

The state department was informed that American tourists who had been stranded at Granada since the outbreak of the revolt were taken from the danger zone by plane yesterday to Seville. The refugees were taken by automobile to Cadiz, where they were put aboard the American battleship Oklahoma this morning.

Only one American, J. H. Jordan of Atlanta, was left behind. Jordan volunteered to remain because there was no room for him on the plane, which carried 18 tourists.

Among those taken aboard the Oklahoma were Mr. and Mrs. Everett E. Tolman of Mundelein, Ill.

British May Land Sailors.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—A landing party of British sailors may be ordered to evacuate thirty-seven British and one American citizen from the Rio Tinto mines near Huelva, it was said authoritatively tonight.

Chicagoans Reach Gibraltar.

GIBRALTAR, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The Misses Jane Bruce Ross and Leila Cook Barber of Chicago reached here today after a flight from shell torn Granada, Spain. They were flown out of the rebel city by Viscount De Sibour of London to Tangier. They planned to sail for New York tonight aboard the Conte di Savoia.

3 PLANES CRASH IN DRAMATIC AIR DUEL IN SPAIN

City Fired by Flame Bombs; Many Slain.

BULLETIN.

LISBON, Portugal, Aug. 15.—(Saturday)—(AP)—Portuguese troops patrolling the Spanish frontier fired on a group of loyal Spanish militiamen who, the Portuguese said, were attempting to cross the border. This was announced early today. The incident occurred near Campo Maior, Portugal, northwest of Badajoz, Spain, it was stated.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Red mobs control Madrid and the Spanish foreign office has admitted it cannot guarantee the safety of foreign representatives, who are preparing to quit the capital, it was said tonight by reliable diplomatic quarters. One of the diplomats still in Madrid cabled his foreign office, it was stated, that a final meeting would be held tomorrow morning to dissolve the diplomatic corps and make plans to quit the country.

The flyer shot down one plane, it reported. Then, seeing himself hopelessly outnumbered, he plunged deliberately into a second rebel ship. Both crashed in flames.

The Catalan government asserted its leftist forces, supporting the Madrid régime, had successfully blocked a counterattack by rebel troops at Huesca, in northeastern Spain. During a long battle Catalon officials said, a squadron of loyalist planes brought down two rebel aircraft, which crashed in flames.

A number of smaller engagements were reported near Tradienta, in the same region.

FLYERS SET CITY AFIRE

LISBON, Portugal, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Mass executions of prisoners and slaughter by incendiary airplane bombs were stories of horror told tonight by refugees from Spain.

The correspondent of the newspaper Diario Noticias reported from Rosal de la Fronteira that Fascist rebel forces entered the town of Almendralejo, in Badajoz province, and executed 1,000 militiamen, including about 100 women, who supported the Madrid government.

The city of Badajoz, held by government fighters, was said to be in flames. Refugees pouring across the border into Portugal by the thousands said 19 incendiary bombs were dropped on Badajoz by rebel airplanes. Observers in the fortified frontier town of Elvas, Portugal, witnessed the blazing bombardment.

Buildings Are Blown Up.

Advices reaching Elvas late tonight said the rebels had gained control of all of Badajoz except the old quarter, where loyalists still held out. Several buildings in the city were reported to have been dynamited.

Men identified with the Madrid government were arrested and disarmed as they crossed the border, but women and children were allowed to go free.

A major who commanded the government storm guards at Badajoz was among the refugees taken before the Elvas military government, where he described the horrors of the bombardment. Most of the victims were women, children and old people, he said.

The governor of Badajoz also was reported to be among the refugees. He was taken to a hospital suffering a heart attack and vowed never again to return to Spain.

Hand to Hand Fighting.

The battle for Badajoz was reported to have begun early in the morning when rebel artillery opened a stiff bombardment, supported by an aerial attack over the heart of the city.

The rebel advance, it was said, ceased suddenly about 11 a. m. and then, after about a six-hour lull, started again in a fierce thrust.

The insurgents, it was reported,

Columns of rebels were reported to have swept past 3,000 militiamen and 500 regular soldiers and on to the Trinidad gate. The defense forces, reports said, were herded into an old castle, one of the Moorish relics which the town has recently used as a quarry. Unlimbering guns in the streets, the rebels then began a heavy shelling of the ancient battlements after capturing Fort San Cristobal.

Portugal Protests "Invasion."

The Portuguese government instructed its chargé d'affaires at Madrid tonight to protest strongly to the Spanish government against violation of Portuguese territory by loyalist troops yesterday.

The Lisbon administration told its Madrid representative to use "terms of great energy" in holding the Spanish government responsible for an alleged incursion of Spanish loyalists who were said to have seized and shot dead a Spanish officer who had taken refuge on a Portuguese estate. It was understood Portugal's protest held the Madrid government responsible for "moral and material reparation."

Terror Reign in San Sebastian.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HENDAYE, France, Aug. 14.—A virtual reign of terror existed today in the besieged city of San Sebastian, on the northern Spanish coast, following the rebel bombardment from the air yesterday.

Loyalist forces who have been holding the city for nearly a month against rebel onslaughts began a roundup of persons suspected of having Fascist sympathies and threatened to hold mass executions if the rebels did not halt their air raids or if the rebel cruiser Almirante Cervera, patroling the sea near by, dropped a single shell on the city.

Many persons were picked up in the dragnet and imprisoned with 700 alleged Fascists already held by the loyalist forces. The loyalists are reported to have informed the rebels that for each person wounded by rebel bullets or shells two hostages would be killed, and for each person killed by the rebel fire seven hostages would be put to death.

One report said fifty Fascists had already been executed by a band of anarchists which broke into the San Sebastian jail and turned loose a machine gun on the prisoners.

Madrid Claims Victories.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Aug. 14.—Scattered victories by loyalist forces in various parts of the country were reported by the government tonight.

In the Guadarrama mountains north of the capital a three mile advance was said to have been made by government forces.

Two hundred rebels were reported to have been captured at Pozo Blanco, near Cordoba, on the southern front.

A column of loyalist forces was reported marching to relieve the beleaguered army of miners in the city of Oviedo, in the north. Street fighting was reported in the Asturian city.

Loyalist artillery was reported to be shelling the rebels at Saragossa, while loyal reinforcements were being sent to this area from Barcelona.

Government planes bombed the Alcazar at Toledo, where a band of rebels has successfully defied efforts of loyalist forces to oust them. Two of the four turrets of the Alcazar were reported to have been wrecked by bombs.

HIGH TIDES HIT SUBURBAN AREA OF LONG BEACH

Long Beach, Cal., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Eighteen square blocks of Belmont Shores, suburban section in Long Beach, were flooded by high tide tonight as the ocean swept over the beach and up into home areas. Trafic was detoured from the district as the streets became curb-deep in water shortly before 7 p. m. In the Long Beach amusement zone sand bags were used to prevent water from swishing through dance halls and "pike" attractions.

A coast guard boat was dispatched when reports were received of three persons marooned in a small boat three-fourths of a mile out of Alamitos bay.

One motor boat party was rescued here and ten bathers were rescued from the surf by life guards.

Policemen Patrol Streets to Shoot Wild Squirrels

Five policemen from the Summerdale station, armed with shotguns, patroled the 1600 blocks on Olive and Hollywood avenues yesterday. They were under orders to shoot to kill several squirrels—formerly pets of the neighborhood—that lately became wild and bit several children. One of the victims was Elaine Johnson, 12 years old, 1633 Olive avenue, who was bitten on the index finger of her right hand. She received injections of serum to prevent rabies.

CATALONIA RULED BY DICTATORSHIP OF RED WORKERS

Governs Spanish Province by Gun and Decree.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PORTBOU, Spain, Aug. 14.—As an outcome of the Spanish civil war Catalonia has been plunged into sweeping social and governmental changes which at first hand appear to make what is happening in this corner of Spain as significant as the Russian revolution of 1917 or the French revolution nearly 150 years ago.

Although the central functions of the government at Barcelona are ostensibly in the hands of a democratically elected generalitat, the entire province in practice is ruled by Syndicalists and anarchists, known, respectively, by the initials C. N. T. and F. A. I.

Rule Local Governments.

All local government functions are in the hands of revolutionary committees made up of elements of these parties. An anarcho-syndicalist committee sits in the city hall in each town of Catalonia, replacing the mayor. Government is by decree of these committees and usually is of a drastic and sweeping nature. The city halls are decorated with red flags with the hammer and sickle emblem.

Other important ruling functions have been taken over by another committee known as the central war committee and the anti-fascist militia, whose decrees and regulations also are plastered over the walls and houses of Catalonian towns.

Public order in Catalonia is in the hands of these committees, whose edicts are enforced by workmen wearing red armlets and variously armed with rifles, shotguns, and revolvers.

Frontier Is Closed.

The members of the anarcho-syndicalist committee and the war committee sit on richly upholstered furniture in the city halls signing decrees and looking at visitors through two or three days' growths of whiskers. They are defiant and firm in their attitude that "the Fascists are not going to win."

Catalonia is still fighting for the government at Madrid while these sweeping social changes go on.

The anti-Fascist war committee has closed the frontier to most people during the last three days. Hundreds of refugees or relatives of persons who are in want in Spanish towns are streaming back into the country through Portbou if they can show they are residents of the country or needed by relatives. All others are refused entry into the interior.

"From now on we want to know all those who are in Barcelona," they are told.

How Red Revolt Works.

Once across the frontier, however, one may see how the Red revolution in Catalonia is working. Outwardly in Portbou and Figueros everything is as calm as it is on the French side. Men sit at café tables under awnings playing dominos; stores, restaurants, and barber shops are open, and children play football in the streets. There are no signs that much work is going on.

The shops apparently have a plentiful store of food. Grim looking armed workmen with open shirt collars are never out of one's range of view. The proprietor of the Globe café of Portbou, a tall, lantern jawed man in mufti, is on duty with a rifle at the railway station when trains arrive. It is his contribution to law and order.

The young, white collared clerk at the railway station who answered questions formally at the information bureau is a powerful member now of the people's committee. Underdogs among the working class are now sitting in the seats of the mighty signing decrees.

"Industry and Trade Ruined."

With all this, however, life flows on as usual, apparently. One sees people, evidently of the middle class, going about well dressed, continuing their business with resignation and restraint.

"Spain's industry and commerce have been completely ruined," said one of these middle class shopkeepers. "Within a short time the peseta will be worth nothing. Everything will soon be collectivized and socialized. What's the use of taking in pesetas now?"

Portbou's Gothic church on the hillside not far from the station has been disconnected from religious purposes and turned into a "casa del pueblo," or house of the people. Fewer churches have been actually destroyed than one would imagine from the propaganda sent out of Spain. They do not destroy churches. They make workingmen's assembly halls out of them.

The Portbou church interior has been denuded of religious emblems and the altar replaced by a speaker's table with a banner over it reading: "Commissar de Obreror."

Armed workers with guns stand guard outside in the yard. Other parts of the church, such as the living quarters of the priests, have been converted into offices of the local red committee and the syndicalists. A worker with a shotgun conducts visitors through the church.

"The church ground down the people of Catalonia," he said. "Now we will rule ourselves. We will never bow to the Fascists."

In churches throughout Catalonia meetings are being held to recruit and reorganize anti-fascist militiamen. Young workingmen are signed up and given rifles. Bulletins appear on walls summoning all enemies of Fascism to enlist.

Decrees from the central war committee threatening severe punishment to any militiamen caught plundering or committing acts of violence against anyone also appear on the walls.

344 PASSENGERS ARE 'STRANDED' ON SPANISH SHIP; NO PLACE TO GO

SAINT NAZAIRE, France, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The Spanish liner Cristobal Colon, loaded with 344 passengers but having no place to go, swung at anchor tonight in Saint Nazaire harbor while the puzzled captain awaited a radio message from Madrid.

Capt. Edouard Sanos said he, the passengers, and the crew had grown weary of the month's odyssey during which the ship crossed the Atlantic on its regular run from Vera Cruz, Mexico, and then wandered from port to port while the revolt raged in Spain.

The liner left Vera Cruz on July 14 with 489 passengers. It touched at Southampton and then went on to Le Havre, landing 145 passengers, including Rivas Cheriff, father-in-law of Manuel Azana, Spain's president.

Warned by a radio message that a rebel cruiser was lying in wait for his ship, the captain abandoned his plan to reach Barcelona and came to Saint Nazaire to await further orders.

Hope Rises of Getting Full Accord.

PARIS, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Portugal tonight accepted the French proposal for neutrality in the Spanish civil war.

Acceptance by Spain's western neighbor, regarded as one of the main conditions to final adherence by other powers, raised hopes that a general European accord on nonintervention might be reached.

Portugal had accepted the principle of neutrality on Aug. 8 but attached many reservations to full agreement then.

France Makes Appeal to Spain.

France urged Madrid quickly to meet German demands for satisfaction for the execution of four German citizens and seizure of German airplanes.

"We let the Spanish government understand France is anxious to have Madrid make peace with Berlin in order to hasten completion of the international neutrality agreement," foreign office officials said.

That a Spanish government investigation of confiscation of a German airplane at Badajoz was not complete indicated a delay of at least a week before the incident—settlement of which Germany has made a condition to her adherence to the neutrality accord—could be adjusted.

Doubts Success of French.

Hugh Lloyd George, British chargé d'affaires, told Yvon Delbos, French foreign minister, Great Britain had begun to doubt the possibility of applying the neutrality plan. Diplomatic sources said the pessimistic view arose from the hesitation of Germany and Italy over accepting the agreement.

Leon Jouhaux, leader of France's general confederation of labor, flew to Toulouse en route to Madrid to investigate "ways and means of helping the Spanish government." Jouhaux was designated to make the survey as a member of a committee appointed by the European anti-Fascist congress.

Can't Stop Recruiting: France.

ROME, Aug. 14.—(AP)—France has informed Italy she cannot pledge her citizens will cease organizing men and raising money privately for the Madrid government, French circles reported tonight.

This comment from French sources followed upon a visit by Count Charles de Chambrun, French ambassador, to Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian minister of foreign affairs. De Chambrun was reported to have reiterated French anxiety for neutrality in Spain.

Swiss Ban Aid to Either Side.

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Aid to either side in Spain's civil war—whether in arms, man power or money—was forbidden today by the government of Switzerland.

The federal council promulgated orders prohibiting any Swiss citizens or foreigners other than Spaniards to leave the country to fight in Spain.

HUNT FOR COUNTESS ACTING AS RADIO SPY FOR SPANISH REBELS

SAINT JEAN DE LUZ, France, Aug. 14.—(AP)—French police today started an inquiry into reports that a Spanish countess had been spying in her native country for the rebels. The countess, whose name was withheld, disappeared from this community in an automobile said to be equipped with a short wave radio sending set for transmission of reports to rebels on the San Sebastian front.

FRENCH REFUGEE TELLS BURNING OF SPANISH PRIEST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PORT VENDRES, France, Aug. 14.—Sixty French refugees were brought here today from Spanish Alicante on the destroyer Kersaint. They told harrowing tales of atrocities. The refugees were sent to a camp at Perpignan. Another French destroyer is expected here tonight, bringing more refugees from Barcelona. One French refugee said he had seen with his own eyes a Spanish priest doused with gasoline and set on fire. Port Vendres is full of Spaniards who fled and are waiting here to see which way the civil war is going to turn.

Convert Arrives with War Club That Has Killed 40

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Barefooted and bareheaded, but attired in a spotless white suit, a converted South Sea islander arrived here today accompanied by G. C. Hoskin, general transportation agent for the Seventh Day Adventists in Chicago. The dark skinned convert is Kata Ragoso, chief of Moraya, one of the Solomon islands. He carried a "kolou," a war club, which, he said, has been responsible for the death of forty men.

U. S. AND POLAND BID HOLY LAND TO GUARD CITIZENS

92 Americans Periled by Arab Terrorists.

JERUSALEM, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Consuls of the United States and Polish governments made representations to the Palestine government today regarding the safety of their nationals in the city of Safed.

The action followed upon appeals to their respective consulates by ninety-two American citizens and a number of Polish citizens for protection against Arab terrorists.

The foreigners telegraphed for aid after a bomb thrown last night wiped out a family of four Jews. Rabbi Alter Unger and two of his children were killed in the blast. A third child died today.

Hit Palestine Government.

The Palestine government was accused of negligent protection of Jews from Arab violence in funeral orations for the rabbi and two of his children. Rabbi Gedelia Silverstone of Washington, D. C., joined a local rabbi in the funeral rites which brought out most of the Jewish community.

A strong police guard was posted between the Jewish and Arab quarters to prevent any new outbreak.

Mayor Slain by Terrorists.

HEBRON, Palestine, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Troops patroled Hebron today after terrorists shot and killed Mayor Nassar Eddine last night. The soldiers were dispatched to Hebron from Jerusalem, but made no arrests.

Three U. S. Jews Honored.

GENEVA, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Three American Jewish leaders were proposed today for principal posts in the Permanent World Jewish congress.

Federal Judge Julian W. Mack of New York, who was first president of the American Jewish congress when that body was established during the war, will be put forward as honorary president of the congress. There will be no president.

Dr. Stephen S. Wise, chairman of the American Jewish congress and president of the Zionist Organization of America, was slated to become chairman of the executive committee which will care for daily business of the congress.

Louis Lipsky, vice president of the American Jewish congress and president of the Eastern Life Insurance company of New York, was indicated as chairman of the central council, a body acting between biennial congress sessions and supervising the executive ccommittee.

Miguel deUnamuno, Liberal Writer, Joins Fascists

PARIS, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Miguel de Unamuno, noted Spanish liberal writer, was quoted in an interview with a special correspondent of the newspaper Petit Parisien at Salamanca, Spain, as declaring today he was aligning himself with the Fascist rebels "because this is a struggle of civilization against barbarism." He said the word "communism" was being used to cover the fact that "anarchy pure and simple" exists in part of Spain.

CONFESS A NEW SERIES OF COURT ESCROW FRAUDS

Ex-Employe of County Is Called Key Man.

ROCCO DE BESSE.

Confessed participants in the series of adroit Circuit court escrow fund frauds confronted each other last night in the state's attorney's office, called each other names, and revealed a series of new swindles. the latest revelations involve the extraordinary circumstance that money has been taken from the court office, but the litigants who put it there still think the funds are held safely in escrow.

Who helped the swindlers by giving them the names and facts about the dormant escrow cases? The first indication that this question soon may be answered was given last night by Eugene J. O'Connor, investigator for the state's attorney.

Former Employé Suspected.

He said he had learned the name of a former employé in the office of the Circuit court clerk, who had supplied the conspirators with a dandy list of sleeping accounts. This ex-employé, O'Connor said, served during the administration of Thomas A. Wallace, predecessor of the incumbent, John E. Conroy, as Circuit court clerk.

Evidence that the operations of the swindlers were not confined to Conroy's office also came to light. James Tilton, 74 years old, 6344 South Carpenter street, a disbarred attorney and one of the leaders of the ring, confessed that he had manipulated several similar frauds in the office of Frank V. Zintak, clerk of the Superior court. Details of these were not disclosed.

A seventh member of the swindle ring was seized last evening and promptly gave information about three more frauds. The newest prisoner is Rocco De Besse, 40 years old, 258 West 23d street, who was arrested in Harding square, near 23d street and Princeton avenue, where he was pointed out by Tilton.

His part in one of the frauds, De Besse said, was to appear in court posing as a litigant in the case of the American Musicians' Union of North America vs. the Chicago Federation of Musicians. Using the name A. Simon he collected $1,550, out of which, he said, Tilton paid him $100 for his services.

Tells Other Deals.

In another fraud, De Besse related, he used the name of Andrew Segrove and collected $1,000 held in escrow. His share of the loot, he said, was $100.

During the day Tilton, De Besse, and two other men revealed details of two other swindles in which they obtained a total of $3,014. In one of these cases De Besse and Ernest Eckels, 43 years old, a saloonkeeper at 1318 East 63d street, assisted Tilton in getting $514 due a Sam Panos in a real estate suit. De Besse said he got $20 out of the deal.

In the other case Benjamin Shear, 42 years old, 1528 Larrabee street, a WPA worker, admitted he used the name of Bennett Piro, a litigant in a divorce suit, and collected $2,500 which was being held in escrow. Investigators said Mr. Piro and litigants in the Segrove and musicians' cases are unaware that the funds are no longer on deposit.

Six Confess Earlier.

On Thursday Tilton, Shear, Eckels, and three other persons confessed their part in a swindle by which a $9,451 estate fund held in escrow was taken from the clerk's office. The three others are John A. Dicks, 48 years old, 3453 Bosworth avenue, acting cashier in Conroy's office; Arvil Nichols, 43, owner of a tavern at 424 West 63d street, and Mrs. Margaret Allister, 28 years old, 6420 South Peoria street, Nichols' sister-in-law.

Dicks, who has been suspended from Conroy's staf, confessed yesterday to receiving $1,000 for his part in the $9,451 swindle. Shear and Eckels have admitted receiving $500 each from Tilton, and Mrs. Allister and Nichols each got $200. What happened to the rest of the money—$7,051—has not been disclosed, but Tilton is believed to have kept it for his share.

FINED $100 FOR INDECENT STATUE.

F. W. Boelter, 51 years old, owner of an art store at 4606 North Clark street, was fined $100 by Judge Lambert K. Hayes yesterday on the charge of exhibiting an indecent statue.

CARNIVAL QUEEN SAILS IN SPLENDOR

Throngs See Show

Crowds lined the shore line of the west lagoon in Garfield park last night and overflowed the verandas of the refectory and administration buildings to watch a colorful spectacle, the second annual Greater West Side Carnival and Venetian Night. It was sponsored by the west section of the Chicago parks district.

Fifty boats, decorated as floats and electrically illumined by batteries, glided over the water, were played on by spotlights, and formed a unique parade. Made by park labor under the direction of Z. T. Egartner, the floats included "The Viking," one of the most impressive, and "The Glorified Lantern," which was decorated with more than seventy-five lanterns. Another striking float, "The Dragon," designed by Willard Best, art director of Garfield park, snorted fire from its nostrils and darted horrible glances from its shining eyes.

WIFE IS GRANTED DIVORCE AFTER YEAR IN COURTS

Mrs. Mae Gorman, 38 years old, 5115 South Spaulding avenue, was granted a divorce yesterday from James Gorman, a park policeman, by Judge Rudolph Desort in Superior court. Mrs. Gorman was awarded life alimony of $9 a week.

The case came before Judge Desort by reassignment. It was heard originally in July, 1935, by Judge Joseph B. David. In that case, Gorman asked a divorce, his wife answering with a cross bill for separate maintenance. Judge David declined to give a decree to either, assailing Gorman for charging his wife with cruelty and criticizing Mrs. Gorman for asking separate maintenance.

The Appellate court, when the case was appealed, handed down a decision in which it said: "It is apparent the [lower] court reached a conclusion before any evidence was offered."

When the case came before Judge Desort yesterday Attorney Norman Becker, representing Mrs. Gorman, agreed to amend his client's bill to ask divorce, in return for the dropping of Gorman's divorce bill.

ELECTION BOARD FIRES 720 MORE POLL OFFICIALS

Seven hundred and twenty judges and clerks of election in the April primary were discharged yesterday by the board of election commissioners. Of this number 161 were fired for alleged irregularities discovered in their precincts, and the other 559 were dismissed when letters asking them to work in the coming election were returned unanswered.

The 720 officials whose names were stricken from the election board roster yesterday brings to 1,205 the number of those discharged in the last week. Four hundred and eighty-five were fired on Aug. 6 after frauds were uncovered in their polling places. The names of the 1,205 and their party affiliations were not made public.

Will Never Serve Again.

Alexander J. McKay, president of the election board, in announcing the dismissals, said they were in line with the commissioners' efforts to clear the list of judges and clerks of all persons who would not comply with the board rules. None of these persons will ever be allowed to serve again as election officials.

"The board has given a tremendous amount of consideration to these cases," Mr. McKay said. "Those discharged worked in polling places in all sections of the city and politics was not considered in the least in the removals. Approximately 60 per cent of the 161 discharged for cause were women."

No Prosecution Planned.

No prosecution of the 161 is considered, Mr. McKay said. Of the 485 fired Aug. 6 vote fraud charges are pending against about 200.

Since the first of the year 1,334 judges and clerks have resigned for various reasons, making a total, with those discharged, of 2,539 vacancies, which must be filled for the November elections. Also, an additional 2,225 new judges and clerks must be appointed, five for each of the 445 new precincts which have been created for the election, so there are actually, 4,764 vacancies. The number of precincts in the city and those suburban towns under the jurisdiction of the election board has been increased from 3,327 to 3,772.

The election board reported that 1,543 persons enrolled under the new permanent registration system yesterday. This brings to 16,351 the number of those registered since the system was inaugurated Aug. 4.

YEAR'S HEAVIEST RAIN AIDS CROPS; 1.41 INCHES HERE

Parched Plains Wait in Vain, However.

Plant life, from lawn grass to shade trees, in Chicago and suburbs gained in strength and vigor yesterday as the longest rain since last September—and the heaviest of the year—gave dusty August enough precipitation to push its total to 1.73 inches, .21 of an inch more than normal.

The rain began about 6 p. m. Thursday and amounted to 1.41 inches. The official fall at the University of Chicago during the 24 hours ended at 8 o'clock last night was 1.35 inches.

Rockford got the greatest deluge of the region with a fall of 2.1 inches, but many areas in the Ohio and middle Mississippi valleys, the Great Lakes states and in the northern Great Plains benefited from the spotty rains.

Plains Wait in Vain.

While the heavy showers here cheered workers of the soil, farmers on the sun-baked plains from the Dakotas to Texas waited in vain for similar relief. Kansas, Oklahoma, and parts of Missouri sweltered in temperatures of 100 degrees or over, with no letup in sight.

Emporia, Kas., reported a high temperature of 116 degrees. In Kansas City, Mo., the day's maximum of 112 degrees was the highest on record. The maximum here was 87 degrees. At midnight last night an unofficial reading was 82.

For Chicago, Forecaster A. W. Cook predicted temperatures not above the middle eighties today, with an unclouded sun today and tomorrow to encourage the refreshed crops and lure pleasure hunters into the open.

Relief Situation Is Serious.

Nevertheless, the drouth's heavy hand still lies upon the land. Howard Hunter, chief of the Works Progress administration's drouth relief program, expressed doubt yesterday that the 111,500 jobs authorized in thirteen western and central western states of the emergency area would be enough to care for all destitute farmers.

Nearly 700,000 such farmers are already employed, he said, and there is evidence that as many more require aid.

Eight Illinois counties were among the fourteen new ones certified as emergency drouth counties yesterday by the drouth committee of the department of agriculture in Washington. They are Clay, Edwards, Hamilton, Marion, Richland, Wayne, White, and Williamson. Those previously certified in Illinois were Franklin, Hardin, Jefferson, Gallatin, Pope, and Saline.

Cook county farmers reported that the downpour here had helped late pastures, corn for silage, and soy beans.

Good news for housewives came from truck gardeners, who reported that even in the absence of further precipitation the vegetable supply for Chicago has been increased.

The Roosevelt road station will be used by festival attendants patronizing the elevated lines. The transfers to buses or street cars at the station are free. Ask the elevated agent for a transfer when paying the fare. On the return trip the transfer is obtained from the motor coach operator or the street car conductor.

MUSIC THRILLS ORCHESTRA

BY MARCIA WINN.

Orchestra hall resounded to a medley of music yesterday as a 102 piece symphony orchestra under the direction of Henry Weber rehersed the scores it will play in Soldiers' field tonight for the seventh annual Chicagoland Music Festival.

With an orchestra as enthusiastic as the noted conductors who gathered in the great hall as observers, a two and a half hour program of music was rehersed. Every type of music, classical, modern, and popular, was heard.

If the reactions of the shirt sleeved musicians may be accepted as a barometer, the most stirring music tonight will be a medley of college songs [sung by a male octet], starting with "Wave the Flag for Old Chicago" and ending with "Across the Field for Ohio State." For so enthusiastic was the orchestra over this medley, foreign as it is to the symphonic baton, that the players wound up with impromptu whoops, waving of violin bows, and "rah-rahs."

Soldiers' Chorus Popular.

The next best animator was considered to be the Soldiers' chorus from "Faust," in which the orchestra accompanies the mighty festival chorus of 1,000 voices, directed by Henry T. Carlson, conductor of the Swedish choral club.

Applause for conductor and orchestral arrangement rather than for tempo was heard, however, when Father Finn, director of the New York Paulist choir, took off his clerical collar, rolled up the sleeves of his cassock, sat up on top of the grand piano, and conducted Schubert's magnificent "Great Is Jehovah," in which he will lead the massed chorus tonight.

Reherse Score Exquisitely.

With Henry Weber wielding the baton, the orchestra ran exquisitely through the prelude to the third act of "Lohengrin," through the finale of Tschaikowsky's fourth symphony, through Giaconda's "Dance of the Hours," through the "Blue Danube Waltz," and through Victor Herbert's "American Phantasy." The last will serve as a spiritual preparation for the spectacular display of fireworks with which the festival will close.

Even the fireworks will be seen to musical accompaniment, for the orchestra swiftly and dexterously rehersed excerpts from the overture to "William Tell," "Trees," "Roses of Picardy," "The Man on the Flying Trapeze,' overture to 'Orpheus in the Underworld,' and—as the grand finale for the orchestra, pyrotechnics, massed chorus and audience—"The Star Spangled Banner."

RAID NIGHT SPOTS TO ENFORCE 1 A.M. CLOSING ORDER

Police of the Summerdale district raided a dozen taverns and cabarets in the Broadway night life district early today. The raids followed an order from Supervising Captain Joseph Goldberg that he would transfer or demote every responsible policeman in the district if the 1 a. m. closing ordinance were not enforced.

First of the gay spots to be raided was the Lone Star Ranger inn, 1135 Balmoral avenue, where the owner, Lon Barton, 27 years old, was arrested and booked on a charge of selling liquor after closing hours. Ten minutes later police entered the place again, arresting Edward L. Stamin, 25 years old, who was booked on the same charge.

Among the other places raided and the persons arrested were Dinty Moore's, 5352 Broadway, John McNamara, 57 years old, bartender; the 5100 club, 5100 Broadway, Harry Eager, 35 years old; the Red Lantern, 5551 Broadway, Ed Greigh, 35 years old; the Ball of Fire, 4933 Broadway, Dan Gastarro, and Earl Harrison, seized in his tavern at 1024 Argyle street.

leads the festival chorus and orchestra in the sacred song "Great Is Jehovah." He is followed by Mr. Grabel, conducting the high school bands in "The Lost Chord." The orchestra and the Frank Bennett singers then joined in a medley of football songs of the Big Ten universities of Chicagoland.

Miss Claire sings at 9:30. Afterward 600 little girls stream onto the field, forming a kaleidoscope of gay color as they pirouette in their "flame dance." The American flag streaks into light as all join in "The Star-Spangled Banner," ending the night of melody and glamor.

Parish, former head of the $30,000,000 Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line company, who was acquitted last year of using the mails to defraud in connection with the company's operations, yesterday gained freedom from civil suits in which he has been both plaintif and defendant. Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward approved a settlement between Thurlow G. Essington, Chicago receiver for the pipe line company, and Parish, whereby each agrees to dismiss all pending suits and countersuits for claims.

CITY WILL PAY $180,000 TAXES ON GAGE FARM

Payment to the county of $180,750 in taxes on the city owned Gage farm was ordered yesterday by Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes, concluding several years of litigation pressed by the city of Berwyn, in whose borders part of the farm lies. The payment represents taxes for the years of 1919 to 1930, inclusive.

The farm, which now is being used by the city as a nursery to supply parks with shrubs, was acquired in 1881 in the settlement of the bond of David A. Gage, a defaulting city treasurer. Taxes were paid upon it until 1919, when an amendment to the state revenue act made tracts used for municipal purposes exempt from taxes.

In 1931 Berwyn attempted to force payment of the taxes, but Judge Jarecki in County court ruled the farm was not taxable. Through a clerk's error, however, a judgment —which the state Supreme court ruled could not be set aside—was entered. The city still declined to pay and on July 29 Berwyn instituted mandamus proceedings. A mandamus order was issued Monday. The beneficiaries will be Berwyn, several school boards, and other county taxing bodies.

RELIEF CLIENT SENTENCED.

Frank Winskoski, 40 years old, 4744 Bishop street, was sentenced to work out a fine of $100 in the Bridewell by Judge Leon Edelman yesterday on the charge of his wife, Wanda, that he used their relief funds to buy liquor.

MOTHER OF TWO GETS 20 DAYS AS RECKLESS DRIVER

Mrs. Irma Atkins, 25 years old, 6850 May street, a divorcée, mother of two children, was sentenced to 20 days in the Bridewell yesterday by Judge Joseph A. Graber in the Safety court for reckless driving.

She was driving an automobile which struck and injured Mrs. Bertha Gill, 5655 Sangamon street, and her two children, Raymond Jr., 2 years old, and Joan, 6 years old, at 57th and Halsted streets on Aug. 1. Mrs. Gill was wheeling her son in a buggy, which was overturned. A strap held the child in the vehicle.

Owner of Auto Is Fined.

Roy Anderson, 29 years old, 2415 West Marquette road, owner of the car, was riding with Mrs. Atkins at the time of the accident. He was fined $200 on a charge of disorderly conduct after he testified that he had asked Mrs. Atkins to drive when they emerged from a tavern where they had several drinks. "I felt dizzy," he said. The divorcée said she was not used to the car and lost control.

Turning to Anderson, Judge Graber said: "You are really responsible for this accident and I wish I could send you to jail, too. However, there can be no distinction between men and women drivers, and women must accept the same responsibility." Anderson, however, was ordered to the Bridewell when he was unable to pay the fine.

Five Others Sentenced.

Five other unsafe drivers were sentenced to jail during the day in Safety court.

Robert Young, 29 years old, 6810 Dorchester avenue, a decorator, and Fred Richards, 32 years old, 5642 South Morgan street, a clerk, were sentenced to 10 days in the Bridewell for driving while intoxicated.

Robert Cook, 35 years old, 4847 Winthrop avenue, a painter, and Charles Evans, colored, 30 years old, 2250 South Dearborn street, were each sentenced to 10 days in the Bridewell for leaving the scene of an accident.

John Dnacy, 42 years old, 5348 North Nagle avenue, a motion picture operator, was sentenced to five days in the Bridewell on a charge of reckless driving when he admitted that he had a "few beers" before his car sidewiped three other machines.

Timothy McLaughlin, 25 years old, 6431 South Damen avenue, was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail for driving a car without the owner's consent and thirty days more for leaving the scene of an accident after the car collided with a parked automobile by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in the Jury court. The police said that McLaughlin had been placed on probation a year ago for taking an automobile without the owner's consent.

Judge Padden to Quiz Police.

Judge Frank M. Padden in the Trafic court ordered Capt. Michael Hayes of the park police to appear in his court Monday to explain why park police arrest speeders and hold them until a bond is posted instead of issuing summonses. Judge Padden said the Municipal court has ordered that summonses be issued instead of arresting speeders.

Judge Padden was aroused to this action when Joseph Wietecha, 30 years old, 5249 North Laramie avenue, a watchman, arraigned before him on a charge of driving 63 miles an hour in Lake Shore drive between Wilson and Lawrence avenues, said that he had been held in jail since 6:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

Police System Varies.

"The park police are not even consistent about this," Judge Padden declared. "I am informed that motorists arrested for speeding north of Devon avenue are given summonses while those arrested in other parts of the park system are held at police stations."

"That was the rule before the park consolidation and it has never been changed," Capt. Hayes said when he was questioned later.

He said that orders to make speeders give bond were issued by the park board in an effort to reduce speeding and accidents. He said that he would appear in court Monday and explain the park district's policy in speeding cases.

COURTNEY WILL FIGHT PARDON FOR CROARKIN

State's Attorney Courtney said yesterday his office would vigorously oppose any attempt to gain a pardon in behalf of Harold Croarkin, 36 years old, who is serving a life sentence at the Joliet penitentiary for the murder ten years ago of Walter Schmith Jr., 6 years old, son of a Niles Center policeman. A petition seeking a pardon or commutation of sentence was filed two weeks ago with the state board of pardons and paroles. It has been set for hearing Oct. 13. Mr. Courtney yesterday notified the elder Schmith that his office would have a representative present at the hearing. The slaying of the child, who was beaten to death with a hammer, was called the crime of a moron.

EAGLE ORDER'S ASSETS PLACED AT 28 MILLIONS

Reports made yesterday at business sessions of the national convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles in the Morrison hotel showed that the gross assets of the grand aerie and its 1,434 subordinate aeries are now in excess of $28,000,000. By last night an estimated 20,000 delegates and members were attending the convention.

Conrad H. Mann, managing organizer and financial adviser, said that a new high has been reached in membership—650,000—as well as in assets. A goal of a million members has been set for achievement within the next three years. Ohio ranks first among the states with 83,039 members, Illinois ninth with 19,706.

Chief of Police Eugene Spaid of the suburb said Mellum apparently got off a passenger train on the east side of the station at 11:48 p. m. and then fell under a freight train which passed over the tracks on the west side of the station about the same time. Mellum was a former village trustee of Lake Bluff. His wife, Marcia, and a daughter, Charlotte, survive him.

HUNT KAUFMAN WITH WARANT IN ASTOR CASE

Issue Closed So Far as Concerns Principals.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The Mary Astor child custody case was closed and stays closed with the decision he inscribed on the court records yesterday, Judge Goodwin J. Knight said today.

Judge Knight's statement referred, however, to principals in the case, for as he was making this declaration a deputy sherif was searching for George S. Kaufman, playwright, who refused to appear when called as a witness. "I'll put this man Kaufman in jail if I can find him," the judge said.

Post-settlement broadsides by the actress, her former husband, and their attorneys in an attempt to change his findings are so much baying at the moon, so far as the judge is concerned. But Judge Knight warned the lawyers not to try his patience too far. There is one important exception about the case being closed, the judge said.

Court May Reopen Case.

"The court still has the right to reopen the case for the purpose of protecting the interests and welfare of Marylyn Thorpe," the judge declared.

Judge Knight's statement followed a protest made by Attorney Joseph Anderson, representing Dr. Franklyn Thorpe, Miss Astor's former husband.

Dr. Thorpe yielded on several points in the final agreement which yesterday enabled the judge to divide little Marylyn's custody, nine months to her mother and three to her father, and to impound the famous love life diary of the actress in which she revealed an affair with Kaufman.

Case Is Closed.

"The Astor-Thorpe case is closed," declared the judge. "If the case is reopened it will be reopened by the court, and solely for the purpose of more definitly protecting the interests and welfare of the child. The court is powerless to prevent ill advised or irresponsible statements by litigants and their attorneys.

"With particular reference to the Astor-Thorpe case and its principals, the court—with some restraint—again emphasizes that failure of any of those concerned to live up to the spirit and letter of the disposition of the case, may bring about an entireiy different solution."

DRIVER IS HELD AFTER HIS AUTO KILLS SALESMAN

Grover Herndon, 52 years old, 4820 Chicago avenue, retired advertising solicitor, was fatally injured yesterday when he was struck by an automobile in front of 4836 Chicago avenue.

Harry Newman, 28 years old, 3946 Roscoe street, the driver, was held by the police when an investigation revealed that his car had skidded 68 feet before it was brought to a stop.

Five persons were injured, one of them probably fatally, late last night when three automobiles collided at 95th street and Mackinaw avenue. Miles Hutchinson, 24 years old, 451 West 87th street, who was driving alone, had his left arm torn off and his skull and left leg were fractured. The others injured were Edward Seaman, 34 years old, 2803 East 83d street; his wife, Anna, 32; Daniel Slinski, 42, of 8829 Houston avenue, an employé of the Chicago park district, and August Schmidt, 22 years old, 116th street and Dixie highway, Harvey.

Police said Hutchinson's machine collided head on with the car driven by Seaman, and Schmidt, who was driving behind Hutchinson, crashed into the wreckage of the two other cars. Both the Hutchinson and Seaman cars caught fire. Hutchinson was pulled from his burning car by passing motorists. The passengers escaped from the other car unaided.

Sam B. Ullman, 842 South Linden avenue, Highland Park, a partner in the brokerage house of Stein, Brennan & Co., 215 South La Salle street, and his son Thomas, 17 years old, were injured in an automobile collision on highway 45 five miles south of Three Lakes, Wis., near Eagle River, yesterday. Mrs. Ullman received minor injuries. The Ullmans had spent the last two weeks in their summer home at Sawyer lake near Antigo.

Harry Allen, 64 years old, 2324 Calumet avenue, received a possible skull fracture and other injuries early today when he was struck at State and Harrison streets by an automobile which Oliver Harris, colored, 30 years old, 2967 Cottage Grove avenue, and his brother, Chester, 27, of 1132 Townsend street, were operating. The Harrises speeded away after the accident, but were forced to the curb at State and Polk streets by James Dallary, 3036 Warren avenue, a taxicab driver, and captured. Police said they admitted they had had a few drinks.

The coroner's office reported 588 persons killed in trafic accidents in Cook county from Jan. 1 to 4 p. m. yesterday. Of these deaths 448 occurred in Chicago. In the same period 11,003 persons were injured within the city limits.

Defense in Mayhem Case Hurls Accusation.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Petite Ann Cooper Hewitt, 22, taking the witness stand in a surprise move against two physicians accused of mayhem conspiracy, testified today she was tricked into submitting to an operation by which she was sterilized.

The heiress suffered three paroxysms of coughing, however, and the case was recessed for the week-end in the midst of a defense attempt to show she was being "used" in a plot against the estate of her late father, Peter Cooper Hewitt, inventor.

"It's just a coughing spell; I'll be all right in a minute," the little heiress said repeatedly.

Doctor Also Becomes Ill.

Attorneys explained she was just recovering from whooping cough.

Dr. Samuel G. Boyd, one of the accused doctors, became suddenly indisposed at the same time Miss Hewitt was affected.

Miss Hewitt testified Dr. Boyd and his co-defendant, Dr. Tilton E. Tillman, examined her, but did not take her pulse count or touch her, and that she was taken to a hospital, ostensibly for an appendectomy.

The operation was performed in 1934, while Miss Hewitt was a minor. Later she filed a $500,000 suit against her mother, Mrs. Maryon Cooper Hewitt, the two physicians and a woman psychiatrist. She charged her mother plotted to gain control of her inheritance, estimated as high as $10,000,000.

Mother in New Jersey.

A police investigation resulted in the mayhem conspiracy charges against the doctors and Mrs. Hewitt, who is in New Jersey awaiting trial on a charge of attempting suicide.

"I was ill after returning from Coronado, Cal.," Ann testified.

"Dr. Tillman was called. He said I would have to be operated on. The next day a nurse came and I learned later she was Mrs. Mary Scally [city psychiatrist and one of the defendants in the $500,000 suit]."

"Do you remember filing the civil suit?" asked Defense Attorney I. M. Golden. Assistant Prosecutor August Fourtner objected.

"The purpose of the question," retorted Golden, "is to show the machinations of Russell P. Tyler [Ann's attorney in the civil suit], the machinations of Dr. Peter Bruguiere [first husband of Mrs. Hewitt], Florence Slavich [sister of Dr. Bruguiere's present wife], and Mrs. Josephine Bruguiere.

"They are using this girl as a tool to extort money from Mrs. Hewitt. As a result of this combination Mrs. Hewitt attempted suicide. Should she die, all of the estate would go to this girl."

Golden again asked Ann if she knew of the civil suit.

"I can't say," the girl replied.

"Yes."

Preceeding Miss Hewitt, a nurse, Miss Ann Lindsey, testified Dr. Boyd employed her to care for Miss Hewitt after the operation on condition that she would not "talk."

JOE LIKES WPA JOB BETTER, AT HALF THE WAGES

Life is far, far too short to be spent in working nights for $100 a month—especially when you can work days for the Works Progress administration at $48 a month. This was the reasoning of Joseph Gonyo, 36 years old, according to a complaint made to the WPA at Waukegan by Attorney Hartley La Chapelle, who represents Gonyo's wife, Ruth, of 219 Lincoln avenue, Waukegan, in a divorce suit.

Gonyo had been ordered to pay $10 a week for the support of their two children, but Judge Ralph J. Dady of the Lake county Circuit court reduced the payments to $5 upon learning that Gonyo's WPA wages were only $48 a month, according to the attorney.

"Last week I got Gonyo a job with the Johns-Manville corporation, working as a laborer from midnight until 8 o'clock in the morning for $100 a month," La Chappelle said. "I learn now that after working two hours, Gonyo told the foreman that 'the work is too hard and life is too short' for him to keep the job." WPA officials promised that Gonyo would not be given another job, if the lawyer brings them a letter from the company to support his allegations.

IERC AUTHORIZES SAMPLE SURVEY OF RELIEF NEEDS

Employés on the rolls of the federal Works Progress administration in Chicago, St. Clair county, and Macon county will be visited soon and questioned under oath about their current financial status.

The Illinois Emergency Relief commission authorized the use of $25,000 yesterday to pay a special staf for such a survey because if this "sample" inquiry proves the existence of large numbers of pay rollees with private income, officials plan investigation of all 155,000 WPA workers in the state—at a cost of $150,000. They estimate it might save two or three hundred thousand dollars a month in relief outlays in Illinois.

The IERC decided that until Attorney General Kerner rules on the validity of the 30 cent property tax for relief no change will be made in the order that local governments base requests for state funds on revenues which they anticipate from the sale of warants against this levy, despite the fact that an adverse opinion by a financial legal authority has made these warants unsalable.

FLEES HAY FEVER

CHICAGOLAND'S FALL HAY FEVER SEASON OPENS

Ragweed Pollen Begins Flight Over City.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Today marks the traditional opening of the fall hay fever season here. Many hay fever victims in the Chicago area will awake this morning to begin their annual period of suffering from ragweed pollen. Some persons already have shown slight symptoms.

Ragweed pollen has been in the air for several days, eight pollen grains per cubic yard of air being reported by the Illinois Medical society yesterday from a slide exposed on Thursday. This is sufficient to cause only mild symptoms in most hay fever victims, it was explained.

Hay fever apparently is a rather touchy subject even to experts. There was some difference of opinion expressed by two well known hay fever specialists interviewed yesterday.

The Experts Differ.

"It is a myth that the fall hay fever season begins on Aug. 15," said one. "Usually it begins earlier. This year it is late."

"Ask most hay fever patients and they will tell you they begin every year on Aug. 15 and can tell you almost the hour they begin on," said the other. "Last year, however, was the worst hay fever season we ever had, supposedly due to the large amount of uncultivated farm land being taken over by ragweed, and the season didn't begin until Aug. 21. It is early this year."

One specialist in hay fever described one of the vagaries of the fall hay fever and asthma season. During the storm Thursday night, he said, even though it was before the season actually started, some persons suffered from asthma. This, he said, was due to the fall in barometric pressure.

Another physician said that he expected a mild season during the first part of the fall hay fever period, as the giant ragweed has been affected by the drouth. Whether the short ragweed which comes on later will be so affected he could not predict. Another pointed out that weeds apparently can stand more drouth than crops can.

Many Leave City.

Many Chicagoans are solving the hay fever problem by leaving this region to stay for as much of the season as possible. Bert Vanderwarf, manager of the Chicago Motor club's touring bureau, which is aiding vacationers to plan their holidays in hay fever free havens, said that the exodus began last night and will reach considerable proportions by tonight.

One hay fever victim already is in flight from his scene of past torments. Jerome Fitzpatrick, 69 years old, 2340 Clybourn avenue, blind for eighteen years, departed yesterday for New York. From there, alone and unaided, he will travel to England, and for the second successive hay fever season escape his usual symptoms while he visits sisters in Liverpool and Manchester.

There are other seasons when persons sensitive to other pollens, such as grass pollens and tree pollens, develop hay fever symptoms.

MARSHALL HOME DEAL IS CLOSED BY GOLDBLATT

Nathan Goldblatt signed a contract yesterday with the First National bank for the purchase of the residence built by Benjamin Marshall in Wilmette on Sheridan road opposite the Bahai temple.

Mr. Marshall, an architect, is reputed to have spent $1,000,000 on the home and its furnishings. Its interior is at once an art museum and a museum of ingenious conveniences and novelties. Into one room it is possible to elevate from the kitchen below a table all set and ready for diners to sit down. The home commands a rare view of Lake Michigan.

Mr. Goldblatt is the secretary and treasurer of Goldblatt Brothers, Inc., a department store chain.

Identified as Train Victim, Then Appears at Morgue

Michael Yurcisin yesterday identified the body of a man who had been killed by a freight train on the Pennsylvania railroad tracks at 50th and Leavitt streets as that of his brother, Joseph, 44 years old, 5120 South Damen avenue, a Works Progress administration worker. When Joseph heard about it he appeared in the undertaking rooms at 2300 West 51st street to deny the identification. Mrs. Anna Scheffer, 2112 West 50th street, later identified the victim as her husband, Martin.

FIRE INSURANCE RATES CUT 5 PCT. ON SMALL HOMES

Saving in Chicago Near Quarter Million a Year.

Fire insurance rates on one and two family brick and frame dwellings having approved roof coverings will be reduced 5 per cent on Oct. 1 in Chicago, the Chicago Board of Underwriters announced yesterday. The Illinois inspection bureau announced a similar reduction in fire insurance rates in downstate municipalities which maintain adequate fire protection and water supply.

The Chicago underwriters revealed, moreover, that they would decide shortly upon a reduction in rates on fireproof buildings.

Mayor Is After 25 Per Cent Cut.

When the underwriters' announcement was received yesterday at the city hall, Assistant Corporation Counsel James Danaher was drafting a letter to them asking a 25 per cent reduction, as he was instructed to do some time ago by Mayor Kelly.

The mayor, who is at Eagle River, Wis., expressed his pleasure at the benefit to Chicagoans and asserted he would seek still further reductions.

"In November of 1935," Mayor Kelly said in a dictated statement, "the first step was taken to obtain a fire insurance rate decrease for the people of Chicago and, at my request, a reduction of 10 per cent was given.

"Only July 22 of this year I instructed Corporation Counsel Hodes to take all necessary steps to obtain an added reduction in fire insurance rates. I feel that I was justified in this action because of the vigorous policy of my administration to decrease fire hazards and losses."

Praises Fire Department.

The mayor added that Chicago has the finest fire department in the world, both in men and equipment, and that last year the losses due to fire amounted to only $3,712,061, as compared to $15,963,979 in 1929. That figure was the highest since the great fire of 1871. The state insurance department said that $49,000,000 is paid annually in fire insurance premiums by Chicagoans.

Ernest Palmer, state director of insurance, called the reduction a victory for his policy. Recently he ordered the fire insurance companies to make a 10 per cent reduction or their licenses would not be renewed.

They went to court and obtained an injunction which was to have been argued today before Federal Judge Charles G. Briggle in Springfield. The voluntary reduction announced by the companies both for Chicago and downstate is expected to result in a dismissal of the suit.

Agree to Uniform Statistics.

A statement by Gov. Horner said the insurance companies in addition to cutting their rates agreed to follow a method of keeping uniform statistics on their business for the information of the state insurance department, so that the state can determine the reasonableness of rates charged.

BATTERS WIFE WITH HAMMER; LEAPS TO DEATH

After striking his wife on the head with a hammer yesterday, Harry Smith, 45 years old, 435 West North avenue, a cook, plunged to his death from the window of their fourth floor apartment. A coroner's jury held that he committed suicide while temporarily insane.

The Smiths were married last Dec. 31. It was learned that he had arranged for his funeral by making Edward Sullivan, an undertaker, the beneficiary of an insurance policy for $500.

PRESIDENT SAYS HE'LL CONTINUE ANTI-WAR DRIVE

Cites Attempts Made to Promote Peace.

other nations, we concluded with Great Britain and France a conditional treaty of qualitative limitation which, much to my regret, already shows signs of ineffectiveness."

Foresees Danger.

Despite all efforts to avoid foreign entanglements there remains a danger that the United States may be drawn into war no matter how ardently it may desire peace, the President said. He then launched into a description of war's horrors.

"I have seen war," he declared. "I have seen war on land and sea. I have seen blood running from the wounded. I have seen men coughing out their gassed lungs. I have seen the dead in the mud. I have seen cities destroyed. I have seen two hundred limping, exhausted men come out of line—the survivors of a regiment of one thousand that went forward 48 hours before. I have seen children starving. I have seen the agony of mothers and wives. I hate war."

Admitting that it was beyond his power to keep war from all nations Mr. Roosevelt asserted that he could at least "make certain that no act of the United States helps to produce or to promote war."

SEES CLEVELAND FAIR

Cleveland, O., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—In the highest of spirits after more than 100,000 persons had lined the streets to see him, President Roosevelt today told a luncheon audience that the American people were now entitled to a "good time" as a reward for the courage they had displayed "during the last few years."

The President was in a gay mood after a 40 mile motor trip which led him on a circuitous route through Cleveland and enabled all who wanted a glimpse of him to enjoy that opportunity with ease. In the downtown section he was given a ticker tape demonstration and along the lengthy line of travel there was general handclapping although it was noted that the applause was not as spirited as on some of his previous jaunts.

Guest of Exposition.

As the guest of the board of trustees of the Great Lakes exposition, the President spoke briefly and informally in his most jovial manner.

"I'm on a real holiday and I'm having an exceedingly good time," he declared. "I'd like to stay at this exposition for several days, not only visiting the more serious exhibits but playing on the Midway. You people of Cleveland are rendering a national service by this exposition, not only by promoting national understanding and national solidarity by bringing people here from the farthest ends of the nation but by giving people a good time.

"A great many people are now entitled to a good time after the courage they have displayed in the last few years. I am proud of the American people."

One incident at the luncheon caused a great deal of mirth in which the President belatedly joined.

Waiter Drops Tray.

"I am not here to make a political speech," he remarked, and a startled waiter dropped a tray of crockery with a resounding crash. After the guffaws had ended the President did not pursue whatever train of thought he had had in mind, but poked fun at Chester C. Bolton, Ohio congressman, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, whom he glimpsed in the audience before him.

The President again sounded his familiar theme that "things are a lot better now than they were a few years ago." The fact that four expositions are now running in the United States is a proof of general prosperity, he asserted.

He referred to his flood area inspection trip, which he interrupted today for a visit to Cleveland, and to the drouth inspection trip he will make in ten days.

Favors First Hand Study.

"I can get a better picture of conditions by seeing these things first hand than by sitting at my desk in Washington and studying reports," he declared as an explanation of the two journeys which have been labeled political excursions, pure and simple, by many observers. The President has been irate at such interpretations.

GEORGE PEEK AND LEMKE IN PARLEY HERE

Congressman William Lemke of North Dakota, presidential candidate of the Union party, conferred yesterday with George N. Peek, agricultural leader, former foreign trade adviser to President Roosevelt, in Mr. Peek's room at the Lake Shore Drive hotel.

"It was a very satisfactory meeting," said John Nystul, Lemke's manager. "There were no commitments but the talk was very gratifying to Congressman Lemke."

"Congressman Lemke is an old friend," Peek said. "I lived in Minneapolis from 1893 to 1901 and used to get around North Dakota a good deal. We recalled those days."

"Was anything said concerning your possible support of Mr. Lemke?" Peek was asked.

"The subject was not discussed," he replied.

Mr. Lemke will go to Cleveland today to address the convention of Father Charles E. Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice.

BOY CYCLIST KILLED BY TRAIN.

Newark, O., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Lawrence Baird Jr., 14, rode his bicycle onto the tracks and was killed today by a Pennsylvania passenger train. Joseph Vusich, crossing watchman, narrowly escaped being struck in his attempt to warn the boy.

TEXT OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S SPEECH ON PEACE

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—The text of President Roosevelt's speech delivered here tonight follows:

"As many of you who are here tonight know, I formed the excellent habit of coming to Chautauqua more than twenty years ago. After my inauguration in 1933 I promised Mr. Bestor that during the next four years I would come to Chautauqua again; it is in fulfilment of this that I am with you tonight.

"A few days ago I was asked what the subject of this talk would be, and I replied that for two good reasons I wanted to discuss the subject of peace; first, because it is eminently appropriate in Chautauqua and, secondly, because in the hurly-burly of domestic politics it is important that our people should not overlook problems and issues which, though they lie beyond our borders, may, and probably will, have a vital influence on the United States of the future.

Less Hopeful About Conditions.

"Many who have visited me in Washington in the last few months may have been surprised when I have told them that personally and because of my own daily contacts with all manner of difficult situations I am more concerned and less cheerful about international world conditions than about our immediate domestic prospects.

"I say this to you not as a confirmed pessimist but as one who still hopes that envy, hatred, and malice among nations have reached their peak and will be succeeded by a new tide of peace and good will. I say this as one who has participated in many of the decisions of peace and war before, during and after the world war; one who has traveled much and one who has spent a goodly portion of every twenty-four hours in the study of foreign relations.

Recalls 1933 Statement.

"Long before I returned to Washington as President of the United States, I had made up my mind that pending what might be called a more opportune moment on other continents, the United States could best serve the cause of a peaceful humanity by setting an example. That was why on the 4th of March, 1933, I made the following declaration:

"'In the field of world policy I would dedicate this nation to the policy of the good neighbor—the neighbor who resolutely respects himself and, because he does so, respects the rights of others—the neighbor who respects his obligations and respects the sanctity of his agreements in and with a world of neighbors.'

"This declaration represents my purpose; but it represents more than a purpose, for it stands for a practice. To a measurable degree it has succeeded; the whole world now knows that the United States cherishes no predatory ambitions. We are strong; but less powerful nations know that they need not fear our strength. We seek no conquest; we stand for peace.

Cites Good Neighbor Policy.

"In the whole of the western hemisphere our good neighbor policy has produced results that are especially heartening.

"The noblest monument to peace and to neighborly economic and social friendship in all the world is not a monument in bronze or stone, but the boundary which unites the United States and Canada — 3,000 miles of friendship with no barbed wire, no gun or soldier, and no passport on the whole frontier.

"Mutual trust made that frontier—to extend the same sort of mutual trust throughout the Americas was our aim.

"The American republics to the south of us have been ready always to coöperate with the United States on a basis of equality and mutual respect, but before we inaugurated the good neighbor policy there was among them resentment and fear, because certain administrations in Washington had slighted their national pride and their sovereign rights.

Against Armed Intervention.

"In pursuance of the good neighbor policy, and because in my younger days I had learned many lessons in the hard school of experience, I stated that the United States was opposed definitly to armed intervention.

"We have negotiated a Pan-American convention embodying the principle of nonintervention. We have abandoned the Platt amendment, which gave us the right to intervene in the internal affairs of the republic of Cuba. We have withdrawn American marines from Haiti. We have signed a new treaty which places our relations with Panama on a mutually satisfactory basis.

"We have undertaken a series of trade agreements with other American countries to our mutual commercial profit. At the request of two neighboring republics, I hope to give assistance in the final settlement of the last serious boundary dispute between any of the American nations.

Determined on Peace.

"Throughout the Americas the spirit of the good neighbor is a practical and living fact. The twenty-one American republics are not only living together in friendship and in peace, they are united in the determination so to remain.

"To give substance to this determination a conference will meet on Dec. 1, 1936, at the capitol of our great southern neighbor, Argentina, and it is, I know, the hope of all chiefs of state of the Americas that this will result in measures which will banish wars forever from this vast portion of the earth.

"Peace, like charity, begins at home; that is why we have begun at home. But peace in the western world is not all that we seek.

"It is our hope that knowledge of the practical application of the good neighbor policy in this hemisphere will be borne home to our neighbors across the seas.

"For ourselves we are on good terms with them—terms in most cases of straightforward friendship, of peaceful understanding.

Concerned About Tendencies.

"But, of necessity, we are deeply concerned about tendencies of recent years among many of the nations of other continents. It is a bitter experience to us when the spirit of agreements to which we are a party is not lived up to. It is an even more bitter experience for the whole company of nations to witness not only the spirit but the letter of international agreements violated with impunity and without regard to the simple principles of honor. Permanent friendships between nations as between men can be sustained only by scrupulous respect for the pledged word.

"In spite of all this we have sought steadfastly to assist international movements to prevent war. We coöperated to the bitter end—and it was a bitter end—in the work of the general disarmament conference. When it failed we sought a separate treaty to deal with the manufacture of arms and the international trafic in arms. That proposal also came to nothing.

"We participated—again to the bitter end—in a conference to continue naval limitations, and when it became evident that no general treaty could be signed because of the objections of other nations we concluded with Great Britain and France a conditional treaty of qualitative limitation which, much to my regret, already shows signs of ineffectiveness.

Shun Political Commitments.

"We shun political commitments which might entangle us in foreign wars; we avoid connection with the political activities of the league of nations; but I am glad to say that we have coöperated wholeheartedly in the social and humanitarian work at Geneva. Thus we are a part of the world effort to control trafic in narcotics, to improve international health, to help child welfare, to eliminate double taxation and to better working conditions and laboring hours throughout the world.

"We are not isolationists except in so far as we seek to isolate ourselves completely from war. Yet we must remember that so long as war exists on earth there will be some danger that even the nation which most ardently desires peace may be drawn into war.

"I have seen war. I have seen war on land and sea. I have seen blood running from the wounded. I have seen men coughing out their gassed lungs. I have seen the dead in the mud. I have seen cities destroyed. I have seen two hundred limping, exhausted men come out of line—the survivors of a regiment of one thousand that went forward 48 hours before. I have seen children starving. I have seen the agony of mothers and wives. I hate war.

Works to Avoid War.

"I have passed unnumbered hours, I shall pass unnumbered hours, thinking and planning how war may be kept from this nation.

"I wish I could keep war from all nations, but that is beyond my power. I can at least make certain that no act of the United States helps to produce or to promote war. I can at least make clear that the conscience of America revolts against war and that any nation which provokes war forfeits the sympathy of the people of the United States.

"Many causes produce war. There are ancient hatreds, turbulent frontiers, the 'legacy of old, forgotten, far off things, and battles long ago.' There are new born fanaticisms, convictions on the part of certain peoples that they have become the unique depositories of ultimate truth and right.

"A dark old world was devastated by wars between conflicting religions. A dark modern world faces wars between conflicting economic and political fanaticisms in which are intertwined race hatreds.

Compares Nations to States.

"To bring it home, it is as if, within the territorial limits of the United States, 48 nations with 48 forms of government, 48 customs barriers, 48 languages, and 48 eternal and different verities were spending their time and their substance in a frenzy of effort to make themselves strong enough to conquer their neighbors or strong enough to defend themselves against their neighbors.

"In one field, that of economic barriers, the American policy may be, I hope, of some assistance in discouraging the economic source of war and therefore a contribution towards the peace of the world. The trade agreements which we are making are not only finding outlets for the products of American fields and American factories but are also pointing the way to the elimination of embargoes, quotas and other devices which place such pressure on nations not possessing great natural resources that to them the price of peace seems less terrible than the price of war.

Sees Trade as Peace Aid.

"We do not maintain that a more liberal international trade will stop war, but we fear that without a more liberal international trade war is a natural sequence.

"The congress of the United States has given me certain authority to provide safeguards of American neutrality in case of war.

"The President of the United States, who, under our constitution, is vested with primary authority to conduct our international relations, thus has been given new weapons with which to maintain our neutrality.

"Nevertheless—and I speak from a long experience—the effective maintenance of American neutrality depends today, as in the past, on the wisdom and determination of whoever at the moment occupy the offices of President and secretary of state.

Visions War Profits Cut.

"It is clear that our present policy and the measures passed by the congress would in the event of a war on some other continent reduce war profits which would otherwise accrue to American citizens. Industrial and agricultural production for a war market may give immense fortunes to a few men; for the nation as a whole it produces disaster.

"It was the prospect of war profits that made our farmers in the west plow up prairie land that should never have been plowed, but should have been left for grazing cattle. Today we are reaping the harvest of those war profits in the dust storms which have devastated those war plowed areas.

"It was the prospect of war profits that caused the extension of monopoly and unjustified expansion of industry and a price level so high that the normal relationship between debtor and creditor was destroyed.

"Nevertheless, if war should break out again in another continent, let us not blink the fact that we would find in this country thousands of Americans who, seeking immediate riches—fools' gold—would attempt to break down or evade our neutrality.

"They would tell you—and, unfortunately, their views would get wide publicity—that if they could produce and ship this and that and the other article to belligerent nations the unemployed of America would all find work. They would tell you that if they could extend credit to warring nations that credit would be used in the United States to build homes and factories and pay our debts. They would tell you that America once more would capture the trade of the world.

Hard to Resist Clamor.

"It would be hard to resist that clamor; it would be hard for many Americans, I fear, to look beyond—to realize the inevitable penalties, the inevitable day of reckoning that comes from a false prosperity. To resist the clamor of that greed, if war should come, would require the unswerving support of all Americans who love peace.

"If we face the choice of profits or peace, the nation will answer—must answer—'We choose peace.' It is the duty of all of us to encourage such a body of public opinion in this country that the answer will be clear and for all practical purposes unanimous.

"With that wise and experienced man who is our secretary of state, whose statesmanship has met with such wide approval, I have thought and worked long and hard on the problem of keeping the United States at peace. But all the wisdom of America is not to be found in the White House or in the department of state; we need the meditation, the prayer, and the positive support of the people of America who go along with us in seeking peace.

Laws Cannot Cover All.

"No matter how well we are supported by neutrality legislation, we must remember that no laws can be provided to cover every contingency, for it is impossible to imagine how every future event may shape itself. In spite of every possible forethought, international relations involve of necessity a vast uncharted area. In that area safe sailing will depend on the knowledge and the experience and the wisdom of those who direct our foreign policy. Peace will depend upon their day to day decisions.

"At this late date, with the wisdom which is so easy after the event and so difficult before the event, we find it possible to trace the tragic series of small decisions which led Europe into the great war in 1914 and eventually engulfed us and many other nations.

"We can keep out of war if those who watch and decide have a sufficiently detailed understanding of international affairs to make certain that the small decisions of each day do not lead toward war and if, at the same time, they possess the courage to say 'No!' to those who selfishly or unwisely would let us go to war.

Can Defend Ourselves.

"Of all the nations of the world today we are in many ways most singularly blessed. Our closest neighbors are good neighbors. If there are remoter nations that wish us not good but ill, they know that we are strong; they know that we can and will defend ourselves and defend our neighborhood.

"We seek to dominate no other nation. We ask no territorial expansion. We oppose imperialism. We desire reduction in world armaments.

"We believe in democracy; we believe in freedom; we believe in peace. We offer to every nation of the world the handclasp of the good neighbor. Let those who wish our friendship look us in the eye and take our hand."

THROW WASTER OUT, IS APPEAL OF VANDENBERG

"The only sure way to avoid new taxes or the worse calamity of more debt or of direct inflation is to throw the money waster out of the temple," Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan declared yesterday in a statement given out here by Republican national headquarters.

"The White House promise that there will be no new taxes next year is sheer political boondoggling," Senator Vandenberg said. "Unless there are new taxes there will either be new debts or printing press money, if we continue to spend $2 for every $1 the treasury takes in.

"It is significant that nothing is said about reducing these expenditures. Indeed the new budget is far bigger than the last one. There are no signs of recession in the spending spree. Of course, a new promise to economize would be a ghastly joke in the light of what happened to the Roosevelt 1932 promise to reduce federal expenditures 25 per cent."

Jail Salesman Owing $474 for Support of Children

For being $474 in arrears on payments for the support of two children, Emmanuel Dreswer, 38 years old, 1753 Jarvis avenue, a salesman, was committed to the county jail for six months by Judge John P. McGoorty yesterday. His divorced wife, Minnie, 817 Sheridan road, told the court Dreswer remarried April 19 and took his second wife on a honeymoon while failing to pay for the support of his children. Dreswer said the honeymoon consisted of taking his new wife on one of his selling trips.

Oak Park's Dry Ordinance Invoked Twice; 3 Arrested

Baxter Lightfoot, owner of a drug store at 400 Lake street, Oak Park, was arrested by police of the suburb yesterday on a charge of selling bottled beer in his store. A short time later, Edward Rice, 21 years old, and his brother John, both of 7318 Lake street, River Forest, were fined $25 each by Justice of the Peace Martin McGrath for delivering beer in Oak Park. Their father owns a distributing agency. The sale or delivery of any kind of alcoholic beverages is prohibited by the village.

COUGHLIN CALLS OFF $25,000 LEMKE BET; HEARS IT'S ILLEGAL

Cleveland, O., Aug. 14.—(AP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin said tonight his election bet with Frederick Jenckenes of Providence, R. I., was off.

The Royal Oak, Mich., priest said he had been advised by Chester Carpenter, former Rhode Island supervisor for the National union that "it is illegal in Rhode Island for any person to make a wager of any nature on the outcome of an election."

"I certainly would not want to go to jail this year, particularly," Father Coughlin said jokingly as he said he had authorized his secretary to advise Jenckes of his decision.

In a recent speech in Rhode Island Father Coughlin offered to wager $25,000, at 3 to 2, that Representative William Lemke, Union party presidential candidate, would carry the state. Jenckes promptly notified the priest he was prepared to post $16,666.66 to cover the bet, but declined to accept a note for Father Coughlin's end.

"I presume I may have to compensate him for any loss," Father Coughlin said. "I don't know."

2 ILLINOIS GIRLS DISCOVER 'A LOT OF REPUBLICANS'

McNabb, Ill., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Margaret Ann Tommison, 12, and Marilyn Gene Wilson, 13, both of McNabb, are finding the popularity of the Republican ticket in Illinois a profitable thing. They have set up a business of selling Landon sunflower buttons at all of the Republican rallies in this district.

"Business is awfully good," Margaret said. "Our fathers take us to the rallies. There must be an awful lot of Republicans.

"We ask them to pay whatever they wish for the buttons, and we've made a dollar each in just a few minutes.

"We've got it all budgeted. Part of the money we're going to give to Mr. Landon and part we'll give to the church. Maybe we'll keep just a little for ourselves. We haven't decided about that."

REJOICES WHEN 2 BROKEN LEGS PROVE HELPFUL

Thirty-eight years ago James Stuart, 112 Loomis street, was a switchman employed in the yards of the Lake Shore and Michigan railroad [now the Michigan Central] at 63d street and Englewood avenue. On Dec. 31, 1898, both of his legs were broken in a train accident, which Stuart considered a misfortune at the time. Yesterday, however, the record of the accident proved Stuart's age is 73 and the proof established his right to a state old age pension.

Stuart's application for a pension had been rejected by Mrs. Jessie Schwartz of the county bureau of public welfare because, although born in the United States, he had no birth certificate and could not prove himself to be more than 65 years old, the minimum age for pension eligibility.

Remembering his accident, Stuart had Mrs. Schwartz write the police department to search its files for a record of it. In a musty volume for 1898, Policeman Harry Rempert of the bureau of criminal statistics and records found that one "James Stewart" had broken both legs in such an accident as Stuart described. "Stewart's" age was given as 35.

The difference in the spelling of the name was put down to error, and Stuart went his way rejoicing.

STRIKES SUITOR WITH A HATCHET; LEAPS TO DEATH

Westminster, Md., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Miss Grace Lippy, 30, plunged to her death today from a third story window, Deputy Sherif Walter Shipley said, after she had slugged her suitor with a hatchet and tried to hang herself.

Deputy Shipley said John Hyde, a stone quarry worker with whom Miss Lippy kept company, summoned him to the woman's apartment and told him what had happened. Hyde's injuries were not critical.

Hyde told the officer he went to Miss Lippy's apartment at her request. She asked him to open a window, Hyde said, and as he did so she hit him in the head with a hatchet, knocking him unconscious. Hyde attributed the tragedy to jealousy.

COUGHLIN KEEPS SELF IN CHECK AT CONVENTION

Oratorical Fireworks to Be Omitted.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Newspaper men in the press stand for the first day of the first Coughlin convention complained bitterly that the show is too tame, that in contrast with the Townsendite affair here a month ago, which many of them attended, the proceedings thus far have been utterly lacking in thrill.

"It's all Coughlin," protested a veteran of many national conventions, "and he has put a check rein on himself."

That was a reference to the fact that up to this point the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin has adhered strictly to his declared intention of making this two-day gathering a deliberative assemblage, not an oratorical contest. It also was an allusion to the same priest's frenzied speech before the Townsend convention when he tore off his Roman collar, tossed it behind him and assailed President Roosevelt as a liar.

Forgets Grandstanding.

But this was not the only contrast with the news making meeting of the Townsend allies of the Coughlinites in backing Congressman William Lemke as a third party candidate. The radio priest has put the lid on grandstanding of either a political or an evangelistic nature. He outlined a business program and it is being followed.

There has been none of the display of mob spirit aroused by the Rev. Gerald L. Smith, Huey Long disciple. There has been none of the stormy protest that greeted Norman Thomas, Socialist, when he told the Townsendites their plan was ridiculous.

Father Coughlin spoke briefly this morning—a response to two addresses of welcome. But it was nothing more than a response. Then Senator Rush D. Holt of West Virginia, who was elected to Washington when he still was under the senatorial age limit, read from an approved manuscript for something more than an hour.

Delegates Stick to Business.

That ended the preliminaries and the delegates settled down to the business program, the appointment of committees and such matters that dragged slowly along over a weary course so far as the newspaper men were concerned.

As the closing event of the afternoon program Father Coughlin stepped to the microphone and in slow, measured tones—slow "for the benefit of the press"—discussed his views on the money question. First of all he denied newspaper statements that he favors nationalization of banks. What he said from that point was primer restatement of his money preachments over the radio and in print—an attack on the federal reserve system. Not once did he raise his voice above a classroom tone. At times it dropped to a sickroom level.

It was with that sort of a delivery that he made his only reference of the day to any presidential candidate. He charged the federal reserve with credit inflation.

"You Have to Pay."

"Mr. Roosevelt," he said, "permitted that credit inflation to go on. When he got that 18 billion he made a bargain in your name that you—you would pay these bankers 18 billion in real money—over a period of thirty years pay over 39 billions. We don't believe in Mr. Roosevelt's inflation. We are against printing press and fountain pen money."

But this convention does resemble the Townsend meeting in some respects. The attendance is about the same in size. The official figures show there are 4,000 delegates and 4,000 alternates here. In addition there are about 2,000 other visitors but there still are vacant seats in the upper balcony just as there were when the Townsendites met.

Women at Convention.

There also is a high percentage of women among the delegates this time, but the average age is much lower. That the crowd is younger is believed to account for the greater volume of noise when a cheer goes up—particularly one prompted by the appearance of Father Coughlin or even the mention of his name.

He was given a fifteen minute demonstration the first time he arose to speak and he was showered with adulation if not worship when the crowd could get at him, but the clearest light on the attitude of his followers toward him was provided by references to him in some of the speeches.

"If we are steadfast in our loyalty to our great chieftain, Father Coughlin," said Permanent Chairman Sylvester J McMahon of Cleveland, "this government will be a government of political liberty, economic freedom, and social justice, and democracy will be saved in America, the tide of fascism and communism will be stemmed and faith in an eternal God will not be torn out of the hearts of his children."

Senator Holt boosted the nature of the enthusiasm shown by the delegates.

"It's honest enthusiasm," he said, "not the enthusiasm of jobholders trying to hang onto their jobs."

The Holt speech was chiefly a discussion of the Coughlin sixteen principles, but it was he who put in the only slap at the administration in the opening session. That was aimed at the relief situation.

"Harry Hopkins and his coteries of nincompoops," said Holt, "are drawing nice salaries trying to wisecrack the disgraceful incidents of the WPA. I praised the aims of the relief act, but condemn its administration. Although those in control in Washington say there is no politics in the relief act, elections held in many states have proven that people employed were dismissed because they did not support the WPA sponsored list of candidates."

During Holt's speech there was booing for the name of Congressman John O'Connor of the house rules committee who once said he would "kick Father Coughlin all the way down Pennsylvania avenue" if he came with the demand that a vote be allowed on the Frazier-Lemke bill. When the name of Lemke was mentioned by the same speaker there was hearty applause but it was brief.

Roosevelt Is Ignored.

Although his car, carrying him into the Great Lakes exposition, passed within a hundred feet of the auditorium where the Coughlinites were in session, President Roosevelt's visit had no effect on the convention.

As nearly as could be told the President passed the hall about the time a young Cleveland speaker, Allen Blackburn, was saying:

"The radio crooner from Hyde Park keeps singing his broken record song 'I Promise, I Promise, I Promise.'"

"If I had known the exact hour President Roosevelt was coming by the hall," Father Coughlin said tonight, "I'd have advocated a recess so we all could have gone out to greet him. I'm glad he was given a fine ovation."

GROPE IN DEPTHS OF MINE FOR TWO BODIES, LAST OF SIX VICTIMS

Mountain City, Nev., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Grotesque figures in gas masks groped through mine tunnels far underground tonight seeking the bodies of two of six men killed by poison fumes. The other four have been recovered.

While 60 employés of the Mountain City Mining company waited at the mine gates, four rescue specialists pressed their task of finding and bringing to the surface the bodies of Albert Atel, 41, and Frank Teixera, 44, both of Mountain City.

A company official said the victims failed to don gas helmets and perished in fumes believed to have been released by blasting.

HAMILTON SEES BIG SWING TO LANDON BANNER

True Democrats Resent Roosevelt Policies.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—John Hamilton entered the southern California political muddle today with no apparent spirit of dismay. For the first time since he took charge of Republican campaign management, he indicated that the party was preparing for an attack in territory of the opposition with far more than mild hope of success.

Following his arrival in Los Angeles, Hamilton stressed the trend from ranks of orthodox Democrats to Gov. Landon in this campaign. Just what it will all mean when votes are counted election night Hamilton declined to forecast. However, he declared that the bolt of lifelong Democrats from the Roosevelt New Deal policies would produce some surprising results.

Lifelong Democrats Swing.

"The campaign is really just getting under a fine head of steam," the chairman told newsmen in a press conference. "Yet it is producing some startling results which I have not previously discussed. I feel that one of the most impressive elements in contribution to this swing to the Landon-Knox ticket is the fact that we have received such widespread encouragement from men and women who are lifelong Democrats and have never before supported a Republican nominee for the presidency.

"Headquarters in Chicago already has received from the southern states and from lifelong Democrats in the south more letters than were received by the headquarters during the entire campaign of 1928. This response at this time cannot mean anything except that a great group of rank and file Democrats intend to place patriotism above politics. I am not making any definite claims in these southern states at this time, but our southern correspondence is an element that carries conviction that many thousands of Democrats will refuse to vote for a continuation of the present national policy.

Two Reasons for Change.

"There are two outstanding reasons for this great swing from the Roosevelt ranks," Hamilton continued. "One is pronounced resentment against abandonment of constitutional government which causes these people to desert Mr. Roosevelt as a purely patriotic policy. The second is a tremendous protest against abandonment of the fundamental principles of the Democratic party."

Chairman Hamilton faced a heavy schedule of meetings with party workers when he arrived in Los Angeles. His one major public speech will be made tomorrow night.

California is rated as one of the tough spots of the Republicans at this time. The state is decidedly disturbed by groups and factions which have not entirely settled their differences. There is work for the Republicans to do in California, and Hamilton knows it.

"I won't say things look good here," Hamilton said. "I will merely say they are a lot better than a few weeks ago. The ground swell of New Deal resentment has swung into the prairie states from New England and the east. I have no doubt it will be here well ahead of the election."

Trend Toward Communism.

A reporter asked if he considered the Roosevelt administration as leaning toward communistic policies.

"Personally, I do," Hamilton said emphatically. "I think the Roosevelt administration has given us the greatest jelling of isms the world ever saw."

CHIANG, REBEL GENERAL TRADE THREATS IN CHINA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 15.—[Saturday.]—Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, dictator of the Chinese central government at Nanking, and Pai Chung-hsi, Kwangsi war lord, have delivered each other three day ultimatums scheduled to expire tomorrow, it became known today.

Chiang has ordered Pai and his associate, Li Tsung-jen, to accept the Nanking government terms or else the generalissimo will personally take the field against them. Pai at the same time issued an ultimatum to Chiang to cease warlike preparations or he will lead a nation-wide movement against the Nanking dictator.

Nanking has sent a gunboat to the Kwangsi town of Dosing, 25 miles east of Wuchow on the West river, where it is blocked by a log barricade.

Girl, 13, Rides Plane Aloft Alone; Dies After Crash

ANGOULEME, France, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Collette Loup, a 13 year old girl who took an airplane aloft for a solo flight without knowing how to land it, died of her injuries today. Investigators believed the girl inadvertently had touched the controls after she had returned from a flight over the city with the plane's regular pilot and he had dismounted. It whipped off the ground and flew wildly for several minutes before crashing.

YOUNG G. O. P. WILL AID DRIVE FOR VOLUNTEERS

Indorse Group in New Deal Fight.

Thomas J. Downs, president of the Young Republican organization of Illinois, will direct the enlistment of new members of THE VOLUNTEERS at Springfield next Wednesday during Republican day at the state fair. A crowd of thousands is expected to be present for the occasion.

Booths set side by side on the grounds will enroll both Young Republicans and VOLUNTEERS, Downs said. It is his hope that at least 10,000 new members will be obtained for each organization. THE VOLUNTEERS, which is composed of citizens pledged to the election of Landon and Knox, has headquarters on the 17th floor of Tribune Tower, 435 North Michigan avenue.

Win New Indorsement.

"The Young Republicans of Illinois heartily indorse THE VOLUNTEERS," Downs said, during a visit to headquarters, "and will do all they can to enlist VOLUNTEERS during their own membership drive at Springfield.

"We will follow up after Republican day by getting in touch with junior Republican county chairmen and asking them to enlist in their own counties. Youthful Americans are for Landon, among other reasons, because of the growing debt which the New Deal is forcing on the youth of today and their children as well.

"Under the present administration, there is no outlook for a reduction of taxes as long as the army of burocrats is kept on the pay roll. Young people have no outlook from the Democratic administration except a job with a pick and a shovel, raking leaves or shoveling snow."

Downstaters Are Invited.

Enlistment by the young Republicans of VOLUNTEERS at Springfield will furnish an opportunity for many of the downstaters wishing to join to do so. The movement is gaining strength daily, both in Cook county and downstate, with requests for membership cards and literature arriving at headquarters.

Units are being formed in many other states. Illustrative of spread of the movement was a letter received yesterday from Miss Racine Tucker of Sokakis Farms, Steep Falls, Me., who asked for literature and membership cards and added that THE VOLUNTEERS already are known in New England.

Warm indorsements of THE VOLUNTEERS already have been given by Republican State Chairman Perry B. McCullough and Cook County Chairman Edward F. Moore as well as the entire county committee.

Ward Organizations Act.

Ward organizations also are indorsing the movement, one of the latest to do so being the Thirty-fifth Ward Republican organization, of which Frank Peska is ward committeeman.

"THE VOLUNTEERS," says the indorsement resolution, "are doing an inestimable service in bringing together all elements of our citizenry to join in the battle against Franklin D. Roosevelt, who has deceived and betrayed the American people and foisted upon them all manner of oppressive and impractical schemes contrary to the principles of our federal constitution."

An influential new member of THE VOLUNTEERS who signed a membership card yesterday was Nathan William McChesney, who directed the organization of more than 3,000,000 Republican volunteers in 1928. Mr. McChesney inspected headquarters, found the organization "off to a good start," and pledged to do whatever he could to aid.

SEEK 'KIDNAPERS OR MURDERERS' OF MISSING BABY

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 14.—(AP)—A $1,000 reward for information leading to conviction of what the city council termed "kidnapers" or "murderers" of a baby mysteriously taken from the General hospital was offered by the council today.

The child's 15 year old unwed mother has been held by police and welfare authorities since Aug. 5, when the baby disappeared.

The mother claimed "a nurse in blue" took the baby from her early that morning. Parents of the mother have been quizzed in vain by police.

The 17 year old youth accused of being the father also is in custody, but neither police, welfare authorities, or Judge W. H. Bardwell have been able to throw any light on the mystery except a woman entered the hospital early Aug. 5, and walked out with the child.

LINCOLN SPIRIT IS TODAY'S NEED, BROOKS ASSERTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Petersburg, Ill., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—In a region hallowed with memories of Abraham Lincoln, Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for governor, tonight called on Illinois to rededicate itself to the principles for which Lincoln stood. Brooks spoke at the old Salem Chautauqua near here.

"In a time when old world philosophy of dictatorship and regimentation of the people is seeking to destroy the last vestige of individual right and liberty, it is fitting that we, of the new world, should turn back to the things for which Abraham Lincoln stood, and in which he believed," Mr. Brooks said.

"In the crisis of 1860, the people of this nation turned to a homespun man of a prairie state to provide them leadership.

"Now, in a new crisis, when the liberties of all are in danger, the people have turned to a new leader from a prairie state. He is a man untouched by internationalism, communism, collectivism, and dictatorial notions such as have been foisted on the nation in the last few years. He is a leader expressing the philosophy that has made this nation great.

"In times of danger the people of America have united to save their government. It is again a time for a united effort to protect our rights and privileges. It is not a party fight, but a clash between the philosophies of the old world and the new."

Mr. Brooks spoke twice earlier in the day, at the Cumberland county fair in Greenup, and at the Christian county Republican picnic at Morrisonville. Despite threatening skies, huge crowds were out to hear him.

3 CONVENTION DELEGATES AND WOMAN SHOT

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Three delegates to a hotel workers and bartenders' convention here and a woman companion were wounded by a fusillade of bullets tonight as they emerged from a restaurant.

One of the victims, Harry Koenig, 44, of New York City, is in serious condition at a hospital. He is a member of the largest waiters' union in New York City.

The shooting came as the convention party left a restaurant. Witnesses said a dark car slowed up as the party emerged and disappeared immediately the shots were fired.

Bystanders fled and the victims slumped to the pavement.

The suspected car was found abandoned not far away. Police were told by a resident that two men had parked the sedan there, jumped into a following car, and were driven away.

Two revolvers were found in the abandoned car.

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—John L. Lewis, organizer of the Committee on Industrial Organization and president of the United Mine Workers of America, sailed this afternoon on the American Merchant of the American Merchant Line for a rest and to meet Mrs. Lewis and his son, John L. Lewis Jr., in London.

According to plans, Mr. Lewis will return to New York on the Manhattan of the United States Lines, arriving here Sept. 3, two days before the American Federation of Labor's suspension ultimatum on the ten unions affiliated with the C. I. O. expires.

When asked if he were taking the sea voyage to study the ultimatum and frame a reply, Mr. Lewis laughed and said:

"I will make no comment upon that letter now. You can merely say that I am making a deferred trip abroad."

TAVERN BANDITS SHOOT 2; HOLDUP TAKEN FOR PRANK

Two young gunmen wearing smoked glasses entered Art's White Front tavern, 3454 Diversey parkway, last night and ordered a dozen patrons to put up their hands. All obeyed except Fred Priebis, 34 years old, 3501 Melrose street, who approached the men and said: "Quit your kidding." One of the bandits fired, wounding Priebis in the right thigh. Stanley Habel, 38 years old, manager of the tavern, cried out in protest, and the same bandit fired at him, the bullet striking Habel in the left leg. The gunmen then took $35 from the cash register and fled.

PARTY LEADERS INVITED TO RIDE LANDON SPECIAL

Conferences Planned on Eastern Trip.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Estes Park, Colo., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Invitations were issued today to party leaders and candidates in states through which Gov. Alf M. Landon will travel on his trip east and return to join the governor on his special train for a series of conferences.

These invitations were issued to the men and women members of the national committee, the chairmen of the state committees, and candidates for state-wide office and congress. The states through which Gov. Landon will travel on the round trip are Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, and Missouri.

Hamilton to Return.

John D. Hamilton, national chairman, who has been on an airplane campaign trip as far as the Pacific coast, will join Gov. Landon at Omaha on the evening of Aug. 20 and will travel with him as far as Chicago on the next day.

Gov. Landon changed the schedule for his trip slightly today when it was arranged for his train to leave La Salle, Colo., instead of Denver on the morning of Aug. 20. He has not approved his return itinerary.

The governor was examined this afternoon by Dr. F. L. Loveland, his physician, who pronounced him completely recovered from his cold and slight attack of pleurisy.

Goes to a Show.

The governor was feeling well enough today to try a little fly casting in Cow creek which flows through his ranch, but was still forbidden to take a more strenuous excursion. He motored into town with Mrs. Landon in the evening to attend a performance by Shakespearean players who are spending the summer here.

Ralph W. Robery, who has been in Topeka advising the governor on financial phases of his campaign addresses, arrived here today and will be available to the governor for the next few days.

WPA Actresses Charge They Were Ordered to a Stag

Boston, Mass., Aug. 14.—(AP)—An attorney representing a group of discharged WPA actors took to Washington today their charges of enforced performance by youthful actresses at a private stag party and enforced appearance on private radio programs.

He is Harry Lewin, and he announced he had taken his case direct to Harry L. Hopkins, Federal Works Progress administrator.

The stories the discharged actors told him, he said, included one of several girls who, instructed to report to a hotel room for a "style show," found on their arrival "a lot of federal men drinking liquor."

Ordered to Change Costumes.

They were ordered into an adjoining room to change costumes, they averred, and later compelled to parade before the men.

Others charged, Lewin asserted, they were dispatched to do bits on private radio programs, for which they received no remuneration.

To their tale of alleged discrimination and unwarranted dismissal Leonard Gallagher, federal theater director in Massachusetts, replied that, faced with the necessity of cutting forty-two actors from the force of 900 last June, those adjudged least competent were dropped.

Tells of Complaints.

"Five or six complained and asked for a hearing," he said. "Nothing was said then about the charges made today. The hearing was simply on the question of their professional ability.

"Only one could make the grade. She was a dancer and a teacher of dancing who frankly admitted she wasn't an actress.

"We found a job for her in the vaudeville unit."

WPA headquarters stated that the charge of one girl actress who reported several months ago that she was annoyed by the advances of a minor official had been substantiated and the official dismissed.

200 HIT PUFFER OVER OUSTER OF SCHOOL VETERAN

Two hundred residents of the Union Ridge school district in Norwood Park township met last night in their school at 4600 North Oak Park avenue and approved a resolution denouncing Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools, for his refusal to grant a renewal of the teaching certificate of the school principal, Charles O'Hearn, 38 years old, who has headed the school for the last twelve years.

Basis for Puffer's action, according to speakers at the meeting, was the testimony of three teachers in the school who charged the principal with unbecoming conduct. They are Miss Clarabelle Lindsay of De Kalb; Miss Larinda Cleary, 5033 Maypole avenue, and Miss Mary Hammond, 6600 Gunderson street.

Before they appeared at Puffer's office to complain about the behavior of the principal all the teachers were summoned before the school board and all denied O'Hearn had misbehaved, as the board had been told in an anonymous letter. As the result of their new stories, told to Puffer, the school board discharged all three teachers.

MASSACRE ANNIVERSARY

By CALEB

ONE hundred and twenty-four years ago this morning—the sun shone down on bustling preparations for the evacuation of Fort Dearborn, which stood at approximately the juncture of our present Michigan Boulevard and the river.

At 9 A. M. a band of ninety-six persons filed out of the stockade intent on reaching comparative safety at Fort Wayne or Detroit. The morning was hot. The little column struck off southward, and reaching the mouth of the Chicago River (which then flowed south before emptying into the lake) continued along the warm and shimmering sands of the beach.

They had progressed but a few hundred yards down shore when it was apparent the dreaded possible Indian attack was inevitable—and imminent.

Within twenty minutes, a hideous battle was over. Twenty-six soldiers and heroic Captain Wells were dead—and twelve militiamen. Two women were dead—and twelve children.

The forty-three persons who survived the brief battle were prisoners—many of them to be tortured, and later killed.

Today—with automobiles purring on our boulevards—with river steamers tooting their slow somnolent signals—with skyscrapers standing in dignified sheaths of sophisticated marble and gleaming glass—the old site of Fort Dearborn and the site (at Eighteenth St. and Calumet) of the tragic massacre seem of another world.

But here they are, a few feet below these pavements, a few yards perhaps from where you read these words—and but for the sands of time, it happened August 15, today! This is that sad day's anniversary.

As the victims of that massacre suffered and died, they must have felt their lives had been futile—and that the future of the community it had been their objective to build was then and there settled with a great finality.

Most groups in society in most generations fail of some principal objectives. If they themselves are lost, they think their cause is lost. Usually the contrary is true. We enjoy the benefits today of goals won by our ancestors who died thinking them lost. Likely, it will be our descendants who, anxious for their own ambitions, will realize ours.

SYNOPSIS.

Shortly after the world war Roger Mallard, handsome young Englishman, is embittered by the loss of hearing in one ear from a war injury. Mal has been raised by his godfather, William Grimwold, an actor. Grimmy persuades Mal to attend a New Year's eve party where he meets lovely young Pamella Wyeth, though he forgets her on meeting Zelda Manners. A month later Mal marries Zelda. After two years the marriage ends disastrously. In a rage at his failure to make a living on the stage Zelda flings a mirror at Mal and unknowingly destroys the hearing in his other ear. Fourteen years later, under Grimmy's tutelage, Mal has become a great success in pictures, hiding his affliction from his public. Zelda has refused him a divorce. Pamella Wyeth has a home in Pasadena. David Barkley, son of an old friend, boards with her. At the première of Mal's latest film David meets Ellen Greet, and invites her to a New Year's eve party at the hotel where Mallard lives, and asks Pamella along as chaperon. Mal is mourning the sudden death of Grimmy. He writes a letter of resignation to his producer. David, as a joke on Ellen, has a boy page her with a message that Roger Mallard wants to meet her. Mal, skilful at lip reading, is sitting at the next table. Attracted by Pamella, Mal introduces himself and asks to join their party. Jealous at Ellen's interest in Mal, David takes her off, deserting Pamella. Mal persuades Pamella to let him take her home.

INSTALMENT XVIII.

DISILLUSIONED.

A silence followed Mal's outburst. Pam was glad to have it broken by a far off din of whistles and bells.

"There!" she cried, jumping up.

Knitting his brows, Mallard watched her.

"What?"

"The bells. Hear them? The New Year is here. You can't have forgotten that we were to greet the New Year together?" she tossed back over her shoulder.

With a look as if he'd been reminded of something that made him positively sick, he got up and joined her at the window.

"It's always thrilled me," she told him, "even from childhood. The passing of the old year into history. The coming of the new. Rather solemn, isn't it? Have we given each other courage?"

"You have. But I need more—much more."

"We should drink to it, shouldn't we? I've a bottle of sherry," she added naively.

But he stopped her as she started to fetch it.

"No . . . Give me your hand."

She put her hand in his. He held it silently for a moment, and then stooped down and kissed it.

Never in her life had Pamella been more profoundly moved.

"O, Mr. Mallard, don't you know me?" she burst out, radiantly unable to keep it back any longer.

"Of course, I know you."

"But don't you remember me? It was so long ago—for so short a time—but——"

"I am remembering how this has come too late."

Pam's exalted feeling changed to one of alarm as she looked up in time to see a spasm of despairing emotion contort his face.

He turned away from her and went back across the room, evidently with some vague notion of leaving her at last. When he passed the couch he swayed and tottered down upon it as if pushed there.

Pam ran to the couch and bent over him.

"Mr. Mallard! What is it? Are you ill?"

"It's quiet here," he informed her in a whisper. Quiet. Very quiet." And his eyelids, looking crushed and blue, drooped slowly over his eyes.

"Mr. Mallard, open your eyes. Tell me what's wrong."

He drew away from her weekly, muttering: "Leave me alone, Grimmy. . . . I . . . must . . . s-s-sleep . . . too . . . ."

With that he seemed to sink into some hidden abyss. And Pam was left alone with the distant clanging of bells, staring at Roger Mallard's limp body crumpled on her couch, at his ashen face fallen back and upward on the pillows.

Repeated shakings failed to rouse him. She'd seen men pass out before, but she hadn't expected it of him. He had taken very little of the champagne, and had refused a toast to the New Year from her one bottle of sherry. Her inference was that he'd already been well primed, but had managed to conceal it till it got the best of him in the warmth and quiet of her living room.

She began to hope that David wouldn't come home. His mocking, boyish laughter would be the last straw. She was being paid in full for her departure into romantic adventure, for her acceptance of dreams induced by an idealized past.

Mallard's long body, now completely relaxed, was more than her strength could handle. She did manage to lift his feet up and drag him about supine on the couch. She noticed that his face wasn't flushed; on the contrary, it still remained ashen. Nor was his breathing heavy. Indeed, he scarcely seemed to breathe at all. For a moment this gave her another fright, but upon trembling investigation she could feel a faint beating in his wrist.

Impossible to get his coat off, she took off his tie and collar, instead, loosened his dress shirt and put the milky black pearl studs in his pocket. She removed his dancing shoes and placed them neatly side by side on the floor by the couch, where he couldn't fail to find them. As his feet felt icy, she brought an electric pad and arranged it so that he would get the good of its warmth. From her cedar closet she carried her two best blankets, creamy white. These she tucked securely about him, and without another glance in his direction, turned off the lights.

Pamella now dragged herself to her room. Before she crept into her bed she locked her door. Since this was something she never dreamed of doing, it impressed her as the crowning theatrical touch.

It wasn't till morning that, from sheer exhaustion, she sank into a troubled sleep. And then, it seemed to her, that she had just dropped off, when a persistently ringing phone bell in the upstairs study roused her.

The brilliant sunlight of the New Year's first day streamed through her windows. The unreality of the night became more dreamlike now that she was confronted by the familiar sunlit hangings and furnishings of her charming bedroom. A boudoir clock on her dresser told her it was noon.

Surely the man on her couch would have had the tact—or be shamed into having it—to take himself off by this time. She hoped with all her heart he'd gone down her hills long ago in the cold dawn. She hoped with all her heart she would never see or hear of him again. At least this is what she told herself she hoped.

"Yes?" she called rather fearfully into the phone. Surely he wouldn't dare to try to phone her!

But it was David's voice, surprisingly meek, that answered.

"Pam—I'm in jail."

"I'm not surprised to hear it."

"O, Pam——"

"Your father told me never to bail you out."

"Aw, Pam! Then I'll have to stay till——"

"Where's Ellen?"

"O, I took her home all right along toward 7 o'clock. It was after that they got me. They had the nerve to say I was driving all over the road. But that's not what I'm pinched for——"

"Perhaps this will be a lesson to you."

"Hey, Pam! Wait a minute. Don't hang up! I'm in trouble. You didn't let that fellow take you home, did you?"

"Aren't you worrying about me and what I was to do with myself after you left me, rather late?"

"Pam, I'm sorry. Awfully sorry. Guess I was a little high. But I've been punished. I was right about that impostor. The real Mallard's been kidnaped."

"David—go to sleep and try to get sober!"

"Pam, really, I'm in hot water. That Mallard impostor has everybody fooled, even the police. They insist that Mallard was last seen at my table at the Excelsior, so they're holding me until—Pam, what became of the fellow after I left you?"

"I don't know what you're talking about, David. I know nothing whatever of impostors or anything else. Please don't come home until you are completely yourself." And Pam slammed up her phone.

MYSTERIES OF THE WEEK

BY MORTIMER QUICK

That exuberant young man, Jonathan Latimer, has done it again with a book macabrely entitled "The Lady in the Morgue" [Crime Club, $2]. Only, the catch is, she doesn't stay in the morgue, even though sufficiently dead. She vanishes, reappears, and metamorphoses in a manner which would be horrifying if it were not so funny. At that, unless you can take it, this may not be the book for you, though it is crammed full of the most disconcerting performances ever assembled in less than 300 pages.

Perhaps you remember Bill Crane, the eminent and ingenious private detective. He it is who hurtles through this one, conceiving, saying, doing diverting and dastardly deeds agonizing in their indelicacy and variety. His associates are almost equally resourceful, and what Bill doesn't pull they do.

If you have a weakness for rough stuff, you couldn't make yourself a better present than this volume, lurid with shocking incidents and hearty guffaws.

A horribly romantic tale is "The Undying Monster" [Macmillan, $2], by Jessie Douglas Kerruish. It tells with sentimental fervor the story of an ancient English family cursed by a haunting fiend who reappears at intervals to destroy its head or drive him to suicide.

A strange young woman, a "supersensitive," is called in when the only male Dannow to survive the war is attacked by the family bane. What she does, and how she does it, is the story. It is rather grisly and very intense. If you like "Dracula" and its kind, it will give you a number of satisfactory shudders.

Darrah Gives Clear View of Days in Italy

"Hail Caesar" Is Account of New Empire.

BY GEORGE J. SCHARSCHUG,
Cable Editor, The Chicago Tribune.

"Hail Cæsar," by David Darrah [Hale, Cushman & Flint, Inc., $2.50] to be published today.

MR. DARRAH'S book is not just another book about Mussolini or Mussolini's Italy. It stands out—a graphic picture of seven years of keen observation of the making of the new Roman empire and of the man and his satellites who are making it.

After seven years as Rome correspondent of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Mr. Darrah, who is now stationed in London, was expelled from Italy because he sought to give American readers an unbiased and truthful story of what he saw and heard. When he expelled Mr. Darrah, Mussolini did not deny that THE TRIBUNE writer had told the truth. He tossed Mr. Darrah out of the country because the correspondent refused to become what Mussolini, himself, once termed an "ambulating phonograph" for the Italian press bureau.

Before he became a dictator, Mussolini was a newspaper man who, for years, had prided himself on doing what Mr. Darrah was doing—obeying the first rule of the newspaper man's code—strive to give the reader the facts, fairly told.

Despite his unceremonious and, without doubt, unjust expulsion, Mr. Darrah has kept his head. He tells his story in a straightforward manner, setting down a day by day record of those years during which Mussolini sought to mould himself into the mantle of a Roman Cæsar.

In those fateful years, while Mr. Darrah was in Rome, he saw the last vestiges of democracy and liberty wiped out in Italy. He saw the urge for war grow as the economic situation grew worse. He saw Mussolini prepare his armies, which later were to conquer the almost defenseless Ethiopia, while Europe raged, trembled and then ran for cover.

Mr. Darrah likes Italy. His work took him to all parts of the country. During vacations or on days off he walked along the paths once trod by Cicero, by Virgil, by Horace, or hiked over the countryside, meeting and learning to know Italy's common man. Some of his word pictures of the beauty spots in a land filled with them are graphic bits of writing.

As TRIBUNE correspondent, Mr. Darrah had daily opportunity to observe and study Mussolini and the men who surround him. He saw Mussolini strut. He did not find him awe inspiring and yet there was "something profoundly disturbing, tumultuous and intense about his personality."

He was struck by the "fanatical religious patriotism that exuded" from the dictator.

He found the average Italian likes his "manager"—this autocrat whom Pope Pius once described as a "providential man." Why? Perhaps, as Mr. Darrah writes, because "Mussolini incarnates the aspiration for 'getting ahead' of the robust Italian common people, and he combines their solidity and exuberance together with their gaudiness, sonorousness, and flamboyant and cheap sentimentalism."

NOVEL OF REVOLT

Herbert Gorman, whose biography of Dumas, "The Incredible Marquis," had a rich French background, has chosen the even gaudier days of the French revolution as background for his long novel, "The Mountain and the Plain." Published Aug. 13.

Two New Books on the Small Boat in Salt Water Are Out

Two attractive additions to marine literature covering salt water small boat navigation from different angles are "Ocean Racing," by Alfred F. Loomis [Morrow, $4], and "American Sailing Craft," by Howard I. Chapelle [Kennedy Brothers, $4.]. Both are well illustrated, the Loomis book with photographs and the Chapelle volume with more than seventy plans and drawings by the author in addition to sketches by Charles G. Davis.

Chapelle, one of the ablest writers on marine matters, after long research has compiled a record of the various types of American sailing craft used in the fisheries and in commerce between 1800 and 1900. Both yachtsmen and model builders will find much authentic information in this comprehensive work.

In "Ocean Racing" Loomis has written a running story of the great blue water races from 1866 to 1935. This is claimed to be the first complete chronicle of the great trans-Atlantic and other important events. The book contains a chart of the courses of each of these races, a roster of crews in trans-Atlantic events, including some 2,000 individual names, a register of ocean racing yachts, and a special chapter on "The Rules of the Game," by Herbert L. Stone, editor of Yachting.

Noted Authors Will Join in Parody Volume

London Expects Success for Lively Book.

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON.—[Special Correspondence.]—That able but priggish Victorian writer, Sir Arthur Helps, once said that only the vulgar mind appreciates a parody. I do not know what Max Beerbohm would retort; but Mr. Beerbohn is the author of the best modern parodies, which are all contained in his exquisite "Christmas Garland," and I believe he could write a very good parody of Helps if, as Dr. Johnson said, "he would but abandon himself to it."

Now "A Christmas Garland" is to have a rival, and the title of this rival is "Parody Party" [Hutchinson]. The idea for the book originated at a house party at which the editor, Leonard Russell of the Sunday Times, and several other vivacious scribes were present; and as similar parties followed more authors joined the force, with the result that fifteen parodies, all the work of lively minds, and all jovially ridiculing living writers, will be gathered together in "Parody Party."

Miss Rebecca West will deal faithfully with Charles Morgan, Miss Rose Macaulay with Ernest Hemingway, E. C. Bentley will contribute a new Peter Wimsey episode in the manner of Miss Dorothy Sayers [why not a new Trent tale by Miss Sayers?], and other contributors will be Miss G. B. Stern, Francis Iles, Edward Shanks, James Agate, Lionel Hale, Ivor Brown [who should be very amusing on Peter Fleming, the young traveler, who says he feels no respect for anybody, but who flames with annoyance when his own armaments are ridiculed], J. B. Morton, and D. B. Wyndham Lewis.

Illustrations are to be supplied by Nicolas Bentley, whose work is both decorative and witty, and the book ought to be a treat for all those to whom parody of favorite authors is enjoyable.

Another book, of a wholly different character, which will enjoy, perhaps, an even wider sale, though not to the same people, is to be published in the autumn by Ivor Nicholson & Watson. It is described as "a spiritual autobiography," and the author is Rom Landau, whose "God Is My Adventure"* made a stir a couple of years ago. Mr. Landau is a Pole, now resident in England, who has sought faith and adventure all over the world, and who has reached the belief that "only by serving man can we truthfully claim to have become servants of God."

His book is not a metaphysical treatise; he is a narrator of facts, and many of his observations are of things seen rather than of things thought. He discusses, for example, the English character, and tells of meetings with Mr. Hoover, Mr. Dreiser, and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler; but always from the outside.

Only in a discourse on the mystic number seven [the book is called "Seven" because its chapters deal in each case with seven years of his own life] does he leave the beaten track.

FRANCE, POLAND SPLIT BY RUSSIA ON MILITARY PACT

Paris Alliance with Reds Blocks New Tie.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland. Aug. 14.—The delicate problem of Polish-French military coöperation has been discussed completely in Warsaw during the past two days by Inspector General Edward Rydz-Smigly of the Polish army and Gen. Marie Gustave Gamelin, chief of staf of the French army, together with military experts of both countries.

The conference has shown that neither France nor Poland is willing to change its present relations with Russia. As long as France has her mutual assistance pact with Moscow and Poland continues to refuse to permit soviet forces to cross her territory to assist France the possibility of restoring life to the Franco-Polish alliance remains obscure.

Relations with Nazis Unaffected.

The visit of the sober faced French general was enthusiastically welcomed by the Polish press with only a few exceptions. The government newspaper Gazeta Polska emphasized that the visit concerned only military questions and that Poland's present foreign policy, the chief point of which is maintenance of friendly relations with Germany, will not be affected.

On the other hand, the Kurjer Warszawski, the most powerful opposition paper in Poland, welcomed Gen. Gamelin as a demonstration of Polish-French solidarity against Germany.

Talk of a French loan of $200,000,000 to modernize the equipment of the Polish army is discounted in government circles. They admit the forthcoming visit of Gen. Rydz-Smigly to Paris is likely to have a more important effect upon relations between Warsaw and Paris than Gen. Gamelin's visit to the Polish capital.

Victory Celebration Today.

The presence of the French chief of staf tomorrow at a huge military parade in commemoration of the sixteenth anniversary of the Polish victory over the bolshevik armies before Warsaw raised hopes in Poland that France is depending more upon Poland than Russia for assistance in time of need.

The victory anniversary is being utilized by both the government and opposition groups which are arranging patriotic demonstrations throughout Poland.

FRENCH PARLIAMENT PASSES WHEAT BOARD BILL; SITS ALL NIGHT

PARIS, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The French parliament climaxed an all night final session today by passing the wheat board bill, the last major item on the Socialist government's economic program.

The measure, to set up a "national professional wheat office," shuttled back and forth between the two houses eight times before the senate yielded to the chamber of deputies from its insistence on amendments designed to curb government control.

The new law provides for price fixing in the wheat market and puts marketing procedure of crops largely in the hands of coöperatives. Farmers are instructed, under the law, to sell only to registered coöperatives and millers can buy only from the same organizations.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Rain Is Life Saver

Aug. 14, 1936.

Everybody is smiling on the experimental farms. The big rain that arrived last night is the cause of all the good cheer. It drenched parched fields and dry woods that have needed such moisture for many weeks. This morning it looked as if you could see even the sheep chuckling over the downpour which will make the pastures green again.

And the corn seems to be holding its tasseled heads much higher since the storm, with typical thunder and lightning trimmings, swept over the farm.

This welcome rain is not going to perform any magic with the corn that has taken such a whipping from the drouth, but the boys were saying this morning that it's bound to prove pretty much of a lifesaver and enable the corn to make something of itself.

Renews Test Plots.

The test plots look like new since the water came down by the bucketful. Warm weather following this downpour will enable plantings to make a big comeback.

The best thing about this storm was the way the rain came down. After a heavy shower there was a short lull, sort of giving old mother earth a chance to absorb much of the moisture. Then came another downpour. Even the waterfowl on the ponds were cheering the storm this morning, because it rained enough to bring up the levels of all the pools, which have been fading away during the drouth.

Helps Nearly All Crops.

From a more practical viewpoint the rains will help almost all the crops. It aided the corn generally, especially that which is still green. All of the experimental plots at the Wheaton farm were in need of the rain. However, it came too late to save most of the young legume and grass seedlings which were sown with small grains as nurse crops on both farms. It will also help to start the grass growing again, although more rains will be necessary for the pastures in order to insure good fall grazing.

At Yorkville the workers were so delighted with the big rain that some of them got up in the night to watch the storm and to hear the music of the rain pattering on the roof.

Annabelle Has Fun.

Annabelle, the mischievous nanny goat on the Yorkville farm, apparently has caught the spirit of the Olympic track meet judging by the way she has been hurdling fences and sprinting around the cattle yard.

Clarence was telling us about Annabelle's latest escapades the other day, so we can imagine the boys got a good laugh out of the goat's athletic exhibition. The Hereford steers had just been given a trough full of grain. Annabelle was watching the feeding operations from her field, and as soon as the wagon left the cattle yard the goat decided she would have some fun. She hurdled two fences with the greatest of ease to get to the trough. Then she jumped into the trough just as the surprised steers were getting a good start on their dinner. Not content with merely being in the feed bunk, Annabelle ran up and down the trough, occasionally stopping to bump heads with one of the Herefords.

One of the farm workers drove into the yard about that time, picked up a switch, and raced toward the feed bunks intent upon teaching Annabelle a lesson. When the goat looked over her shoulder and saw him coming she jumped out of the trough in a hurry, raced through the cattle yard, and hurdled the two fences in true Olympic form. Safely back in her own yard, she settled down to munch the grass as if nothing had happened.

RUSSIA JAILS 16; REVEALS DETAILS OF TROTZKY PLOT

Charges Exile with Terror Scheme.

MOSCOW, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The soviet government tonight charged that its one time war minister and revolutionary zealot, Leon Trotzky, sought to foster a rebellion from his Norway exile. The government jailed 16 of his alleged colleagues.

Direct responsibility for the assassination of Sergei Mironovich Kirov, colleague of Dictator Joseph Stalin, was attributed to Trotzky, Leon Kamenev, and Gregary Zinoviev. Kirov was slain in 1934.

The three most powerful enemies of Dictator Stalin in his fight for power after the death of Nicolai Lenin, were charged with planning a campaign of terror and attacks upon leaders of the soviet régime.

Claim Agents Entered Russia.

The government asserted that under "the direct direction of Trotzky and the leadership of the so-called united centers, the Trotzky-Zinoviev gang prepared a number of terroristic actions against communist leaders."

"Trotzky sent five agents from abroad into the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics," the government charged.

Both Kamenev and Zinoviev now are serving ten year prison sentences for counterrevolutionary activities coincident to the assassination of Kirov.

Drive Trotzky Into Exile.

Working first against Trotzky, who struggled from poverty in New York to great power in the soviet state, Stalin drove him into exile. Then he succeeded in ousting Zinoviev and Kamenev from the party and laid the foundation for his dictatorship.

Although the official announcement today did not link the alleged Trotzky plot with any other outside influences, official newspapers have been declaring all week that followers of the exiled leader were in close contact with Fascists of other nations. Germany was mentioned specifically in this connection.

The asserted conspirators, the soviet communique said, had been organized since 1932.

In addition to Kamenev and Zinoviev, four others indicted today were involved in the Kirov assassination and already are in jail. They are G. Evdokimov, Prof. Smirnov I. Bakaiev, and S. Mirachkovsky.

The Others Arrested.

The others arrested today were V. Olberg, K. Berman-Yuri, Fritz David, M. Lurie, and N. Yurie—all of whom were allegedly dispatched to Russia by Trotzky—H. Reingold, R. Pickel, V. Tervoganian, E. Dreitzler, and E. Golzman.

Trotzky, who has taken refuge in a half dozen countries during his years of wandering exile, has been in Norway for the past few months.

Only last week he was charged by a young Norwegian Fascist and acquitted by the Norwegian government of endeavoring to foment revolutions in France and other countries.

FILE TAX LIEN AGAINST WIFE OF AL CAPONE

Miami, Fla., Aug. 14.—(AP)—The government filed notice today of a lien against property of Mrs. Mae Capone for $51,498.08 in income tax claimed as due from Al Capone, her husband and imprisoned Chicago gangster.

In extending the lien to Mrs. Capone, the internal revenue department followed its usual procedure, agents here explained, where assets belonging to one person may have been transferred to another to evade payment of taxes.

FIRES IN NORTH ARE CHECKED BY HEAVY RAINFALL

Blaze on Isle Royal Is Most Menacing.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Rain checked numerous forest fires and brush blazes in the north woods today and gave settlers their first relief in nearly two weeks. Predictions of more rain tonight and possibly tomorrow cheered the 10,000 fire fighters who turned their attention today to strengthening barriers designed to halt the flames completely.

Three of the four major blazes in Minnesota's fire area are under control, according to Groyer Conzet, state forester. They were at Tom Lake, Warroad, and the Kabetogama district. Settlers who moved out of the Warroad district yesterday were back in their homes today.

Two Fires Menacing.

The Minnesota fire, which still continued to be menacing, was in the McGrath region. The flames in that section were fanned by a wind.

The most menacing fire was on Isle Royalle, Mich. Officials said that unless the wind shifts and rain falls there the flames may spread over the entire island.

The brush and timber fires in Koochiching county, near the Canadian border, were subdued by the rain which started last night and continued until noon today. Although the situation appeared under control, Conzet warned that it will take weeks before deep seated fires that have burned into peat soil can be safely extinguished.

He said the fact that few calls are being received at forestry headquarters is a good indication that the fire situation is greatly improved. Equipment is still being moved into the fire area, Conzet said, as a precaution against new outbreaks.

ONE DEAD, 3 INJURED.

MICHIGAN TO BUILD 150 CAR FERRY FOR MACKINAC STRAITS

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Authorization was given by the state highway department today for the designing of a modern automobile ferry to be put into year round service at the straits of Mackinac. W. M. Rice, president of the New York firm of Henry J. Giolet, Inc., marine architects, will draft plans for the streamlined Diesel powered ship which is to have a 150 car capacity and a speed of 18 knots.

Murray D. VanWagoner, highway commissioner, expects plans to be ready Sept. 1, and bids for construction of the ferry will be asked immediately in order to have it ready for service by next July. It is estimated that the cost of the vessel will be between $600,000 and $800,000.

The state will seek a PWA grant to finance part of the expense, but the state administrative board has agreed to use highway funds if federal money is not forthcoming. The new ferry's capacity will be more than double that of any ship in the present fleet and it will be designed for ice breaking to permit continuous winter service.

THE BARNUM HALF DOLLAR.

We have had the Farley surplus and the Morgenthau balanced budget. We have learned that you can deposit a deficit and pay bills with it. We know that the national debt is the national wealth and that both grow together. We have tried to feed the nation by plowing the crops under. We sign crop reduction contracts to get a harvest. A pig carcass in the tank is better than one in the butcher shop.

We have the rubber dollar and are digging a hole in the ground for the nation's gold. We'll be digging another hole in the ground for the world's silver. The government has paid its creditors 59 cents on the dollar and that's a square deal. If it isn't you can sue, only you can't. We are to soak the rich and redistribute wealth, but taxes will be no higher.

Now we come to a pretty compliment to all these and other manifestations of our governing genius. Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Morgenthau strike a new coin in their honor. It is the Barnum half dollar, issued to help celebrate the centennial at Bridgeport, Conn. That's their story, but here we can't be fooled. The Barnum half dollar is struck, as the Roman emperors struck coins in their own image, in the image of the New Deal. It carries Mr. Roosevelt's warm greetings to the American people. "There's one born every minute."

With this slogan Mr. Farley now claims all the states.

THE INFLUENCE OF THE BAR.

At the meeting of the American Bar association in Boston beginning Aug. 24 one of the most important matters for consideration will be the plan for an improved organization of the association presented by a special committee on coördination of the bar. There is no question that the profession is not as widely and well organized as it should be for the effective exercise of its influence in public affairs. Lawyers have always taken an active part in politics and government. As individuals they are a majority of our legislators and are prominent in office and in civic activities. But collectively the profession has lacked the influence which the lawyer's training, knowledge and experience of the actual working of the laws particularly fit him to exercise in the public interest. In a democracy and especially in a period like the present this influence is very much needed to protect the nation from ill-advised experiment, from ignorant disparagement of sound principles of public action, and from the unchallenged spread of subversive doctrins. In fact, it is because the profession has not taken in recent years its proper part in public debate and has not been vigorous in collective action that it has largely lost the credit it deservedly enjoyed in the formative years of the nation. Perhaps its failure to eliminate undesirable members and conspicuously undesirable practices is more prominently responsible for public criticism. Certainly this fault is hard to excuse. But it is easier to correct than the profession's failure to cultivate public mindedness and to bring to the discussion of public affairs its collective wisdom.

Happily the best elements of the profession under the leadership of its most distinguished members have been conscious of this inadequacy and important developments have been taking place in the profession. The prime need is a more inclusive organization and better coördination of activities taking place in the profession. There is the American Bar association, the national body, and there are the state and local bar associations. They have their committees which are doing useful service in many fields. But it is felt that they are not well coördinated for counsel and action which shall be truly representative of the great majority of the profession. "There is a real necessity," says the committee's report, "for ascertaining the informed opinion of the legal profession in all the states, and then for setting up these crystalized opinions as recommended standards," in legal education, professional ethics and public relations, for the elimination of abuses and the improvement of law and legal institutions and their administration, for better protection against crime, for "the maintenance and vitality of the form of government and the rights of persons vouchsafed in the constitution," in short, for the more effective influence of the profession where its competence is recognized by intelligent lay opinion.

We do not presume to pass upon the plan proposed by the committee. It is criticized in some important features by lawyers of standing and thorough discussion is insured before adoption, but it is to be earnestly hoped that its important purposes will be served and that the legal profession under a more effective organization and in an invigorated public spirit will become the powerful influence it can and should be for the protection of our institutions and their wise evolution.

ANOTHER INQUISITION.

The interstate commerce commission has announced that a proceeding of inquiry has been instituted for the purpose of determining whether there is need for the prescription of nationwide rules to govern maximum hours of service for employés and standards of equipment for motor vehicles used in transporting property in private service. The authority for this inquisition is contained in the motor carrier act which also gives the commission power to subpena witnesses as well as demand the production of such books, documents and correspondence as it may find pertinent to the subject.

Here is a backlash of government overregulation of railways as well as an unwaranted extension of government snooping into business.

Congress first regulated all business principles out of the railways, to the point that industry produced the truck to supply many of its transportation needs. The railways complained to their masters that existence was imperiled by highway transportation, so congress extended the dead hand of government control over the common carrier truck, to produce companion victims of burocratic domination.

It seemed so obvious, however, that motor vehicle regulation would create increased fleets of private trucks that a little joker was inserted in the law through which the baneful influence of government interference might finally reach private transportation. "Hours of service and standards of equipment" of private trucking are the leaks in the dike through which will pour the flood of restrictions that are bound by precedent to follow.

Those who think that an airing of conditions in private trucking may be beneficial should pause to consider the history of motor carrier legislation. Originally proposed by the railways to "protect" their interests, the frank objective is so to hobble private initiative that the common carrier will regain its former monopoly. If the plan works the public may find itself deprived of several very convenient services, industry dispossessed of a flexible co-worker and the drivers of the private vehicles out of a job.

The NRA fell before the Supreme court's application of the constitution, but burocracy is finding other ways of regimenting private business. "Gather 'Em In" is the theme song of the New Deal.

"WATCH YER CAR, MISTER?"

According to tradition, Rob Roy made a very comfortable living for himself and numerous members of Clan Alpin by soliciting funds to cover the cost of "protecting" herds of highland sheep. If the price of security was not forthcoming a raid followed—Rob would see to that. Expressed in a sentence, the contribution in reality was a fee to guarantee good behavior on the part of the MacGregors.

There is a large and growing citizenry in Chicago who may never have heard of Rob Roy but know all about his methods. They congregate in the vicinity of ball parks, motion picture houses, and stadiums. Solicitation is accomplished by the familiar phrase, "Watch your car, mister?", which frequently means, "I'll leave the machine alone for a quarter." One palm is extended, but the other, held behind the back, is closed over an ice pick.

If the police would show their teeth this racket would be promptly squelched. Let the squads operating in the neighborhood of the ball parks watch for solicitors and put a stop to this petty nuisance. Just at present the practice appears to be running wild and there seems to be no visible effort made to check it.

Editorial of the Day

VOICES FROM FAR AWAY ISLANDS.

[Oshkosh, Wis., Daily Northwestern.]

Two prominent Americans from the Philippines are having their voices heard in this country concerning those islands and their problems. They are Frank Murphy, high commissioner, now on furlough to run for governor of Michigan, and John W. Haussermann, lawyer and popularly known as the "Gold King of the Philippines" on account of his success in gold mining.

Murphy is pleading for "justice" for the Filipinos. The plea is familiar, only the accent is different. Have we, forsooth, done the Filipinos an injustice by complying with their demand for independence? They asked for independence in a sort of heroic fashion, and we have arranged to let them have it ten years hence, on their own suggestion, to give time for the portentous process of changing from a tarif exempt to a tarif paying basis for Philippine products in the American markets. Do they want immediate and absolute independence now? If so, they should have it.

Our government has been exceedingly liberal and patient in its dealings with the Filipinos. But our best intentions and our most unselfish service apparently have not satisfied them. We have treated them in many instances better than our own people, but they keep up a continuous howl for "justice," giving the world the impression that we are guilty of withholding it from them. We don't want them to remain tongue tied in the least if they have a real grievance, but to read to us, without rhyme or reason, lessons of duty when what they should do is to let us hear once in a while a few words of appreciation and thanksgiving, is tending to strain our people's patience to the breaking point.

High Commissioner Murphy would render a great service to the Filipinos if he told them bluntly that the American people are human, too, and that their patience could be exhausted. He also would serve the interest of accuracy if he did not harp too stridently on the relation of trusteeship between the United States and the Philippines. That relation has all but gone by the board with the operation of the new Philippine organic act, which has placed the authority and responsibility of government in Filipino hands. So is the relation of guardian and ward terminated with the organization of the new Philippine commonwealth.

Haussermann, more practical than Murphy, is telling the American people a happier and more hopeful story of the present day Philippines. He says in press statements that the Filipinos are really friendly and grateful to America, that they are enjoying peace and plenty, that social progress is proceeding with good results, that there are no radical movements or disintegration of public confidence, that the new government is functioning smoothly with a balanced budget and a substantial surplus, and that, in short, the Philippines, instead of being a problem or a liability to the United States, are a real economic and strategic asset. He believes the two countries could be immensely useful to each other. He talks of mutual rather than one-sided advantages. He makes a good case.

SOMETHING WRONG.

REMINISCENCES.

The old whiskered gentleman we met one morning in a deep hollow along the Kentucky-Virginia line. "Grandpap, have you had your breakfast yet?" we asked. "No, sir—nary a drap," replied the ancient.

A sunny morning in June, a few miles back of the Marne. Around the supply dump of the Third division crowded regimental wagons, mess sergeants and their helpers—demanding food for the strong men who were to win the war.

From the blue sky came the irregular whir of the engines of German airplanes. They swept low, peppering the dump with machine gun bullets. Every mess sergeant, every kitchen policeman in his blue denim, took a posture of defense. Some fired rifles, some pistols. One enthusiastic K. P. hurled a hand grenade in the general direction of the pole star. It exploded thirty feet up, but by good fortune wounded none of the defenders.

Standing under a tree were a young lieutenant, who felt overmatched, and a gray haired ordnance sergeant who had campaigned in the Philippines and was disgusted with such a show of ineptitude.

"Did you ever see the beat of that, lieutenant?" he demanded. "That's what they get for letting all these National Guardsmen in the army."

THE CRYING BABY.

UNTIL the child can talk, identify objects, reach for things, and make his wants known, crying is his universal language. The tones may vary as may the force and vociferousness. The old time doctor listened attentively to the baby's cry. He recognized screams of fright, squalls of temper, and howls of disappointment. All should be heeded except those which typify disposition. These latter exhibitions in older children are called tantrums, and butting the head against any and all objects is an extreme manifestation.

Crying spells are often the result of poor training, and no one is responsible but the indulgent parents. Spoiled babies learn to wail for what they want. If they get it a yell will be set up with every new demand. Observe the baby who stops screaming when taken up and carried about the room. It may seem heartless or cruel to allow him to cry out his temper, but it is the wisest procedure in the long run. A little lung exercise will do him no harm.

But persistent, fretful whining is a significant sign of hunger. The baby may not be receiving enough breast milk or the mother's milk may be deficient in nourishment, with the result that the baby's food requirements are but half satisfied. If gain is not regular and consistent, supplemental bottle feeding probably is needed, and when an adequate food ration is supplied this sort of thing will stop. Despite our improvements in methods of infant feeding, no artificial scheme can quite replace mother's milk, and many babies undergo a starvation period when weaned for the sake of convenience.

Again, the diet may not be properly balanced and there may be present an actual, nutritional anemia characterized by whimpering. This is occasionally observed about the fifth month of life, and examination of the blood may show a decided drop in the red coloring matter. The administration of iron and cod liver oil will soon bring about a rise in hemoglobin with a disappearance of fretfulness.

Next in importance to hunger is the cry of colic. This means real pain, and any one of us would set up a loud protest if we suffered a proportionate amount of distress. It is loud and continuous, the face is flushed, and there is a ring of pallor [lack of color] about the mouth. The abdomen is usually distended and tight, and the legs are alternately drawn up and kicked out. Fists will be clenched and the arms waved. Ordinarily the feet and hands are cold. If nothing is done the youngster will finally expel gas either from the stomach or the lower bowel, and will then fall asleep from exhaustion. Swallowed air is a common cause. There are many remedies and grandmother will enumerate a goodly lot. Glycerin rectal suppositories may be used. Sometimes placing the child in an erect posture will be followed by belching and relief.

A child with earache may waken suddenly in the night, screaming frantically, and the cry of pain is always persistent. If the baby has had a cold, a discharge from the nasal passages, or a sore throat, the eardrums should be examined for the presence of infection within the middle ear.

Crying associated with breath holding is generally temper and is more common between the first and third years of life. Nothing frightens the mother more than this "stunt," but yielding to the child's whims will aggravate the condition. If this situation occurs in very young babies, an organic cause should be thought of, and too little calcium in the diet should be suspected.

Every child should cry, and most mothers learn to interpret the infant's language. A reasonable amount may be regarded as exercise that will insure full expansion of the lungs. If the directions as to feeding are followed accurately, if the baby is well and gaining steadily, and if the stools are normal, the attention demanding tears may be ignored. This is a prime essential in child training.

IRREGULAR PULSE.

P. S. writes: We were taking each other's pulse one evening. My mother, 70 years old, had a pulse of 72 steady. Mine was 80 steady. I am 28 years old. My brother, 40 years old, had a peculiar pulse and we were unable to count it. It was 1-2-3-4 stop 1, then went 8 beats and stopped 1, then 12 beats and stopped 1. He is a painter by trade but has not worked for two years. He eats, sleeps, and looks well. Is this what is called heart block? Is there any danger?

REPLY.

The normal pulse rate is 70 to 80. An irregular pulse may be fully compatible with health or it may be an evidence of heart impairment. Many persons, by the time they reach 50, show some irregularity. When this condition is unaccompanied by other heart signs it is probably a manifestation of capillary shinkage in an ageing heart.

The excessive use of tobacco is a frequent source of skipped beats. An electrocardiogram of your brother's heart will disclose the nature of the difficulty. It is not heart block. Lead poisoning is a possible factor, however.

BURNING FEET.

Miss N. V. writes: What is the cause of burning feet and what can be done for them? The sufferer is an old man and this condition is worse at night.

REPLY.

Faulty circulation may be the cause. The so-called contrast bath is a simple and effective aid for maintaining circulation in the legs and feet. This treatment is as follows: Both feet are placed in a tubful of hot water [about 100 degrees Fahrenheit] for one minute and then into another containing cool water for one minute. The procedure is continued for eight or ten minutes. Circulation is stimulated by this method because of the alternating dilatation and contraction of the blood vessels.

PLEURISY.

M. R. writes: 1. What is the treatment for pleurisy? 2. Does it usually last two months? 3. Does it always leave one with tuberculosis?

REPLY.

1. Treatment must be directed, first, toward relieving pain. This may be accomplished rather quickly by applying strips of adhesive plaster to the affected side, thus preventing movement of the chest. Rest in bed must be enforced strictly, with plenty of food, fresh air, and good nursing.

2. The duration varies, depending on the type of pleurisy, treatment, etc.

3. Not always. In many cases pleurisy is a symptom of tuberculosis.

DAY BY DAY IN THE MAKING OF THE CONSTITUTION

BY JAMES MADISON.

[Father of the Constitution and Fourth President of the United States.]

We Grow More Skeptical as We Proceed.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 15, 1787.—In convention. [The origin of bills is taken up.] Mr. Gorham of Massachusetts: The senate will first acquire the habit of preparing money bills and then the practice will grow into an exclusive right of preparing them. Mr. Williamson of North Carolina: He moved to postpone the subject until the powers of the senate should be gone over. The question for postponing the section passed in the affirmative.

Mr. Madison moved that all acts before they become laws should be submitted to both the executive and the supreme judiciary departments; that if either of these should object, two-thirds of each house, and if both should object, three-fourths of each house, should be necessary to overrule the objections and give the acts the force of law. Mr. Pinckney opposed the interference of the judges in the legislative business. It will involve them in parties and give a previous tincture to their opinions. Mr. Mercer of Maryland heartily approved. It is an axiom that the judiciary ought to be separate from the legislative, but equally so that it ought to be independent of that department. He disapproved of the doctrin that the judges as expositors of the constitution should have the authority to declare a law void. [On Mr. Madison's motion for negativing laws the vote was 8 no and 3, Delaware, Maryland, and Virginia, ay.]

Mr. Gouverneur Morris of Pennsylvania regretted that something like the proposed check could not be agreed to. He dwelt on the importance of public credit and the difficulty of supporting it without some strong barrier against the instability of legislative assemblies. Mr. Dickinson of Delaware was strongly impressed with the remarks of Mr. Mercer as to the power of judges to set aside the law. He thought no such power ought to exist. He was at the same time at a loss what expedient to substitute. The justiciary of Aragon, he observed, became by degrees the lawgiver. Mr. Gouverneur Morris suggested the expedient of an absolute negative in the executive. He could not agree that the judiciary which was part of the executive should be bound to say that a direct violation of the constitution was law. Mr. Sherman: Can one man be trusted better than all the others if they all agree? This was neither wise nor safe. He disapproved of judges meddling in politics and parties. We have gone far enough in forming the negative as it now stands.

Mr. Williamson of North Carolina moved to change two-thirds of each house to three-fourths as requisite to overrule the dissent of the President. He saw no danger in this and preferred giving the power to the President alone to admitting the judges into the business of legislation. On this motion it passed in the affirmative. Ten days [Sundays excepted] instead of seven were allowed to the President for returning bills with his objections. The section was then agreed to. Adjourned.

FARES AND STAIRS.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—If the "L" roads have ceased selling weekly passes in the expectation of making more money, I believe they are doomed to disappointment. Certainly they are in my case, for instead of paying them $1.25 per week they will receive from me only 83⅓ cents, a difference amounting to nearly $20 per annum.

No one will pay 8⅓ cents to the "L" for short rides, when the surface lines will carry him for 7 cents. Besides the surface lines are more convenient and one does not have to climb about 60 steep steps.

The management of the "L" lines had better think this over and do a little figuring. I am not guessing at what I shall do, for I know they will get less revenue from me than under the pass system, and the surface roads will receive a great deal more than they now do.

COLE SLAW.

Palisades Park, Mich., Aug. 9.—Whatever changes may be contemplated in the makeup of The Tribune, never drop the Voice of the People. That precious column contains information, entertainment, and wisdom out of all proportion to its length; and, on occasion, even pseudo-wisdom that elicits many a hearty laugh.

For instance, a recent correspondent sagely announced that the term cole slaw signifies the opposite of hot slaw. O me! O my! what a joke.

Cole slaw is a transliteration of kohl salat, a German term that is correctly translated as cabbage salad. Cole is pronounced exactly like kohl; and slaw closely approximates salat. The American home of cole slaw is among the Pennsylvania Germans.

TAX COMPARISON.

Blue Island, Ill., Aug. 11.—Several contributors have complained about new increased state, city, and county taxes. I can certainly disagree with these writers, as our general tax bills are just one-half what they were four years ago under Gov. Emmerson. I have four commercial buildings on Western avenue and four years ago I paid $4,400 general taxes, and in 1934 my bills were actually reduced so I can pay taxes promptly and earn a small profit from my investment. Let us ignore telling things that poison the voters' minds.

Harry Rohrbach.

RELIEF.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—Talk about relief! The other day I heard of a case where the husband works on a relief project. He has a wife and two babies and seldom if ever brings his pay home. While on direct relief they at least had three meals a day. Now he has plenty of money to gamble with and lets the family get along as best they can.

This situation was reported to their case worker but nothing ever came of it.

Disgusted.

MOTOR EDUCATION.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—The editorial in today's Tribune, entitled "Motor Education," should be followed up with more of the same kind. Ignorance or indifference to the commonest rules of the road, and a lack of that courtesy which most motorists pride themselves on having in other matters, are the real cause of most accidents. Not one motorist in a dozen pays any attention to the lane markings, but crosses and recrosses them. The park and other police pay little or no attention to these matters which really are the cause of the accidents that they are supposed to help prevent. If these motorists could be shamed for ignorance of the first principles of good driving it might be of help.

ON BREAKING A LEASE.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Would like to know if it is permissible to break a lease under the circumstances outlined. I rented a store with living quarters, for one year, and signed a lease with the agreement to pay the first month and the last two months' rent, upon taking possession. I find that the place is not fit for business and am unable to make a living and pay the rent.

1. Could I stop paying and stay there for the two months' rent I have paid in advance and then move?

2. Or would I have to move without having the benefit of those extra two months' rent I've paid?

3. Would the fact that I have found vermin in the place when the landlord told me it was clean permit me to break the lease?

4. The landlord offered to send exterminators, but I could not sleep in that smell.

A. H.

1. The landlord could serve a five day notice and bring a suit for possession as soon as the current rent was due and unpaid.

2. It is possible that a judge might take into account the fact that you have made the advance payments and allow a longer stay of execution than usual.

3. If you can prove such a misrepresentation you might make a successful defense on this basis, but litigation is probable enough so that we would advise you to employ an attorney in advance.

4. If you are not willing to permit ordinary exterminating procedure it does not seem likely that a court will support you in moving out.

RAILROAD WORKERS.

Presumably the railroads that you have in mind are interstate commerce roads and as to such business are not controled by state laws.

RED ARMY CUTS BLUE LINE; CALL TRUCE IN 'WAR'

Fast Mechanized Forces Break Through.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

In the Field with the Red Mechanized Force, Near Allegan, Mich., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The crack mechanized forces from Fort Knox, Ky., representing the Red army trying to reach the Chicagoland area, slipped through the lines of the Blue defenders today and cut the line of communication of the 33d division.

Nearly forty miles was covered by the mechanized force in less than six hours as they broke through to capture the bridge across the Allegan City dam, five miles west of Allegan. The Reds thus cut the only direct means of communication between the artillery and the infantry, who were on opposite sides of the bridge.

Truce Is Declared.

A "truce" was declared in the war shortly after noon to give the officers a chance to reform their green troops before hostilities were resumed late tonight.

The 1st cavalry, two battalions of artillery, and a battalion of infantry left the bivouac area at Selkirk lake at 4 o'clock this morning. The infantry had been motorized for the attack by placing them in trucks.

Under the command of Col. Palmer a two mile long column of reconnaissance cars, light tanks, half tracks carrying machine gun troops, and artillerymen, with their guns to wing behind, and the truck loads of artillerymen roared south in a cold, black rain.

Split Into Two Sections.

Sixteen miles south, at Plainwell, the column swung west to attack the right flank of the Blue defenders. Fourteen miles west of Plainwell the column was split into two sections, one unit passing to the command of Col. Henry Baird.

The plan of action then was revealed. The column under Col. Palmer was to proceed on to the west and come at the Blue army from the rear. Col. Baird was to strike northward in an effort to reach the Allegan City dam. Col. Scott elected to follow the column going north.

Preceded by an advance guard of three combat cars, or light tanks, and accompanied by ten more tanks, a troop of machine gunners in half tracks, one battery of artillery, and half the infantrymen, the column moved off at dawn.

Tanks Look Grim.

The exictement of the situation was contagious. The tanks looked particularly grim in the murky light as they rumbled down the road at 30 miles an hour.

About four miles up the road the command car in front suddenly stopped. A motorcycle runner from the advance guard slewed through the sand to report that a Blue outpost had halted the advance for five minutes, the time set by the umpires.

Two miles farther on the artillery, then within 5,000 yards of the objective at the dam bridge, pulled off into position and began shelling the dam under the protection of three machine gun crews and a company of infantry. The rest of the column moved on.

Then the advance squad reported that they had been stopped by a battalion of infantry, losing two of the combat cars in the engagement.

Artillery Covers Roads.

In the meantime artillery fire of the Blues had covered the road in front of the advance. This was indicated to the Red force by umpires with signal flags.

The reporter was offered and accepted a place in one of the tanks as the column swung west in an effort to find an unblocked road to the bridge. The din in the steel box was terrific as the seven cylinder airplane engine went into action.

Roads that had jolted and jarred in an automobile became smooth as the tractor treads of the tank bit into the sand.

As the Red force approached the road between Allegan and Pearle, an important Blue artery, the machine guns in the tanks opened fire and closed the road.

At the same time a Blue observation plane flew overhead and was theoretically brought to earth by the antiaircraft guns in the tanks.

BUILDING STARTS MONDAY ON RIVER CONTROL WORKS

Construction of flowage control works at the mouth of the Chicago river will start Monday, according to J. J. Gilmore, engineer for the contractors. The first job is the driving of sheet pilings to form part of the lock walls. This is part of the major contract awarded by the sanitary district for $1,988,785. The entire project will cost $2,593,785 and is to be completed by the fall of next year.

The locks will be situated 1,800 feet east of the outer drive bridge now under construction. They will consist of 2,839 feet of guide wall to stand seven feet above water level, the lock and mechanism. Work was to have started last month, but was delayed when shipment of steel by barge was halted by low water in the Ohio and Illinois rivers.

Construction of the locks was made necessary by a United States Supreme court decree of 1930, which directed the sanitary district to reduce its diversion of lake water from 5,000 cubic feet a second to 1,500 cubic feet. Although the Lockport control works now regulate the flow, the new locks were ordered to provide an additional control and to prevent river waters from backing into the lake after a storm.

SEATTLE PAPER SUSPENDS AMID STRIKE DISORDER

3 Persons Reported Beaten; 5 Seized.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Police reported three persons beaten and five arrested today in disorders attending the strike of newspaper guild workers at the Post-Intelligencer newspaper office.

Hundreds of pickets wearing symbols of the guild and of the teamsters, loggers and longshoremen's union kept the Post-Intelligencer building surrounded, but there was no activity inside, because the paper had suspended publication.

Both the Times and the Star editorially condemned Seattle labor leaders, charging they forced the Post-Intelligencer, a Hearst publication, to suspend.

Mayor Takes a Hand.

Police said Harold H. Hiatt, 40, a guard at the newspaper building, had been beaten. Hospital attendants said his condition was "satisfactory" despite a serious head injury. Officers did not name the other two persons allegedly beaten.

Harry Mineken, 45, and Randolph Harrison, 33, truck drivers, were arrested after the alleged beating, but were released without bail on orders from Mayor John F. Dore.

"I don't believe in bail, anyway," said Dore. "It ought to be abolished. These men will appear for trial. I know that."

Seattle's Oldest Paper.

The Times said: "By the order of a labor leader, the Post-Intelligencer, Seattle's oldest newspaper, was compelled to suspend publication.

"Out of the quiescent fingers of a complacent mayor and chief of police, slipped the government of this once great city. Today it rests in the firm hands of Dave Beck and his brawny crew of teamsters, loggers, and longshoremen."

Beck, president of the Joint Council of teamsters, said earlier in the day the presence of teamsters in the newspaper picket line did not mean the council had any connection with the strike.

Two Discharges Involved.

He said he sympathized as a labor leader with the attempts of the Post-Intelligencer staf to organize, but that he felt the strike should be settled through conferences rather than violence.

The Post-Intelligencer, in a statement, blamed the situation on its discharge of two editorial employés, "one for inefficient and wasteful methods, the other for gross insubordination."

The guild issued a statement saying:

"Hearst fired two veteran members of the Post-Intelligencer staf for activity in organizing a local chapter of the American Newspaper Guild. Immediately the guild's battle for the reinstatement of Frank M. Lynch and Everhardt Armstrong became organized labor's battle."

Dismiss Check Charges Against N. U. Graduate

Two charges of passing worthless checks against Anthony Adamich, 22 years old, 325 Nahoming avenue, Hibbing, Minn., a Northwestern university graduate, were nol prossed yesterday by Judge James M. Corcoran in the Evanston Municipal court. Adamich was charged with passing checks for $175 and $49 at the Evanston State Bank and Trust company which were returned marked "no account" by a Hibbing bank. It was shown that Adamich had an account there, but had overdrawn it. He made restitu-

HURT IN FALL FROM PORCH.

Go Miles in the Dark

George Strong, 8 years old, 2714 Calumet avenue, and Beryle Wermin, 7 year old, 2816 South Park way, had heard about the gay throngs at the Oak street beach. They wanted to see for themselves. By agreement they got out of bed shortly after midnight Wednesday night and started north with George's tricycle, which is equipped with a side car.

By slow stages they arrived at their objective after daybreak. But they were near exhaustion and hungry despite the fact that they had 45 cents which a kindly woman gave them. Moreover, they came to the attention of Sergt. Victor Dagian and Policeman Eric Olliger of the park district, who held them for their worried parents.

LEHMAN ORDERS OUSTER HEARING IN GEOGHAN CASE

Handling of Murder Charge Is Issue.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman today ordered District Attorney William F. X. Geoghan of Kings county to attend hearings beginning Aug. 26 on the removal charges growing out of the Drukman murder case.

It is the first time since former Mayor James J. Walker was called to defend himself in 1932 that a public official of New York City has been the defendant in such a hearing. Gov. Lehman will sit as both judge and jury in the case.

The charges against Mr. Geoghan were made on May 19 by the extraordinary grand jury which investigated the murder case after Mr. Geoghan had been superseded by Special Prosecutor Hiram C. Todd.

Governor Demands Answer.

At that time Gov. Lehman announced that he would take no action until the investigation was completed. When the grand jury completed its work Gov. Lehman, after a conference with Mr. Todd, called upon Mr. Geoghan for an answer.

Gov. Lehman had no comment to make when he gave out a copy of his notification to Mr. Geoghan.

"It speaks for itself," he said.

Charles Poletti, Gov. Lehman's counsel, will sit as his adviser. If the governor follows the procedure employed by Mr. Roosevelt in the Walker case he also will employ special counsel.

Mr. Geoghan can escape a hearing only by resigning. Mayor Walker resigned in the middle of his trial.

Negligence Charged.

The charge against Mr. Geoghan is that he was guilty of "demonstrated negligence and gross incompetence" in handling the Drukman case.

Samuel Drukman's beaten and strangled body was found stuffed in the rumble seat of a coupé in a Brooklyn garage on March 3, 1935. The regular April Kings county grand jury considered the case and voted no indictment against Meyer and Harry Luckman and Fred Hull, who were found, with bloodstained clothes, in the garage.

After long agitation Gov. Lehman last autumn superseded Mr. Geoghan, ordering Mr. Todd to investigate not only the murder but also charges of jury fixing, bribery and police brutality.

The Luckmans and Hull were indicted and convicted of second degree murder. Later the grand jury indicted six men for jury fixing.

Mississippi Farm Couple Slain; Their Home Looted

Wesson, Miss., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Sherif W. E. Hester said Sam Flynn, 28, and Mrs. Flynn were found shot to death today at their farm home near Beauregard, the victims of a gunman who stole their motor car to escape. The home was looted.

WOMAN SHERIF HAS AID SPRING GALLOWS TRAP

Owensboro, Ky., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Residents of this district prepared to settle back into routine tonight following the hanging this morning of Rainey Bethea, 22 year old colored youth, for the rape-slaying of a 70 year old white woman. Bethea was dropped to his death at 5:28 a. m. by Arthur Hash, former Louisville policeman, after Mrs. Florence Thompson, sherif, had declined the task.

A crowd estimated at more than 10,000 persons from Kentucky, Indiana, and Illinois swarmed into the three acre lot, scene of the execution, all during the night. As men, women and children awaited Bethea's arrival from the Louisville jail, the chief topic was whether the 42 year old sherif would spring the trap in the first public hanging ever held in this county.

Crowd Becomes Impatient.

The crowd became impatient as the sun rose over the Ohio river and shouts of "bring him out" were heard. At 5:20 a. m. an outcry from one corner of the lot heralded Bethea's arrival. Handcuffed, he was rushed through the crowd to the foot of the scaffold.

"Take him up where we can see him," the spectators yelled.

The condemned man kneeled in prayer before the Rev. Father Herman Lammers of the Cathedral of the Assumption, Louisville, who had converted him. As Bethea arose two deputies marched him up the steps to the trap. There he conversed briefly with the priest before Phil Hanna, consulting executioner from Illinois, directed preparation.

With hands bound and the customary black hood in place Bethea stood rigid. At a signal from Hanna the trap was sprung by Hash and the slayer plunged to his death. At this point many of the spectators started away while the others pushed closer to the scaffold. The sherif watched from a car nearby.

Souvenir Hunters Busy.

Dr. W. L. Tyler and Dr. B. H. Seigler, Owensboro, pronounced Bethea dead at 5:44 a. m. Dr. Tyler said the neck was broken cleanly by the drop. He expressed surprise that the heart beat continued for more than sixteen minutes. As the doctors stepped away souvenir hunters ripped the hangman's hood from Bethea.

Bethea was arrested last June 10 for the rape slaying of Mrs. Elza Edwards of Owensboro. He had been held in the jail at Louisville because officials here feared a lynching.

Another Hanging Scheduled.

Covington, Ky., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—John [Pete] Montjoy, colored, is scheduled to be hanged here one week from today for an attack upon a young Covington white woman last year. Sherif Louis Vogt said the hanging will "not be a public spectacle."

Three Die in Chair.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Three colored slayers died in the electric chair here today within 16 minutes. They were C. H. Ballard, 56 years old, convicted of killing another colored man; James Smith, 27 years old, for killing a Fayetteville marble cutter, and James Clark, 23, convicted of shooting a man during a robbery.

PRISONER FAINTS IN COURT; JUDGE DENIES RELEASE

Judge John P. McGoorty in Superior court yesterday refused to grant a habeas corpus petition for the release from the county jail of Louis Shapiro, 70 years old, who has been a prisoner since Jan. 17 for contempt of court. Shapiro was committed by Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski for failure to account for $10,361 of the funds of an apartment building at 612 Sheridan road, Evanston, of which he was manager for the receiver.

Shapiro collapsed three times during the court hearing. Dr. Meyer H. Levy, jail physician, testified Shapiro has a heart ailment which is intensified by imprisonment, and spent four days in the jail hospital recently. Judge McGoorty said he "did not think Shapiro's condition waranted release."

The money for lack of which Shapiro was sent to jail represented rents collected from February, 1934, to April, 1935. He was the owner of a $125,000 equity in the building, which is in foreclosure. Shapiro claimed he gave the rentals to Attorney Isaac K. Goodman. Goodman produced receipts to show he returned the money to Shapiro.

400 GET DEGREES AS N. U. SUMMER SESSION CLOSES

Nearly 400 degrees were awarded yesterday to students attending Northwestern university's summer session, in which the enrollment of approximately 4,000 was an increase of 27 per cent over last year.

Prof. Ernest H. Hahne, director of the summer school, said that plans already are under way for next summer's sessions but that activities may have to be curtailed in 1937 because many drouth affected states will be unable to maintain teachers' salaries at their present level. "Northwestern depends on many of these states for its enrollment," he said.

The feature of summer school was the founding of a course in contemporary thought. Many persons prominent in public life addressed the students taking the course.

TAVERN OWNERS WARNED.

Forty tavern owners on the north side charged with obstructing the view of their bars from the street were discharged with a warning by Judge Justin F. McCarthy yesterday.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

When the refurnished Show Boat starts its maiden voyage next Thursday evening there will be enough new people aboard to sink the craft. And if this peril is avoided there will still be trouble enough. There are to be two new prima donnas on hand, both in love with Lanny Ross, who will become the captain of the craft. Dorothy Dreslein, soprano, and Gracie Barrie, hotcha singer, are to vie for the affections of Mr. Ross in place of the discarded Mary Lou. Ross Graham, a new bass baritone, is likely to get enmeshed in this affair, too.

Then a waif is to be taken aboard. And there'll be a mixed chorus which will do close harmony a la Waring. Al Goodman will lead the new band. And there is to be a lot of dray-ma tying together all this music as well as the comedy of Molasses and January and Horace Nimble [Sam Hearn].

Arch Oboler, author of "Lights Out" and the Irene Rich series, was summoned from his home here to New York by plane last week to assist in a consultation on improving Show Boat from the dramatic standpoint. All this concern over the NBC Thursday evening show is due to the fact that Maj. Bowes is dragging his amateurs to a spot opposite the radio vessel on CBS on Sept. 17. Show Boat has had things pretty much its own way from 8 to 9 Thursdays in the past. When the word came that Maj. Bowes was about to undertake to buck the craft a cry went up that Show Boat was being sold down the river.

Oboler is dramatizing one of the stories of John Buchan, who as Lord Tweedsmuir is governor general of Canada, for Rudy Vallee who will present it on his program from Toronto in September when he plays there at the exposition.

Airomances: Howard Black of the Hoosier Sodbusters and Billie Flannery of the WLS Flannery sisters are newlyweds.

Jane Froman, contralto who has been on the air from the west coast, has returned to New York and is to be featured in a new musical comedy this fall in which Ed Wynn is to be starred. . . . Helen Hayes is to return to the air on a sponsored dramatic show on Monday, Sept. 28.

There is a definite strategy behind those unannounced appearances of guest stars on Amos 'n' Andy's broadcasts. Up to now Lionel Barrymore, Frank Morgan, Walt Disney, and Herbert Marshall have appeared—each without any inkling that they would. Amos 'n' Andy are making a determined effort to revive a widespread interest in their show. And they have the idea that they can make folks listen every night lest they miss a star. Thus they are not revealing in advance when they will introduce celebrities.

Silk Dresses Fill Need for Street Clothes

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Tailored dresses in dark silk usually are extremely hard to find during the last days of summer, so we feel like a Boy Scout when we pass on such a discovery. Some slick affairs in deep green, black, seal brown, and navy are available. They are one piece models with slim, fitted, long sleeves, a chest pocket, a high neckline, and a colorfully striped Ascot tie.

The silk is semi-rough texture and the sleek, straight lines of the skirt make these outfits ideal for immediate street wear.

The first fall belts are exciting . . . wide polo widths of contrasting color suede will transform any plain dress you own. All of these wide belts are shaped and curved to fit smoothly. You'll like the green and black suede combine which is studded with silver nail heads. You can find the same thing in red and black. All the width is in front, the back being curved down to a narrow band.

Black lether, dull and swanky, makes the best of the street dress belts . . . look for the one that is made of strands of the lether. One end slips through side slits as a fastener. An extremely narrow belt has arrow heads of stitched lether for a clasp. Lether belts are studded lavishly with simulated jewels. All make decorative extras for dull clothes.

Metal belts are new. They come in gunmetal gray silver or bright gold and are matched to bracelets. They are a bit expensive, but they will make any dated velvet dress high fashion and picturesque. Between the sections of metal are large, barbaric looking jeweled ovals set in either silver or gold metal, with settings colored to simulate sapphires, topaz, and rubies. Breath taking beauties, these duets. Well worth the money.

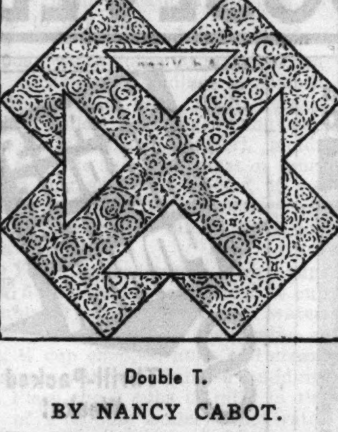
"Double T" Quilt Native of Early Carolina Period

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.



Double T.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The "Double T" quilt pattern originated in Carolina in the early colonial days. It is an attractive design which has been given more than one name. As it moved north and westward it became known as "Four T's." Part of the charm of the design lies in the fact that a combination of print materials and white has been used. For a more modern effect a combination of two solid colors has become popular.

Dryness Is Modern Hair Ill That Should Be Corrected

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

I like to feel, along with others, that the permanent waving of hair is so improved that it does not dry the hair. And I do believe that you can get permanents today that are only mildly drying. But they are not, as a rule, the kind of permanents that last. When the hair is left under the machine but a brief time the wave cannot be expected to last as long as it does with the longer time heating. It becomes a question of whether one can afford to go frequently for a short time lasting wave or risk the drying effect of a tighter wave.

In any event, one can't stop getting permanents. That's just out of the question. The permanent is almost as much of a necessity today as a comb and brush. And sitting under dryers is simply another of the modern compromises one must make to hair upkeep.

So, the thing to do is to interest ourselves in reconditioning. Hot oil treatments still remain among the best reconditioning treatments one can get. I had a permanent not so long ago and instead of the former short lived ones I'd been taking, I asked for one that would see me through the entire summer. My hair became very dry. Over the week-ends I simply soaked it in warm olive oil. It was not any too pleasant, but it did do the trick of softening the ends.

Nothing ages a face, I think, like dried out hair framing it. A little oiliness is preferable to excessive dryness. You can test this out by noting the effect of your hair against your face before a shampoo when the hair has a certain oil and body to it and afterward when the oil is washed out completely. I'm beginning to think that women will have to get the nightly habit of massaging a bit of oil into the scalp if they expect to keep it in any condition whatever. Just as they add lubrication to the face nightly for skin preservation. For the hair, by and large today, is getting a hot air punishment about which our feminine forbears knew nothing.

Charity Shop at Lake Forest Will Reopen

New Decorations Include Painted Curtains.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE little shop that Mrs. Robert G. McGann and Mrs. John Coleman started 12 years ago in Lake Forest to benefit the Alice Home hospital is going to have a grand reopening Monday morning when, newly decorated and stocked with fresh goods, it opens its doors at 256 Market square. The shop will be one of the smartest on the attractive square, too, according to the busy women who have charge of it. Mrs. William Burry Jr. will be at the shop this morning, armed with paint and brushes to assist her painting master, Hubert Ropp, in putting the finishing touches to the red and white decor.

Mr. Ropp has painted curtains right on the windows themselves, thereby providing an economy that housewives can appreciate—no curtains to wash; no draperies to clean—and the whole shop is done in the same up-to-date manner.

One side of the store contains the rummage stock, articles donated by those interested in the hospital, and on the other side are exhibited the selections of the gift shop, a new department. This morning Mrs. Lester Armour and Mrs. Coleman will be in the shop to receive gifts for the rummage stock from any one who wants a preview of the shop. Recently Mrs. Farwell Winston and Mrs. Coleman divided the telephone book and called up all of their friends to invite them this morning—"with a gift."

During the years that Mrs. Coleman, Mrs. Winston and Mrs. Robert A. Gardner, heads of the house committee, the linen committee, and the operating room at the hospital, respectively, used the proceeds from the shop to maintain their divisions at the hospital, the shop gradually became a bit run down. The renovating process that has been going on during the last few weeks is expected to do away with all of the shop's difficulties, and to make it earn infinitely larger sums of money. Besides adding a gift shop, the committee has made over the basement into an attractive and unusual exhibition room with a tent top, which the shop will rent.

Mrs. Gardner no longer is head of the operating room, for she is assistant to the hospital's president, Kent S. Clow. Mrs. Albert Day Farwell has been running the shop for the last year, and as soon as she returns from Europe next week she will assist again.

Charlotte Robertson to Be Bride Today.

A seed pearl necklace that Charles A. Chapin gave to his bride, Emily Coolidge, on their wedding day, will hang about the neck of their granddaughter, Miss Charlotte Gardner Robertson, when she becomes the bride this afternoon of James Lindsay Rose. Miss Robertson, daughter of Mrs. William A. Smith, will be given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. Smith, and she will have one attendant, Mrs. Charles Henry Brown.

William Wallin of Oak Park will be best man, and the bridegroom's brothers, David and George Rose, will usher informally at the Stone chapel at the Fourth Presbyterian church where the ceremony will be read at 4:30 o'clock. A small reception will follow at the Fortnightly.

Mr. Rose, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Rose of Oak Park, will take his bride to Canada on their wedding trip. They will make their home in Indianapolis.

Anderson-Lundahl Nuptials Today.

Miss Archa Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Anderson of Winnetka, also will be a bride today. Her marriage to Herbert Lundahl of Kenilworth will take place at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in the gardens of the Anderson home in Hill road, providing the weather is fair. Mrs. Paul de la Vergne will be her sister's matron of honor, and Miss Nancy Lewis, Miss Gretchen Onderdonk, Miss Nancy Thomas, Miss Jane Lundahl, the bridegroom's sister; Miss Marion Bard and Miss Jean Boyd will be the bridesmaids.

Edward Lewis will be best man, and ushering will be David Danforth, John Norcott, David Phillips, Carl Davis, George Rayner of Lewiston Heights, and Aylet Buckner of New York. Little Joyce de la Vergne will be a flower girl.

Mrs. Rebecca Chandler to Be Married Today.

A quiet wedding in New Orleans today that is of interest to Chicago is that of Mrs. Rebecca Smith Chandler, formerly of Winnetka, to Dr. Frank Bostrom of New Orleans. The wedding is taking place at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Charles Crawford, with the Rev. O. M. Trosdale of the LaFayette square Presbyterian church officiating.

Mr. Crawford will give Mrs. Chandler in marriage and Miss Charlotte Chandler will be her mother's only attendant. Dr. Joseph Foster of Houston, Tex., will attend Dr. Bostrom.

Only members of the families and intimate friends will attend the ceremony. The bride will wear an aquamarine lace dress made on princess lines with a train and will carry pale talisman roses. Miss Chandler will wear a grey chiffon gown made over a rose color slip. Her roses will match the slip in color.

Front Views and Profiles

A PLEASANT letter in the morning mail, a flattering letter, if you will, but written with such charm that it gave great pleasure, brought to mind some lines written by Sir Richard Steele, founder of the Tatler and next to Addison, you will remember, chief writer for the Spectator. "The reason there is such a general outcry among us against flatterers is that there are so few good ones," he wrote. "It is the nicest art in this life."

Addison-Steele—Holiday Reflections.

* *

ONE of the pleasures of a quiet vacation in a familiar spot is the impetus toward reading. This year some of the De Coverly papers fell into our hands, which we had not read since school days, nor, indeed, thought of so highly at that time, they being part of the year's work. Acquaintance with Sir Roger, Martha Ironsides, and Will Honeycomb was renewed, with special delight in Honeycomb, who when teased about his bad spelling at his club explained with some temper that he spelt like a gentleman and not like a scholar.

* *

OUR recent holiday in northern Michigan was a very simple but very satisfying vacation. There was, this year, no jaunt through Bavaria and the Austrian Tyrol; no stay in Salzburg to acquaint oneself with the ancient city of the prince bishops and to hear the festival music. However, the music of the festival, with Toscanini conducting, came to us in our sylvan retreat, and the voice of Marcia Davenport pointed out things and celebrities we might have missed had we been there.

A year ago to the day we had attended opera at Salzburg; happening to turn on the radio in our lodgelike domicile in the north Michigan woods, we heard a Salzburg festival broadcast with Toscanini conducting, and lay back, among the cushions of the couch, to listen to music we had traveled 3,000 miles to hear a year ago.

THE idea of a radio in the summer place had once seemed unpleasant. It had seemed too noisy, too linked with commerce, too new-fangled, and as abhorrent as the idea of an electric stove to replace the wood burning cookstove in the kitchen. We voted no at a family conclave concerning the stove, because of a liking for smoke curling out of the chimney; of a piece with a preference for bouquets about the place that are picked in the woods—and look it—to handsomer ones from the florists on Main street; for only such flowers growing about the premises as might naturally have grown there, such as wild tiger lilies and columbine and black-eyed Susans, and for pine needles and wild flowers underfoot instead of grass—up to the very doorstep.

But on an evening when we were dining on whitefish, from that afternoon's lake catch; on young corn pulled from the stalk at a nearby farm an hour before it was cooked, and on tomatoes lusciously ripe from the vines that day; when the smell of balsam and cedar came in the windows with the cool evening air, and the hour was so pleasant and the food so good there seemed little that could add to one's contentment, there was of a sudden such heavenly brooding music in the next room that it was like a voice from the solitude of the woods. It was Sibelius, played by a symphony orchestra. And the pretty little Finnish serving maid, entering from the kitchen with a platter of corn, beamed of a sudden, and murmured proudly, "Sibelius," as she proffered the pale golden ears.

Miss Powell Offers Page of Her Diary

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—A number of Hollywood diaries have gone into the ash can since the Mary Astor trial began, but one which has not is that of Eleanor Powell, the tap dance princess. Eleanor even takes her diary to the studio with her, but there's a reason: a lot of her notes refer to ideas for new dance routines. Here is an entry from Eleanor's diary and she doesn't care who knows what she wrote: "Went to Casanova with James S. last night and enjoyed myself very much. The band was swell and I managed to get an idea for several new dance steps. One I've named 'The Jimmy.' The other 'The Sunset Slip.' A tipsy gentleman provided me with another step. I'm calling it 'Just One Too Many.' Had a swell evening with Jimmy and three new dance ideas in all."

RKO studio has fastened a new title, "One Man Came Back," to the story originally concocted to be released under the title, "We Who Are About to Die," David Lamson's story of the San Quentin death row. Now neither Lamson's title nor his book is being used, although a considerable sum was paid the one time Stanford university press official. Lamson's only remaining job in the final story is that of helping graft some characterizations onto the original story which Scenarist John Twist wrote.

Lamson is working in the story department at Twentieth Century-Fox studio now. Preston Foster, John Beal, Ann Dvorak, and Carroll Nye, former screen juvenile who now is the radio editor of the Los Angeles Times, are working in "One Man Came Back."

M-G-M has offered a long term contract to tawny haired Elissa Landi, English actress vacationing in Del Monte. Miss Landi goes into "Afer the Thin Man" with Bill Powell and Myrna Loy.

Laurence Schwab, Broadway stage producer of "The Desert Song" and other musical hits, has become a member of Head Producer Darryl Zanuck's advisory board at Twentieth Century-Fox.

Freddie Bartholomew has had to call off his cowboy vacation on his Uncle Fred's ranch near Vancouver because Twentieth Century offered to divide so much money between Freddie's home studio and Freddie himself that he couldn't turn down the rôle in "Lloyd's of London." As soon as Freddie completes this one he will return to M-G-M, his home studio, for "Captains Courageous." Freddie has just finished "The Devil Is a Sissy" at M-G-M.

Lily Pons' new singing picture at RKO-Radio studio was scheduled to start Aug. 31, but Mlle. Pons insisted on the production being started Thursday the 13th. She said she was born April 13, began her only other film, the highly successful "I Dream Too Much," on July 13, 1935, and that her airplane ticket west for the movie rôle was number 13, "so I want to take advantage of my luck."

Shirley Ross' M-G-M contract expired yesterday and she was at once signed by Paramount studio and put into a lead of "Hideaway Girl" opposite Lew Ayres. Miss Ross is a blue eyed and brown haired miss from Omaha, who entered movies via the dance band songster route with time out to go to college.

A fire that was doubly ironical broke out at Paramount studio. It burned the restaurant's refrigerating system and for a time threatened the café and adjoining buildings, but was put out by the studio's own fire company. Besides starting in the ice making and cooling apparatus, this fire happened just next door to a street full of fire engines. These, however, were prop engines used in a scene of Joan Bennett's "Her Wedding Present" and were no use in fighting a real blaze.

Victor Varconi, Hungarian leading man, has been substituted by Director Cecil de Mille for Bruce Cabot, French leading man, to play the part of the Cheyenne Indian warrior, Painted Horse, in "The Plainsman."

Ida Lupino Ill; Film Role Given to Eleanor Whitney

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Throat ailments took Ida Lupino and Constance Bennett, blonde movie stars, from the sound stages today. Miss Lupino's physician said she was suffering from tonsilitis and would require surgery. Her place in a film was taken by Eleanor Whitney. Miss Bennett, suffering from laryngitis, will return to work next week, it was stated.

Sunday Paper to Have News of New Party

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

'Nother party announcement tomorrow, boys and girls!

Summer's almost over, and if you have been sleeping like Rip Van Winkle and haven't been to any of my children's parties, you'd better wake up and see if you can't join me in some of our good times before the school bell puts an end to your lazy days.

Full details of our plans for Aug. 27 will be printed in my column in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE, with instructions on how to go about winning an invitation.

I know that all the boys and girls who have written in for invitations for our theater party on Aug. 20 will not need to be reminded to watch for my column tomorrow, because they will be reading it impatiently—in order to see if they are listed with the winners.

Those who find their names printed with the fifty boys and fifty girls who will be my guests will be delighted; they will know that their reward for good letters will be a visit to the Jack and Jill theater, where we will see talented child actors under the direction of Marie Agnes Foley present a play especially for us. It is adapted from the famous story, "Heidi," by Johanna Spyri, and should prove to be delightful entertainment.

Those of you who didn't win will have a splendid opportunity to try again, and I know you're going to jump at the chance to try for an invitation to our next party—you just wait and see if you don't!

Bainum Band Has Easy Way with Concerts

Gains Its Color Tones by Subtle Means.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The gentle and scholarly Glenn Cliffe Bainum conducted in Grant park last night. The band which he has trained is capable of a surprising number of mezzotints and is able to color its music subtly without resorting often to extreme brilliance for its effects.

Because of this, the Bainum group is even more perfectly at home in the orchestral repertoire than most good bands of its kind. "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" of Dukas received a performance marked by skilful climax building and great care for intelligibility of line.

Saint-Saëns' "Princess Jaune" overture was brilliant enough, but even there Mr. Bainum did not let his heavy brass give the music too much weight.

"Reflections in a Modern Mood," a new work by Marsden Gribbell, turned out to be a deftly constructed and not too frantic picture of the times in which we live. It is gentler than Gershwin's similarly motivated works—and written from a much more detached viewpoint. The word "reflections" in the title is here used in strict conformity to its actual meaning.

For those in the extreme front of the audience area, Berenice Taylor's singing of Bachelet's "Cher Nuit" and Scott's "The Wind's in the South" was marred by imperfect balance between soloist and band. She seemed enveloped in too much sound—enveloped, too, in the pennons which the radio chains love to drape about their microphones. A little careful listening, however, established the fact that her voice is as delectable as ever despite all its concealments. It is light, and possessed of an attractive, haunted quality.

Because of the Seventh Chicagoland Music Festival tonight, there will be no concert at Grant park. The series resumes tomorrow evening, when the Thaviu band will feature the woman winner of the festival contests.

'Crash Donovan' Is a Film Story of Road Cops

"CRASH DONOVAN."

Produced by Universal.
Directed by William Nigh.
Presented at the State-Lake.

"Crash" Donovan	Jack Holt
Johnny Allen	Johnny King
Doris Tennyson	Nan Gray
Alabam	Eddie Acuff
Captain Tennyson	Hugh Buckler
Drill Master	Ward Bond
"Smokey"	James Donlan
Harris	Douglas Fowley
Tony	William Tannen
Fizz	Huey White
Mike	Al Hill
Pete	Gardner James
Café Owner	Paul Porcasi
The Singing Cop	George Stinson

Good Morning!

We've seen how West Pointers, Annapolis cadets, trafic policemen, air pilots, and such get their training. Now here's a picture that shows you how motorcycle cops are tailored for the job.

So far as this phase of the film is concerned "Crash Donovan" is interesting—though even here it does go a bit Hollywood, by having the boys all burst into a completely harmonic song at the exhibition which concludes six weeks' of grilling work. [But they don't have 'em dance—which is something.]

Jack Holt is seen as a circus motorcycle performer with a couple of pals on the highway. They persuade him to join the army of road protectors. They—and the sweet smile of the girl the other fellow gets.

He goes to school, does himself proud, is quietly turned down by the lady—and finally goes back to his old job which offers more solace to his daring soul than does the routine—hazardous though it is—of a motorcycle cop.

Mr. Holt, John King, and Eddie Acuff make a likable threesome. Nan Gray in the feminine lead is saccharine and posy.

Dialog's pretty awful, save in spots, and direction's certainly nothing to palpitate over.

BUT—as I said, it is interesting to learn just how the stalwart cycle policeman learns to click.

Paris Style Observer Reports Back to Nature Silhouette

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Woman's dress is going back to nature, but only in silhouette. Back on the liner Paris with twenty-five other designers and buyers who observed the new French styles, Virginia Hume announced:

"There will be modified bustles, not too much so; legs unashamed, that is to say, revealed whenever possible, and back to nature silhouettes, which means that the materials are cut so tightly that there is no mistaking epidermis, and muscles, and even bones beneath."

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

A soothing, cooling cream, occasional visits to the chiropodist, and sensible daytime shoes are the formula for keeping busy feet in the mood for dancing.

It's a perfectly natural tendency to expend the most effort where the results are going to be most noticed. But if you are meticulous about the care you give your face, its cleansing and its coloring and its texture, don't forget to take a good look at its expression. That's important, too.

The unseen foot can wreck the effect of the most artistically applied makeup. We'd defy any woman in the world to maintain an atmosphere of sweetness and light while her feet hurt. And as for walking with the alert, springy step of youth, it just can't be done on aching arches.

If you're a foot sufferer, then your beauty routine had better include a call on a good chiropodist. He not only relieves you of the agonies caused by calluses, corns, ingrown toenails, and similar products of Pandora's box, but has a wonderfully soothing leg and foot massage as part of his deft routine. Relaxing tired leg and foot muscles goes a long way toward renewing their elasticity, and, as an acknowledged fanatic on the subject of posture, we'd say that this service improves both spirits and appearance 100 per cent.

There are things you can do yourself, of course, to help the good work along and render it more permanent. First, there's the matter of shoes. Be sure they fit you properly. If you're on your feet much during the day you'll be smart to stick to the lower heels of the "sensible" shoe and leave the four inch variety for evening.

And for those occasions when you wish your feet could be removed with your shoes and tucked under the bed until morning there's a soothing cream that does wonders. It's cooling, faintly medicated, and it reduces swelling and soreness almost miraculously. Comes in a tube, and is not expensive.

[For the name of a chiropodist, or for information concerning the cream, telephone Eleanor Nangle, Superior 0100, or write to her in care of The Tribune.]

Prize Money of Bridge Club Aids Ice Fund

Prize money from a bridge club and the proceeds of a play given by seven children in the 6800 block of Euclid avenue were the largest contributions yesterday to THE TRIBUNE free ice fund.

The South Shore Bridge club contributed its prize money, a total of $9.50, to the ice fund, while the Nazareth Young People's society of the Nazareth church, 2500 North Talman avenue, sent $4.

Tom Cowley	$ 4.00
South Shore Bridge club	9.50
South Euclid play	7.15
Nazareth Young People's society	4.00
From a friend	5.00
L. Tugpen	2.25
Total	31.90

Parent May Fail to Recognize Brilliant Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Oddly enough, and this I have to take on faith from those who have made studies of the gifted child, because I have never had occasion to do so myself, parents in general are the last ones to recognize that they have a brilliant child.

That may surprise us, because we immediately think of all the proud fathers and mothers who quote the "cute" sayings of their children, who show them off because they can recite long pieces [facility at memorizing merely goes with a certain age], or have them sing popular songs, or do a tap dance like Ginger Rogers, or Shirley Temple, or whoever they most admire.

This sort of "bright" thing is not what we mean. It is great mental capacity that often is unrecognized.

A satisfactory method has not been devised as yet to test children for the possession of special talents, although intelligence tests gauge their mental capacity.

Never, though, do I make this statement without adding that the latter are valueless unless given and interpreted by a psychologist skilled in this field. I personally have seen psychologists, in good schools, too, draw the most absurd conclusions, sometimes being sincere enough later to reverse their own findings.

be at home in the bride's home in First street, New Orleans, where she has lived since she was divorced from Buckingham Chandler of Winnetka.

Midsummer Party at Barrington Hills.

The Barrington Hills Country club's midsummer dancing party will be held tonight. Dancing will be interrupted shortly after dinner for a diving and swimming exhibition in the club's handsome pool. The committee has arranged an interesting schedule and, if it has the same luck as last year, there may be a few impromptu members added by ambitious club members.

Among those who are entertaining at cocktails in their homes before bringing their guests to the club for dinner are the junior C. Harlan Canbys, Miss Mary Grubbs, and her stepbrother, Robert Buckley; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hecht, and the M. Clifford Beymers. Mr. and Mrs. Beymer will have among their guests their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Winslow of St. Louis. Mr. and Mrs. Mark Kemper will be entertaining Mrs. Kemper's brother from Pasadena over the week-end. The Kempers purchased Harry Miller's place in Barrington last spring and now are year round residents.

Yesterday was ladies' day at the Barrington Hills and members from various clubs, including the Indian Hill, the Onwentsia, the Exmoor, and the Glen View, accepted the invitation to a golfing match in the morning, followed by luncheon and bridge. Mrs. Robert W. Buckley, Mrs. Leslie Hanson, and Mrs. Robert Hilton assisted Mrs. Beymer, chairman.

Mrs. Buckley and her daughter, Miss Grubbs, are leaving by motor on Monday to spend a week with another daughter, Mrs. Robert Forbes, at White Bear Lake, Minn.

William B. McIlvaines Give Dinner Tonight.

The William B. McIlvaines are entertaining at dinner tonight for the John Crossan Coopers of Baltimore, who are their week-end guests. The John G. Beadles are giving a luncheon tomorrow at their Lake Forest home. Mrs. Beadle and the children are leaving next week to spend a fortnight in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Heyliger A. de Windt had the pleasure of giving the 18th birthday celebration last night for their granddaughter, Miss Mary de Windt of Great Barrington, Mass., who is here for a fortnight. The attractive young lady, daughter of the Delano de Windts, is dividing her time between her grandparents' home in Chestnut street, Winnetka, and the home of the William Howard Lyons in Indian Hill road. Miss Mary Lyon, the Lyons' daughter, and Miss de Windt are old friends, and both will return to Smith college to enter their sophomore year. Miss Lyon will be presented to society at a tea-dance at home on Sept. 9.

Mrs. Albert S. Gardner and her daughter, Carol, have left to spend a month with the Delano de Windts at Great Barrington. Mrs. Gardner and Mr. de Windt are sister and brother. Billy Gardner is at a camp and Mr. Gardner is living at the Lake Shore Athletic club during his wife's absence. The Gardners have rented their house in Winnetka, so they will be house hunting when she returns.

Mrs. C. B. Goodspeed to Return in 2 Weeks.

Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, who is summering on Cape Cod, is expected at home in about two weeks. Miss Alice Roullier, who went east with Mrs. Goodspeed, has returned home.

Among the Chicago vacationers at Wianno are Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks, the Countess Cardelli, and her son and his wife, Count and Countess Giovanna Cardelli, and the Robert Hixons.

Mrs. Goodspeed, Mrs. John A. Spoor, the Harry H. Kimbarks, and the Augustus W. Eddys are enjoying life at Osterville, which is not far from Wianno, and the France Andersons, Miss Naomi Donnelley, the Secor Cunninghams and their daughter, Mrs. Aldis Browne, are members of the Chicago colony at Hyannisport.

Mrs. Francis P. Butler of Lake Forest is visiting at Hyannisport, enjoying all the activities that are keeping Cape Codders busy these August days. This week there has been a golf tournament at Oyster Harbor and next week there will be an open ladies' tournament at the Kittansett club at Marion, with one at the Wianno club the week following.

The Chicago colony at Marion includes the families of the Gerald M. Butlers, the John Butlers, the junior Edward L. Ryersons, and the Philip Reeds, who no longer are real Chicagoans, for they have moved to Boston.

Mrs. Edward A. Leight and Mrs. Otho F. Ball have returned from a visit at Mackinac Island. Mrs. Leight will visit in Oconomowoc later this month.

BY MARY MEADE.

Saturday morning again and time for another cookery class. We hardly know whether to continue calling this a class for children or not, because our "fan mail" indicates there are a good many grownups who like to see their recipes given step by step.

We're glad to welcome these mothers and sisters, aunts and cousins, and even an occasional brother or uncle to our class.

Today we're going to make a caramel cornstarch pudding, a smooth, nicely flavored one. We'll need a double boiler, a heavy frying pan, and six individual dessert molds. You may use sherbet glasses or sauce dishes instead of the molds, if you prefer, and then your pudding will be all ready for the table after it has been chilled.

1. Your ingredients: Two cups milk, 5 tablespoons cornstarch, ½ cup granulated sugar, ¼ cup cold water, 1 teaspoon vanilla, a few grains of salt, ½ cup chopped nuts, and cream to serve with the finished pudding.
2. Place the 2 cups of milk in the top of a double boiler over water and allow it to heat.
3. Place the ½ cup of granulated sugar in a heavy frying pan over a low fire and stir until the sugar melts and becomes golden brown sirup.
4. Pour the sirup into the milk which is heating. It will immediately become hard, but don't let that worry you. It will dissolve little by little as you stir it through the milk.
5. Now mix the ¼ cup of cold water with the cornstarch and the few grains of salt and stir until it becomes a smooth paste.
6. Pour this paste into the milk, stirring constantly. Keep stirring until the paste begins to thicken the milk and caramel mixture.
7. Cover the top of the double boiler and let the pudding cook for about twenty minutes. Stir frequently so that the mixture will be smooth. This long cooking is necessary so that all the particles of cornstarch may be thoroughly cooked and not leave a starchy taste in the pudding.
8. After about twenty minutes your stirring spoon should leave a streak in the pudding when you lift it out. Now remove the top of the double boiler to the table and add the vanilla.
9. The pudding should be smooth now, but in case there are a few lumps they may be removed by beating for a few seconds with an egg beater.
10. Pour the pudding into the cold, wet molds or the serving dishes which have been chilled.
11. Sprinkle chopped nuts on top of each pudding and place them in the refrigerator until serving time.

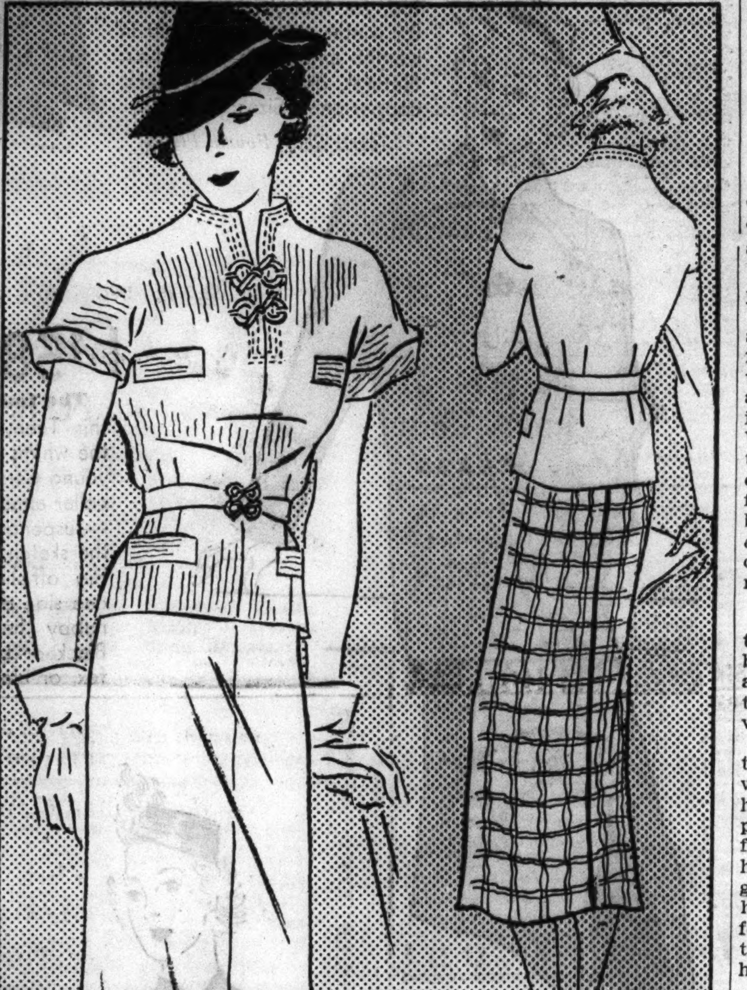
Chic in Chinese Manner



JUNIOR GIRL'S FROCK.

It won't be long now until the last of the summer holidays affords a gala week-end. Labor day festivities will require at least one trimly tailored sports dress for traveling and for informal wear at one's destination. Fussy clothes are not needed, of course, but smart ones are, no matter how one spends the holiday. The frock illustrated borrows the Chinese influence for the blouse, and the skirt has the straight and beautifully fitted lines traditional in American design.

The neckline is convertible. It may stand up in a brief collar or be turned down into revers. Frogs embellish the neckline and the belt. The blouse boasts four pockets, two at the bustline and two in the peplum. The skirt has one seam in the front and one in back, assuring a perfect fit.

Gay cottons and linens tailor beautifully and are practical choices for holiday wear. Autumn is not far away, and there will be back-to-school clothes to be considered. The blouse takes to long sleeves for the fall season, and the ensemble makes up attractively in plaid woolen for the skirt and plain woolen for the jacket.

Style No. 2707 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, and 17 years. Size 15 requires 2 yards of 39 inch material for the skirt, and 1⅝ yards of 35 inch fabric for the blouse.

Girl to Blame in Flirtation with Husband

BY DORIS BLAKE.

It may be a little late for this type of vacation warning, but there's another and another vacation season ahead.

We'll let the letter we received explain it:

"At the resort where we spend our summers, there came this year a new family with a lovely daughter. At the community pier the daughter met and talked with a married man who is young, charming, and well liked. While they were at the pier one day, the man's wife who is fat, ugly, and extremely jealous, came down and found them together. The girl was beaten. Her clothes were torn, her eyes blackened by the wife. The girl claims that she did not know the man was married.

"Since summer is here and vacations are under way, I think it would be a timely subject to warn girls about this sort of thing. Teach them that observance of the conventions on vacations pays, too.

"However, my object in writing is that since the man was the aggressor, why should the girl be punished and humiliated? It was the most unpleasant sight I ever witnessed. I feel confident that should I find my husband with a charming girl, or any girl, I should blame either myself or him, not the girl. I may be wrong, for all the other women agree that the wife's attitude was right and have, therefore, ostracized the girl.

"Is it merely an example of woman's inhumanity to women, or is my perspective warped?" Mrs. J. R.

Darn it, if we haven't a sneaking regard for a wife who has the backbone to defend her home as you describe, Mrs. J. R. Our better taste would dictate a smoother defense. But so often the smooth and subtle defense plans fail that we are coming to believe primitive action is the better form of policing invaders. We lay ourselves open to criticism for winking at the physical form of defense, but some of these beautiful young daughters are perfect little hellions when it comes to raising havoc with homes. In the particular case, the girl may have been innocent as you think, Mrs. J. R. But repeated meetings would presuppose knowledge of the man's married state. Anyway, she should have found out by direct questioning.

Order of Vikings Picnic.

Three Lake View lodges of the Independent Order of Vikings will attend the third annual outing and picnic of the order tomorrow at Gurnee.

According to CULBERTSON

KNOW YOUR OPPONENTS.

The best bids and plays at contract cannot be appraised on a purely academic basis, apart from their personal or psychological raison d'être. For, in the last analysis, a splendid play against one type of player might be a rotten play against a different type, and vice versa. This fact accounts for the almost infinite variety of knowledge that must be gained by players who aspire to the topmost rung of the ladder. Consider declarer's problem in the following hand:

South, dealer.

NORTH
♠10 2
♥8 3 2
♦5 4 3

WEST
♠7 3
♥K J 9
♦10 9 8 7

EAST
♠J 8 4
♥Q 10 7 4
♦6 2

SOUTH
♠A K Q 9 6 5
♥A 6 5
♦A K Q J
♣None

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 spades	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
3 spades	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
4 diams.	Pass	4 spades	Pass
6 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

Declarer was fortunate in that West opened the ten of diamonds instead of a heart, which would have nipped the slam contract in the bud. [Obviously West could not be criticized for failing to lead from the K J 9 of hearts.]

But when dummy appeared declarer had a slight sinking sensation. How to use those beautiful club tricks? How to avoid losing two hearts?

There was only one way, or rather one way that really had two by-paths. Declarer immediately led the nine of trumps. When the jack failed to go up from West's hand dummy played low, and East, with somewhat of a stupefied expression on his face at his "good fortune," pounced on the trick with his jack. Declarer breathed a loud sigh of relief, won the diamond return, entered dummy with the ten of trumps, and ditched his losing hearts on the A K of clubs. He then claimed the rest.

I was kibitzing the play, and whispered to the declarer: "Would you have played exactly the same way against any defenders?"

He whispered back: "Of course not! You and I know that an expert in East's position would have sensed what I was doing—establishing dummy's spade ten for an entry—and would have refused to win my nine lead. He would have seen through my dodge and immediately concluded that there was some darn good reason for any such open-handedness on my part as to present him with a jack that must be subject to capture. Therefore he simply would let me hold the nine spot, sacrificing his jack to a good cause. If I'd thought that East was an expert I would not even have tried to fool him. Then my only hope would be to play West for the jack of trumps. If he had it the ten would be a sure entry, either on the first or the second round. It was simply a case of guessing who had the jack and when West failed to put it up, second hand, I felt reasonably sure he didn't have it."

"One hundred per cent!" I murmured.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

♠A ♥A2 ♦AK865 ♣AQ542

Admiral Hobson Charges New Deal Aids Drive.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—"Scientific warfare" for power in America is being waged by Comintern, international communist agency of propaganda, and the New Deal fits into that drive, it was charged today before the National Conference of Clergymen and Laymen by Admiral Richmond P. Hobson, U. S. N., retired.

Admiral Hobson, who is head of the Public Welfare association of New York, said the board of strategy of his association, after exhaustive studies, has collected evidence that a competent communist general staf has been at work and has succeeded to the extent of casting widespread doubt on the constitution and bringing discredit on the Supreme court.

Asserts There Is "One Test."

"Every communist and Fascist, in fact, every believer in autocracy, knows that the American constitution must be destroyed if a dictatorship is to succeed here," said the admiral.

"There is just one test which today should be applied to every person in the country, especially those seeking political or other preferment. It is this: Can he say, and mean it: 'I believe in the constitution of the United States of America and I will defend it against its enemies.' An America that can say that can stop communism and the communists know it. The Public Welfare association is organizing a national program of constitution education."

The first obstacle to the communist campaign, Admiral Hobson said, is America's great wealth and industrial and agricultural productivity which has been built up under confidence guaranteed to a free people by the nation itself.

Lashes Controled Scarcity.

"Controled scarcity was the answer of communist strategists," said Admiral Hobson. "A thoughtful person can see throughout the land in the policy of controled scarcity and in the regimentation of agriculture and industry, the lacing of the straitjacket upon our people, striking at our inherent superiority in the struggle for survival."

Another obstacle to communism, the admiral said, is adequate national defense. He said the communists have "organized a highly financed and adroitly standardized propaganda of pacifism, making poor dupes out of their prey as they penetrate churches, schools and colleges."

John A. Lyon, New York attorney and a leading Methodist layman, supported Admiral Hobson by citing the success of pacifism throughout Methodist youth organizations.

Cites Church Publication.

He cited specific articles in the official youth publication of the church, the Epworth Herald of Chicago. He also quoted the Rev. Harry F. Ward, a Methodist minister and professor at Union Theological seminary, as saying:

"There is going to be formed in this country a united peoples' movement which will be a counterpart of the Front Populaire in France."

Of Bishop Francis J. McConnell of New York Mr. Lyon said:

"Bishop McConnell is the No. 1 enemy of the Methodist church and has publicly said that for our 'apathetic, lazy, and indifferent great church bodies I don't give a hoot.'"

EDITOR DENIES CHARGES.

Dr. W. E. J. Gratz, editor of the Epworth Herald, a Methodist youth magazine with offices at 740 Rush street, yesterday denied a charge that he had helped organize "red" activities on the Ohio State university campus. The charge was made by Arden S. Turner, a student at the university, at the national conference of clergymen and laymen of Catholic and Protestant churches and the American synagogue in Asheville, N. C., and was quoted yesterday in THE TRIBUNE.

Dr. Gratz in a letter to THE TRIBUNE said: "There is no truth in that statement whatever. I have never spoken to or met with students of the Ohio State university, nor have I had part in organizing red activities on any campus or anywhere else."

"Young church fellows of draft age must decide something when war breaks out.

"Accept the draft, take the drill, go into the camps and onto the battlefields, or into munitions factories and transportation work—but sabotage war preparations and war. Be agitators for sabotage. Down tools when the order is to make and load munitions. Spoil war materials and machinery"

SERVICE TO MARK FORT DEARBORN MASSACRE TODAY

Ceremonies commemorating the 124th anniversary of the Fort Dearborn massacre will be held today at Wacker drive and Michigan avenue, the original site of the fort, and at the replica in Burnham park near 29th street.

Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for governor, will fly here from Springfield to be the principal speaker at the ceremonies, which will commence at the southwest corner of Wacker drive and Michigan avenue at 1 p. m. At 2 p. m. a motor cavalcade will leave that corner for the replica. The American Legion drum and bugle corps and several troops of Boy Scouts also will take part.

The program is being sponsored by the Junior Association of Commerce and twenty other civic and patriotic organizations. Wilbur Helm, president of the Sons of the American Revolution and a descendent of the Chicago Kinzie family, will be present.

DePauw President

DR. CLYDE E. WILDMAN.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Dr. Clyde Everett Wildman, 47, of Boston university, educator and religious lecturer and author, was appointed president of DePauw university of Greencastle at a meeting of the board of trustees here today.

He succeeds G. Bromley Oxnam, who retired as president to accept a bishopric in the Methodist Episcopal church.

Dr. Wildman was born in Greensburg, Ind., the son of John William and Jean Chapman Wildman. He graduated from DePauw in 1913. The following year he studied in the Iliff School of Theology in Denver.

From 1915 to 1917, as an ordained minister, he was pastor of the Congregational church at Tyngsboro, Mass., and for the next two years pastor of the East Saugus M. E. church.

In 1919 he studied at the United Free Church college in Glasgow, and as a fellow in Basel university, Basel.

He was appointed to the faculty of Cornell college, Mount Vernon, Ia., as a professor of Bible and religion when he returned to the United States. In 1924 he became dean of the school.

After two years as dean he left Cornell to join the faculty of Syracuse university.

Since 1930 he has been a member of the faculty of Boston university's school of theology as professor of Old Testament history and religion.

PAGEANT TO OPEN ASHLAND AVENUE BRIDGE THURSDAY

A colorful pageant will be held in connection with the dedicatory ceremonies which will mark the opening Thursday of the new Ashland avenue bridge over the north branch of the Chicago river near Elston avenue. The bridge, which cost $1,500,000 to construct, will complete the final link in the widening of Ashland avenue from 95th street to Devon avenue, which was started in 1922 at a total cost of $27,500,000.

A pageant of floats will start at 69th street and Ashland avenue at 10:45 a. m. and move north in the thoroughfare to a point just south of the bridge. In the parade will be vehicles showing the development of city trafic, from horse drawn vehicles to modern street cars and buses.

The ceremonies at the bridge will start at 11:45 a. m. and at 1 p. m. Mayor Kelly will cut a ribbon which will be the signal for the spans to close. A girl, representing "Miss North Side," will cross to the south with groups from the north side and the parade will continue to Devon avenue. The celebration is under auspices of the West Central association. Frank A. Hecht Jr., president, will be principal speaker.

PALS GIVE ALIBI, BUT JURY FINDS PAROLEE GUILTY

Louis Fillicetti, 22 years old, 3030 Princeton avenue, who was paroled from the Joliet penitentiary last May, was found guilty of larceny of an automobile by a jury in the Criminal court of Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday despite the testimony of two companions, under sentence in the same crime, that he had not participated in the theft. He was sentenced immediately by the court to a term of one to twenty years in Joliet.

Assistant State's Attorney James A. Brown introduced a confession made by Fillicetti, admitting that he had been with Philip Curkowith, 20 years old, and William Gerald McGuire, 21 years old, on July 25 when they stole three automobiles and robbed a filling station. Fillicetti denied the confession, asserting that it was obtained by duress. His two companions took the stand and testified that the parolee was not with them.

The jury was out but a few minutes when they returned the guilty verdict. Curkowith and McGuire were sentenced earlier to Joliet. Fillicetti was sent to the Joliet prison in 1933 for robbery.

CHARITIES SHARE IN STORE EXHIBIT OF ANDES CROWN

Fifty-one per cent of proceeds from a four weeks' exhibition of the historic crown of Our Lady of the Andes, starting at The Fair store next Monday, will be distributed to charities. Of that total the United and Catholic charities will each receive 40 per cent and Jewish charities 20 per cent.

The gold diadem studded with 453 emeralds and weighing more than 1,500 carats is valued at $4,500,000. It came into possession of an American syndicate headed by Warren Piper of Chicago last June. The crown will be transferred today from its vault at 31 North State street to The Fair for opening of the show Monday.

FALL AT HOME CAUSES DEATH.

Vincent Gagliardi, 30 years old, 1163 Grand avenue, a factory foreman, died at the Mother Cabrini hospital yesterday of injuries received when he fell in his home Tuesday.

ALL-STARS START WORK ON OFFENSE AGAINST LIONS

COACH BIERMAN GIVES PLAYS IN MORNING DRILL

Outlines Defense in Afternoon Session.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The All-American football players, 49 of them, went through a double workout yesterday at Dyche stadium with a seriousness and vigor which presages trouble for the Detroit Lions, champions of the National Professional league, when two squads meet at Soldiers' field on the night of Sept. 1.

The morning hours were spent principally in drill on the plays as outlined by Coach Bernie Bierman. In the afternoon, after a blackboard presentation of the defensive fundamentals, the players were set to working these out on the practice gridiron.

The double sessions will be continued today. Tomorrow there will be one drill, probably in the morning, and then on Monday it is the plan of the coaching staf to hold the first scrimmage of the campaign.

Last Arrivals Due Today.

The fiftieth All-Star, Ettore Antonini of Indiana university, arrived last night from Clinton, Ind. Antonini is expected to add strength to the squad of ends by his ability to catch passes. Three other players, two of whom also are ends, are expected to arrive today to complete the All-Star roster of 53. Keith Topping of Stanford and Trevor Rees of Ohio State are the ends. The other is Amerino Sarno of Fordham.

There are no casualties in camp. None should be expected at this stage, of course, for with the exception of some contact work by the linemen and a bit of tackling yesterday morning there has been slight opportunity for injury. But it also is considered a favorable omen that the stars so far have escaped minor ailments such as twisted ankles and charley horses. The rainstorm Thursday night helped the players, the softened turf being easier on their leg muscles and feet.

Few Need Reducing.

Few of the players seem in need of drastic reducing exercises. In the main they are a mighty husky lot for all of them were playing less than nine months ago and many of them engaged in post-season games, either in the East-West game at San Francisco or the Rose Bowl game at Los Angeles. By Monday the coaches believe the players will haye toughened up enough to cut loose in scrimmage.

Jay Berwanger will have his special head guard and shoulder pads for his participation in scrimmage and yesterday a special nose protector was ordered for Bobby Wilson, fleet Southern Methodist half back. This will be attached to Wilson's head guard so he, too, can demonstrate his ability to the staf of coaches who will pass on his work and assign him his particular task for the night of Sept. 1.

Scrimmage will be the test for all of the boys who hope to take part in the battle against the professionals. The starting lineup has been named, of course, and, barring injury, these boys will be on the field for the kickoff. Just how long they will play depends entirely on how well they play. And who will be the number one and number two replacements will be determined during the practice sessions.

Plenty of Kickers.

The All-Stars should be well fortified with kickers. Either Berwanger or Bill Shakespeare, who will be in the starting lineup, can take care of that job. Backing them up in this department are such men as George Roscoe of Minnesota, Les Lindberg of Illinois, Riley Smith, of Alabama, who also will start the Detroit game; Mike Layden of Notre Dame, Dick Crayne of Iowa, and Tuffy Leemans of George Washington university.

In all probability the players will be assigned to one particular position, except for a few key men who will be asked to learn two positions. This simplifies the task of assembling an offense. The question of how the starting backfield will line up at present has been solved by placing Shakespeare at right half back and Berwanger at left half. Both men have earned reputations as great ball carriers, but it is also true that both can block.

Moreover, the style of attack as outlined by Coach Bierman is exceptionally strong on plays to the back or so-called weak side of the line. Here Shakespeare will have an opportunity to get loose just as Alfonse used to tear through enemy lines for the Gophers when he was paired with Pug Lund, the Minnesota left half. Both men will have splendid help from Sheldon Beise and Riley Smith, their mates in the No. 1 back field, for blocking is a specialty with each.

Plan Six Man Line.

The primary system of defense for the All-Stars is expected to be based on a six man line. It is a logical

ALL STARS SCENT TOUCHDOWNS; TRY FOR EXTRA POINTS

Those College All-Stars are optimistic fellows. A group of the boys spent considerable time yesterday practicing kicking points after touchdown. Tillie Manton of Texas Christian is one of the most accurate field goal kickers on the squad. He kicked the field goal that defeated Louisiana State, 3 to 2, in the Sugar Bowl game last New Year's day and booted another to defeat Santa Clara, 10 to 7, last fall.

Coach Bo McMillin can't wait until he gets Coach Elmer Layden on a golf course again. It seems the pair slipped out to the Westmoreland Country club the other day and Elmer gained a 3 up decision over Bo.

Hunk Anderson, former Notre Dame football coach, now at North Carolina State, dropped in to say "hello" to the All-Star coaches and watch the squad work out. "It's hotter here than in North Carolina," Hunk said.

The All-Stars are a cinch to defeat the Lions, according to Billy Bierman, 13 year old son of Coach Bernie Bierman. Billy, who hopes to be a football player at Minnesota some day, is having the time of his life watching the daily practice sessions at Dyche stadium. The Bierman family will be reunited next week when Mrs. Bierman arrives in Evanston from a trip to the Olympic games.

Charley Cheshire, half back from U. C. L. A., is one of the smallest players on the squad and therein lies a story. When Charlie graduated from high school he had ambitions to play football at St. Mary's, but Slip Madigan thought he was too small to play football. Charlie thought otherwise and enrolled at U. C. L. A., where he played on the team that won two out of three games against St. Mary's. Last year he scored the winning touchdown.

Gomer Jones, Ohio State's chunky center, and Wayne Millner, Notre Dame end, got together at lunch yesterday and played last year's football game between the two schools all over again.

Bill Shakespeare and Jay Berwanger learned something about movie production methods while in Hollywood. Told to report the first day at 8:30, they lolled around until 11 before work began. The next day they received the same orders, but decided to get in a game of golf before showing up. Unlike the previous day, the cameras were ready to turn at 8:30 and the boys held up production for a couple of hours.

Coach Lou Little of Columbia bade his fellow coaches farewell yesterday as he boarded a train for the east, where he will continue convalescing from a recent operation. Lou will spend a few days relaxing on his front porch at Leominster, Mass., before rejoining the squad here.

Playing three years of varsity football without a defeat was the high light of Sheldon Beise's career at Minnesota. Beise will be the starting full back when the All-Stars square off against the Lions on Sept. 1.

KIEFER SETS NEW RECORD TO WIN IN BACKSTROKE

Swim Standing

STANDINGS of the nations in Olympic swimming, based on a scoring system of 10-5-4-3-2-1 points for the first six places in each event, follows:

WOMEN.

United States	48	Argentina	5
Holland	42½	Great Britain	3
Germany	25½	Hungary	2½
Japan	15	Canada	2½
Denmark	6

MEN.

United States	56	Germany	7
Japan	43	France	4
Hungary	14	Great Britain	1

BERLIN, Aug. 14.—(AP)—America's swimmers virtually wrapped up the men's Olympic team title today by winning their third championship and taking an ironclad option on a fourth.

Barring some unexpected development it seemed unlikely that Japan, their closest rival, could overtake them in the three remaining events to be decided tomorrow—200 meter breast stroke, 1,500 meter free style, and the 10 meter platform dive.

Pouring rain which left spectators half drowned and pelted in his face failed to disturb Adolf Kiefer of Chicago as he swept to a record smashing victory in the 100 meter back stroke over his team mate, Al Vande Weghe of Paterson, N. J., and Masaji Kiyokawa of Japan.

Marshall Wayne of Miami practically clinched the platform diving title when he led at the halfway stage with his favorite optional dives coming up tomorrow. The tall, blond haired Floridan's only rival is the German, Erhardt Weiss, who was in second place, 56-100ths of a point behind.

Dutch Win Women's Relay.

The only laurels that escaped the Americans went to Holland for a record cracking triumph in the women's 400 meter relay free style championship. Even with Katherine Rawls of Miami drafted at the last minute and leading off, the American girls could do no better than third behind Germany.

This exciting victory, in which Rita Mastenbroek again played the leading rôle as she caught and passed Gisela Arendt of Germany 20 meters before the finish, gave the Dutch their third gold medal of the competition against two gained by the United States due to the talents of her divers. Miss Mastenbroek, who also won the 100 meter free style crown and was runnerup in the back stroke final, is favored to win the 400 meter free style championship tomorrow.

On the men's side, America's grip on team honors was menaced by the Tokio terrors, whose only chance to overtake the Americans is in the breast stroke and long free style pull. With only Johnny Higgins of Providence opposed to them they appeared to have the former event well in hand.

Medica Good 1,500 Meter Prospect.

But they had a couple of young men named Jack Medica of Seattle and Ralph Flanagan of Miami to contend with in the distance race. Medica, in fact, looked as though he intended to add the 1,500 crown to his 400 meter title as he stroked serenely to victory in his semi-final in faster time than Noburo Terada of Japan, 19:42.8 to 19:48.6.

While Kiefer's victory was all the sodden stands could have hoped for as a demonstration of back stroking technique, it offered little in the way of thrills. It was evident since the first time the long armed American entered the pool he would win as he pleased.

About the only kick the crowd got

JACKIE WILSON REACHES FINAL IN OLYMPIC BOXING

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 14.—Jackie Wilson of Cleveland will be America's only representative in the final round of the Olympic boxing tournament tomorrow. The tall colored bantamweight, who triumphed in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S Golden Glove tournament last March, reached the finals by defeating Ortiz of Mexico in the semi-final round today.

Louis Laurie, also of Cleveland, the only other United States fighter to reach the semi-finals, was eliminated. Laurie was beaten by Matta of Italy. The victory qualified Matta to oppose Kaiser of Germany in the finals for the flyweight championship.

Wilson's Victory Booed.

Wilson, who has displayed great boxing ability since the tournament started, will oppose Sergo of Italy in the finals for the 118 pound title. Wilson's victory was unpopular with the crowd, which cheered whenever Ortiz hit the Cleveland colored boy. Wilson landed 16 straight left hand punches in the first round before the Mexican struck one. Ortiz got Wilson in the corner twice and pummeled him with wild punches, but the colored boy blocked him off and shook him with lefts to the face.

Wilson carried the fight to the Mexican in the third round to gain the decision.

The spectators whistled their disapproval and hissed and booed when his victory was announced, but the judges stuck to their decision.

Threaten to Quit.

Tonight the French, American, Belgian, Czech, and South American groups and a few belonging to the British empire are talking seriously of resigning from the International Boxing association. They charged that its Hungarian leader failed to protect the ethics of amateur sports by closing his eyes to the fact that in a number of nondemocratic countries amateurs are allowed to be trained and supported with subsidies for months on and before the important event.

Pairings for the finals:

FLYWEIGHT—Matta, Italy, vs. Kaiser, Germany.

BANTAMWEIGHT—Wilson, United States, vs. Sergo, Italy.

FEATHERWEIGHT—Casanova, Argentina, vs. Catterall, South Africa.

LIGHTWEIGHT—Harangi, Hungary, vs. Stepulov, Estonia.

WELTERWEIGHT—Murach, Germany, vs. Suvio, Finland.

MIDDLEWEIGHT—Despeaux, France, vs. Tiller, Norway.

HEAVYWEIGHT—Lovell, Argentina, vs. Runge, Germany.

JUVENILE STARS TO RACE TODAY FOR $5,000 STAKE

Bottle Cap Is Favorite in Prairie State.

BY FRENCH LANE.

This is the day when Bottle Cap, sensational 2 year old from M. L. Emerich's Millsdale stable of Chicago will endeavor to convince Chicagoans that he is a better race horse than Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Arlington Futurity winner Case Ace.

His big chance comes in the second running of the Prairie State stakes at Washington Park. He doesn't meet Case Ace in this engagement because the latter is in the east. Yet that makes the job doubly hard. Bottle Cap not only must beat his 13 Prairie State rivals but he must also win more decisively than Case Ace did in the Futurity at Arlington Park two weeks ago if he is to be recognized as the better horse.

Ineligible at Arlington.

Unfortunately Trainer Tony Pelleteri neglected to name Bottle Cap for Arlington Park's added money events, so the horse had to be content with winning four overnight events in a row out on the northwest side. When Case Ace ran off with the rich Futurity, Owner Emerich and Trainer Pelleteri were shaking their heads, mumbling to themselves and wondering why they hadn't made the son of Bostonian-Trig eligible.

There were fourteen named overnight for this second running of the Prairie State, which will have a gross value of $7,090 should all start. The Tranquillity farm's unbeaten filly, Challite, was the only western juvenile missing from the field.

The sloppy track of yesterday was drying out under a hot sun, but prospects were for an off track for the stake. While this was favorable to the chances of the Bomar stable's Yellow Tulip and the Rosedale stable's Lake View, it failed to bring up the price on Bottle Cap. The Emerich 2 year old is expected to be about 8 to 5 in the wagering, and there are many who think that's the bargain of the meeting, if not the season. Bottle Cap's appearances have been on a fast strip, but there is nothing to indicate he isn't just as good in rough going.

Orientalist Second Choice.

Second choice, despite his failure over a heavy track on Monday, is Mrs. Emil Denemark's Orientalist, second to Case Ace in the Arlington Futurity. Another Denemark claim, Mondorf, may accompany Orientalist.

For third choice the customers can choose between Yellow Tulip, trying to make it two in a row for the Bomar stable in the Prairie State, Mrs. A. M. Creech's Miss Dolphin, just back from a stake win at Thistledown, and the Northway stable's Fair Lead and Patty Cake. Clingendaal, Lake View, Oddesa Girl, Chigre, winner of the Cincinnati trophy, Dellor, Proph, and Wise Dart complete the field. They had some few backers.

BRADDOCK AIDS IOWA PRISONER GAIN FREEDOM

Anamosa, Ia., Aug. 14.—(AP)—John McGrath, 34, honor prisoner, spent his last night at the state reformatory here tonight, confident that tomorrow morning he will receive a check from James J. Braddock, the world's heavyweight boxing champion. And tonight his fellow prisoners didn't laugh when McGrath said, "Jimmy is going to send me carfare to New York."

When they derided him before for claiming the friendship of the champion, McGrath turned the tables on them. He wrote to Braddock for an autographed picture "to show the guys," and told his boyhood pal of his difficulty. Braddock not only sent the picture but also appealed personally to state authorities for McGrath's parole.

In asking the appeal Braddock stated, "I will guarantee John McGrath a job in my publicity department at a salary not less than $35.

HENSHAW GIVES UP WITH BASES FULL IN FIFTH

Demaree Hits Home Run, Two Singles.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 14.—The Cubs, with thoughts of the idle Cardinals and the pursuing Giants, this afternoon beat the Cincinnati Reds, 7 to 5, in the opener of the four game series here. The victory, combined with the Giants' conquest of the Phillies, made the National league race more of a three cornered fight than ever, a span of 2½ games now blanketing the first three positions.

Because of an early burst of power, which faded badly after the third inning, the Cubs were able to gain a half game on the Cards whom they now trail by four percentage points, less than half a game. The Giants are two games back of the Cubs, having gained nine games on the Chicagoans in a month.

French Checks Reds.

Today's game started out to be a pitching competition between a couple of Davis boys, Peaches for the Reds and Curt of the Cubs. But the Cubs knocked out Peaches with five runs and six hits in the second and third innings, said hits including a homer by Frank Demaree and Curt was yanked after the Reds had slapped out eight hits in three and two thirds innings.

Roy Henshaw succeeded Curt Davis briefly but lost his bearings completely. Then Larry French went in with one home and the bases full in the fifth and became the winning pitcher by holding the Reds to two runs the rest of the way, one of them a homer by Ernesto Lombardi at the start of the ninth.

The Cubs, in addition to the six hits they made off Peaches Davis, made two off Paul Derringer, none off Don Brennan, and two off Gene Schott. Demaree had two singles in addition to his homer, Ethan Allen made two doubles, and Stan Hack knocked a triple. Ken O'Dea and Augie Galan hit doubles.

Cubs Score in Second.

Two singles and a line drive which extended Allen in the first inning caused some alarm among the Cubs and spurred them to production in the second inning. Demaree opened with a homer over the left field fence, his No. 14. O'Dea and Galan knocked successive doubles to right, O'Dea scoring. Galan reached third on Jurges' out, then Cavarretta reached first when Scarsella held the ball after fielding his grounder. After Davis had fanned, Cavarretta was caught off first, but prolonged the run down until Galan scored.

Allen opened the third with the third Cub double, went to third on a wild pitch, and scored on Hack's fly to Walker. Bill Herman beat out an infield single and went to third on Demaree's single to center. Derringer then replaced Davis and Bill Herman scored on O'Dea's fly to Goodman. Galan popped to Thevenow.

Goodman Knocks Triple.

The Reds busted into the scoring column in their third. Goodman tripled to right center with one down. Scarsella fanned for the second out and Babe Herman walked. Lombardi doubled to right, Goodman scoring and Babe Herman stopping at third. Riggs ended the threat with a fly to Galan.

Another Davis was knocked out in the fourth. Thevenow opened with a line single to center, paused while Kampouris flied to Demaree, and stopped at second on Derringer's single to left. Walker flied to Demaree, Thevenow taking third. Goodman then came through with his third hit, the eighth for the Reds, Thevenow scoring, and Derringer reaching third. Henshaw replaced C.

FOUR GAMES IN TWO DAYS WITH TIGERS, SOX TASK

Play Double-Headers Today and Tomorrow.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox, who until the last week had been doing things in a big way, have some important, also heavy, work immediately ahead. Part of it is a double header this afternoon with Detroit's Tigers who are still world and league champions in name. The other portion is a double header again tomorrow with the same gang of visitors. These bargain bills were scheduled before yesterday's battle was washed out so there'll be another twin affair billed when the champions come this way later in the season.

The erasure of yesterday's affair was just what Mr. James Dykes, the boss man of the Sox, hoped would happen. He was more or less concerned about finding five starting pitchers in three days. A lot of his fellows are bunged up as the result of the splurge they started around July 1. And in addition to being physically weary most of the lads are somewhat weary mentally so the one day of rest was accepted as a life saver.

Radcliff's Slump Hurts.

After being relieved of yesterday's game Dykes figured out that he might do fairly well in the way of pitchers for the two heavy days. He has Bill Specs Dietrich and Merritt Sugar Cain for this afternoon. And for tomorrow he'll turn loose, unless a better idea strikes him, Vernon Kennedy and John Whitehead. The latter pitched seven innings on Thursday, his first appearance since July 26 when he injured his arm. Auker and Wade probably will labor for the Tigers today.

At least a portion of the slide taken by the Sox in the last week can be attributed to Rip Radcliff's decline as a hitter. He's receded so speedily that he is hardly within speaking distance of the leaders of whom he was one just a few weeks back. However, it isn't exactly one of those mysterious slumps that gets 'em all at one time or another. The little fellow is one of the many invalids and would be taken out of there if an extra outfielder was available.

Dykes Lists Invalids.

The hospital squad is so extensive that Dykes keeps a list of the names so as not to forget to make daily inquiries of each patient. Catcher Luke Sewell is the victim of kidney stones but may return any day. Larry Rosenthal is still troubled by a lame back. Zeke Bonura has a bruised heel and a sty on one eye. Ted Lyons is out with a sore arm and a cold. Mule Haas has his pet charley horse. Monty Stratton and Dixie Walker are trying to get back into trim after undergoing operations. And Luke Appling always has at least a dozen ailments but never can get anybody to take his moans seriously.

It will not be much longer before Stratton and possibly Walker are able to put themselves back on a paying basis. Stratton, who met with the doctors and lost both his appendix and tonsils several months ago, has been warming up daily in the bull pen. Before he starts a game he'll probably be used a few times in a relief role.

Walker whose trick shoulder was repaired by the surgeons shortly after his purchase from the Yankees now is at the point where he can take part in batting practice. However, he continues to be careful about hard throwing. As soon as he is ready he may be sent into action so that Radcliff can go on a brief vacation.

French Stops Reds; Cubs Win, 7 to 5

After Allen had been called out on strikes at the start of the fifth, Hack made the first hit off Derringer, a triple to the right field corner. Herman fanned but Demaree came through with his third hit, a single to center, scoring Hack. Kampouris threw out O'Dea.

Henshaw, pitching the fifth in a shower, apparently had trouble with the wet ball or something, and after a lot of staggering around was replaced by French. Henshaw's collapse started in with the walking of Babe Herman. Lombardi then singled to right center, Babe Herman going to third. Riggs hit into a double play started by Bill Herman, Babe Herman scoring.

Henshaw then walked Thevenow, Kampouris, and Derringer, causing Manager Grimm to suspect the little man had lost control. Skipper Charley sent in French with the bases thus filled and Cuyler, batting for Walker, popped to Jurges. One run on a single and four walks in one inning was adjudged fair enough by the Cubs.

The Reds got after French at the start of the seventh. Riggs singled to left and scored on Thevenow's double to the scoreboard in left center. Thevenow took third while Kampouris was grounding out to Cavarretta. Byrd batted for Derringer and fouled to O'Dea and Cuyler flied to Galan.

With one out in the ninth French singled to left off Schott and reached third on Allen's second double. French scored and Allen reached third on Hack's fly to Cuyler. Bill Herman was thrown out by Schott.

Lombardi opened the home ninth with a homer. Riggs tapped to French, Thevenow flied to Demaree and Kampouris flied to Galan.

CHICAGO BEATS NEW YORK; SEEKS PRINTERS' TITLE

Chicago will meet Boston for the championship of the 26th annual International Union Printers league baseball tournament at Wrigley field today. They qualified for the finals by triumphing in the semi-final round yesterday.

Chicago, which is undefeated in four starts, turned back New York, 8 to 6, at Wrigley field, and Boston scored a 14 to 3 victory over Cincinnati at Waveland field.

Chicago scored five runs on two hits and three walks in the first inning. The New York nine came back to score six runs in the third inning on five hits and one error, driving Timmer, the starting Chicago pitcher, to the showers.

There is a possibility that two games may be played today to decide the title. If Chicago is beaten by Boston they will be tied, each with four victories and one defeat. In this event the second game will be played at 2 o'clock. The first game will start at 11 a. m. Yesterday's scores:

was the way Kiefer made the turn, his time saving under water somersault bringing a burst of cheering and gaining him at least a yard on Vande Weghe and Kiyokawa, who were close in the running up to that point.

U. S. CREW COMES FROM BEHIND TO WIN IN OLYMPICS

GRUNAU, Germany, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Paced magnificently by the curly haired invalid, Don Hume, who rowed the last 200 meters on the verge of collapse, Washington's Huskies saved eight oared Olympic supremacy for the United States under highly dramatic circumstances today.

The unbeaten American collegians, trailing by a length with only 600 meters to go, came from behind in a thrilling drive which carried them across the finish line scarcely a quarter length—exactly six-tenths of a second—in front of the heavyweight Italians.

Germany Is Third.

Germany's hard fighting crew was a close third in a finish in which only one second separated the first three shells after the hardest kind of a battle over the 2,000 meter course through a driving rain and against a severe head wind. The British and Hungarians, the European favorites, were beaten off, finishing fourth and fifth, while the Swiss brought up the rear.

The race saw the Americans barely outlast the battling blue shirts from Livorno, including three veterans of the crew that gave the University of California such a bad scare at Los Angeles four years ago.

Defying difficult conditions as well as sundry bronchial aches and pains, the Washington crew had no chance to touch the Olympic record of 6:00.8 it set in winning the first test Wednesday, but its gold medal performance, clocked in 6:25.4, was equally dazzling from the standpoint of oarsmanship.

The Huskies won on their nerve during the throbbing finish and proved a world championship boatload regardless of distance, rowing circumstances, or the condition of their health.

It was the fifth consecutive eight oared victory for American college crews since the war and ended a regatta marked otherwise by Germany's unprecedented achievement in capturing five successive finals, thereby rowing off with the team title for the first time in Olympic history.

Face Great Odds.

Until the British doubles scullers, Jack Beresford and Dick Southwood, came from behind in the sixth final to defeat the German representatives, there was nothing on the water capable of extending the powerful Teuton oarsmen who captured the pairs and fours with and without coxswain in addition to furnishing the new sculling champion, Gustav Schaefer.

The way the collegians came through was something to write home about. Never before had more than four crews gone to the starting mark for the Olympics finals so the Huskies, from the outset faced heavier odds than any of their predecessors—Navy in 1920, Yale in 1924, and California in 1928 and 1932.

Passing the 1,000 meters mark, the halfway stage, little more than five seconds separated the six crews, but the Italians were in front with the Americans over a length behind, in fifth place, leading only the British.

Nearing 1,500 meters, the Huskies spurted into third place, trailing Italy by half a length and Germany by a few feet. Italy's oarsmen suddenly met this challenge by a sprint that carried them a full length in front again and nearly caught the Huskies napping.

Even at 1,800 Meters.

It was 300 meters farther before the sustained Husky drive overhauled the Germans and also pulled the shell up on even terms with the hard fighting Italians. From there on there never was much doubt about the outcome.

The Italians spurted again in the last 100 meters. The margin narrowed as the two crews drove over the finish, both hitting 40 or more, but the Americans had enough left to give a final "ten" which balked Italy's second straight bid for premier Olympic rowing honors.

Drastic Duck Hunting Laws Are Continued

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Duck hunting regulations issued today by the United States Biological survey are almost the same as those which governed the sport last season, with the exception that the country is divided into three shooting zones, instead of two. The 30 day season, prohibition of live decoys and feeding, three shell limit on repeating shotguns, and 10 duck possession limit were all carried over from last year's drastic regulations.

The official announcement from the biological survey, approved by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and President Roosevelt, said the regulations would "continue stringent restrictions on the hunting of waterfowl in order to cut down the annual kill."

Restrictions Reduce Kill.

"The restrictions put into force last year were intended to bring about a reduction in the kill and they accomplished that purpose," the announcement stated.

Shotting in the intermediate zone, which includes the important areas in central and southern Illinois, will open Nov. 1 and continue until Nov. 30. The season in the northern zone will be open from Oct. 10 to Nov. 8 and in the southern zone from Nov. 26 to Dec. 25.

The season will be completely closed on redhead and canvasback ducks and the Atlantic brant; the use of baiting, sink boxes or batteries is prohibited; waterfowl and coot may be hunted in season from 7 a. m. to 4 p. m. standard time; and shotguns larger than number 10 gauge are prohibited.

Limit on Geese Is Four.

The daily bag limit and possession limit of 10 ducks of all species was continued and the limit on geese and brant remains at four. Bag and possession limits on other species are: rails and gallinules [except sora and coot], 15 in the aggregate of all species; sora, 25; coot, 15; snipe, 15; woodchuck, 4; doves, 20. The season on mourning doves opens Sept. 1.

States in the northern zone are Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, New Hampshire, North Dakota, South Dakota, Vermont, and Wisconsin. The intermediate zone includes Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Connecticut, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, New York [including Long Island], Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Utah, Washington, West Virginia, Indiana, and Wyoming. All other states are in the southern zone.

ATHLETES WHO LOST OLYMPIC TESTS TO MEET

New York, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The boys and girls who were left behind by Uncle Sam's famed Olympic stars, who won glory on German soil, get another chance for medals and records tomorrow and Sunday when a large field competes in the first annual World Labor Athletic carnival at Randall's Island.

The meet, with 23 regulation A. A. U. events open and several others closed to labor unions, has attracted a large field, including many of the nation's greatest stars who failed in the trying, final tests for the Olympic team.

Among the outstanding performers will be Eulace Peacock of Temple university, three times conqueror of the fleet Jesse Owens, whose dream of Olympic conquest was shattered by an injury; George Varoff, San Francisco's flying janitor who set a world record of 14 feet 6¾ inches in the nationals at Princeton and then failed to make the team; Ben Johnson, former national indoor sprint champion, who has defeated both Peacock and Owens; Phil Levy, Stanford discus star, and Charles Beetham, Ohio State star, who was victimized by a fall in the Olympic trials.

The 36 hole match between Josephine Souchek of Ridgemoor and Eloise Briese of Kenosha for the Illinois women's public parks championship, scheduled for yesterday at the Waveland avenue course in Lincoln park, will be held today. Officials postponed the match when it was discovered that several of the traps were partly flooded, not to mention the handicap of a stiff wind sweeping in from the lake.

South side players regained the Chicago district women's team championship they held in 1930 in the final matches yesterday at Glen View by compiling a total of 73½ points. North side, perennial winners since 1930, finished with 63 and west side with 25. Until the final round, north was leading south, 45½ to 41½.

Mrs. Russell C. Mann of Olympia Fields, 78; Dorothy Gustafson, Midlothian, 79; Mrs. Austin Pardue, Indian Hill, 81, and Mrs. Charles Dennehy, Onwentsia, 84, were the leading scorers. The personnel of the championship team and points follow:

LIONS TO RELY ON PASSING TO BEAT ALL-STARS

Coach Clark Says His Pros Are Not Overconfident.

Bloomfield Hills, Mich., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The Detroit Lions plan a forward passing game to beat the College All-Stars on Sept. 1 in Soldiers' field, Chicago. This became obvious today when the major portion of the two drills of the squad was devoted to passing.

For nearly 90 minutes in the morning session Coach George [Potsy] Clark stressed to his thirty-nine charges the importance of having their forward passing game in tip-top shape for their battle with the All-Stars. Coach Clark went over the Lions' highly geared aerial attack for the benefit of the newcomers, then sent every man on the squad to either catching or throwing passes.

Have Eight Passers.

The passing attack was continued in the afternoon session. In the two Lion back fields are eight players capable of a good job of passing. While Dutch Clark and Glenn Presnell do the bulk of the passing, Frank Christensen, Bill Shepherd, Buddy Parker, Ernie Caddel, Ace Gutowsky, and Bill McKalip also can step up and throw the ball.

The collegiate rules which requires the forward passer to pass from five yards behind the line of scrimmage will not handicap the Lions as it did the Chicago Bears, as most of the Lions' pet passing plays are started from five yards back.

Overconfidence Absent.

Clark declared today he did not believe his club would be handicapped by overconfidence.

"At our meeting last night I pointed out to the squad the all around strength the All-Stars will have when Coaches Bierman, McMillin, Waldorf and Layden complete their work," Clark said.

"In order to bring the topic at hand closer to home I mentioned that Harry Kipke, University of Michigan coach, could, at the very moment, claim his 1936 team would go through the season undefeated if the Wolverines had just Topping, Shakespeare, Berwanger, Smith, Millner and Beise in the lineup.

"There isn't a man on the Lions squad, as near as I can find out, who doesn't fully appreciate what it means to have four of the best football coaches in the land working with the finest 52 all-around football players in the nation.

"We may get our ears pinned back by the All-Stars, but you have my word, overconfidence will not be one of the reasons for our defeat.

Wickersham Joins Squad.

"I appreciate the overconfidence warnings sent indirectly to me by Coach George Halas of the Bears. He need only to visit our training camp at Cranbrook school to assure himself there is no need to become alarmed over the bugaboo—overconfidence. Every member of the Lions squad appreciates that the team is in for a very rough, tough evening the night of Sept. 1."

Big Harold Wickersham, former Tulsa university half back and reputed to be one of the best blockers ever developed in the southwest, joined the Lions' squad today.

The only absentee in camp from the group signed by the Lions for 1936 is Charley Wasicek, Colgate university tackle. Wasicek, one of the tackles chosen by the fans in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's nation-wide poll, will not report to the Lions until after the New York game.

Two workouts are scheduled for tomorrow to give the squad their first taste of scrimmage on Sunday afternoon.

DONALD BUDGE REACHES FINAL OF RYE TENNIS

Rye, N. Y., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Donald Budge, Oakland, Cal., reached the final round of the eastern grass courts tennis tournament today by defeating Frankie Parker, Milwaukee, Wis., 4-6, 7-5, 6-1, 8-6. The other semi-final match between Robert Riggs, Los Angeles, Cal., and Bryan Grant, Atlanta, will be played tomorrow. The finals are scheduled for Sunday.

The women's singles title match will bring together Helen Pedersen, Stamford, Conn., and Mme. Sylvia Henrotin, Paris, France. Miss Pedersen defeated Mrs. John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, 6-4, 3-6, 6-0, Mme. Henrotin qualified yesterday when she defeated Alice Marble of Palm Springs, Cal.

American Quintet Captures Olympic Basketball Title

BERLIN, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The United States team won the first Olympic basketball championship today by defeating Canada 19 to 8 on a court swept by wind and rain and deep in mud.

Mexico took third place by beating Poland, 26 to 12, and the Philippines took fifth by defeating Uruguay, 33 to 23.

America's team took a 14 to 5 lead in the first half, but had neither the strength nor the speed to do much thereafter. The Canadians' center, Art Chapman, scored the only field goal of the half for his side.

Look Out for Lions' Running Play from Punt Formation

[Head Coach, Chicago Bears.]

Once during the night of Sept. 1 at Soldiers' field the Detroit Lions will go into punt formation and you'll settle back in your seat in the stands or in a chair beside your radio and await the kick and the runback.

This episode will come at a point during the game when a punt is indicated. But the punt won't happen. Instead, Ernie Caddel, the Lions' speed king from Stanford, will swing wide around the All-Americans' right end behind six-man interference.

Warns Against Over-Shift.

This maneuver, as well as other Lions' plays which I have diagrammed in this series, is directed toward the so-called "weak" side. Later I shall sound a warning to the collegiate coaching staf not to over-shift to stop the numerous Lions' plays which attack the weak side. To over-shift against the Detroit team is a form of football suicide. We know!

Returning to the powerful running play from punt formation, diagrammed below, its success is not primarily dependent on the element of surprise. The All-Americans are experienced and will not be easily caught napping on the job. The gain hinges upon split second timing and execution of blocking assignments. Here is the diagram:

Success Depends on Speed.

In this case the Lions again depend upon Caddel's speed. But the All-Americans have speed to burn, too. In discussing the impending game the other day Red Grange, who played against the All-Americans in 1934 and helped coach the Bears in last year's game, summed up the matter of speed in one remark.

"Speaking of the collegians," Red said, "those college kids can really travel. When you see them turn on the speed, gosh, you wonder if you could run like that yourself in your college days."

The record book offers mute evidence that the redhead could turn on the speed in his college days. His record of gaining more than two miles of ground in twenty games for Illinois still stands as a mark for the lads to shoot at.

Speaking of records, the assembly of fifty-five college aces for this game ought to set a new mark of some kind. I believe that the hardiest proponent of college football will concede that this year's squad would not have any serious trouble beating the strongest individual university eleven, with plenty of touchdowns to spare. This would be especially likely since the group is directed by a coaching staf headed by Bernie Bierman, who is aided and abetted by such tacticians as Elmer Layden, Bo McMillen, Lou Little, and Lynn Waldorf. The foregoing gives you a rough idea of what the Detroit Lions will be up against. I believe, however, that they will be able to keep the situation well in hand.

I shall explain in my next article what may happen if the All-Americans over-shift to stop Detroit's powerful thrusts at the weak side.

Look Out for Clark.

Such tactics will bring into action the great Dutch Clark of the Lions, the owner of the "best educated football legs" since Grange was galloping up and down gridirons. Along with this explanation will go my prediction of a severe headache for Dick Smith of Minnesota and his alternates in the position of left tackle for the All-Americans.

All-Stars Begin Practicing on Extra Points

choice, at least for any position except a defense near the goal line, because of the skill of such Detroit stars as Dutch Clark and Glenn Presnell. The Lions possess a punch through the line but it is not emphasized nearly as much as sweeping runs and cut backs of the fast Detroit backs and a pass attack. It is the type of defense used by most professional teams against Detroit except that the pros frequently loosen still more and have more than five secondary defenders on occasion.

Beise, at fullback, and Gomer Jones, center, make a great pair to back up the line not to mention the other husky backs who may be assigned to the same positions.

Milan Creighton, coach of the Chicago Cardinals, and several of his squad, including Dave Cook, of Illinois, a former All-American veteran, watched the afternoon workout yesterday. The Cardinals open their training camp at Benton Harbor, Mich., Monday. Floyd Fitzsimons, who is arranging a game between college stars and the Cardinals for Labor Day, was another visitor at Dyche stadium.

Grange Again to Aid Halas as Bears' Coach

Harold Red Grange, who retired from active competition after the 1934 season to assume the rôle of assistant to Coach George Halas of the Bears yesterday signed for the 1936 season in the same capacity.

It will be the tenth year of service in the National league for Grange. He made his debut before a capacity crowd at Wrigley field on Thanksgiving day, 1925, with the Bears against the Cardinals.

This summer Grange has lived in Wheaton, his home town, where he began his gridiron career as an end on the Wheaton High school team. During his active playing days he set a world record of 33,820 yards gained in 247 games in which he carried the ball, 4,013 times for a lifelong average of 8.4 yards. This includes his high school, University of Illinois, and National league figures, his freshman year at Illinois excepted.

ZALE AND SNYDER TO RACE TONIGHT FOR POINT LEAD

Wally Zale and Jimmy Snyder will stage a private battle for the point standing lead at the Torrence Speedway, 169th street and Torrence avenue, tonight, while a dozen other drivers compete for individual honors in the eight event auto racing program. Racing starts at 8:30 p. m.

Zale and Snyder will devote their efforts to the twenty-five lap main event, the winner of which will capture the championship lead. While Wally and Jimmy are favored, Emil Andres, Pat Warren, Paul Russo, Art Hartsfeld, Ted Tetterton, Duke Nalon, Cletus O'Rourke and Marshall Lewis are capable of winning top honors with a fair share of racing luck.

SHARKEY PLANS EARLY ATTACK IN BOUT WITH LOUIS

Orangeburg, N. Y., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Old Jack Sharkey told today how he expects to lick Joe Louis in the battle of the comebackers in the Yankee stadium, New York, next Tuesday night.

"I'm going in there with the gun and let him have both barrels," he said. "That's all there is to it.

"If I can get in the first lick, I'll win the fight and I'm not kidding when I tell you I mean to get in the first lick. That's my story. Just watch me stick to it Tuesday night."

Sharkey in Good Condition.

There is a feeling here that Louis, who has not been looking so hot at Pompton Lakes, N. J., would welcome a postponement and Jack and his handlers have no idea of agreeing to one, bad eye or no.

Trainer Is Optimistic.

"Sometimes," he said, "we have trouble arousing Sharkey for a fight. But not when he's bleeding. If Louis should happen to open that cut, it will be just too bad for him. Jack will see stars and come up with one of his good fights."

Sharkey will do no more boxing before the fight. Only road work and light exercises are on the program. He weighed 196¾ today.

TEST LOUIS DEFENSE

Pompton Lakes, N. J., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Before only about a dozen newspapermen and no other spectators, Joe Louis took another boxing lesson today in preparation for his comeback bout against Jack Sharkey next Tuesday.

Louis sparred with Paul Cavalier while Trainer Jack Blackburn gave instructions. It was the third lesson this week in teaching Joe how to defend himself against left jabs and right crosses. After coaxing Louis through two lively rounds of shadow boxing, Blackburn sent his charge against Cavalier for six one minute rounds, climbing in and out of the ring to illustrate his instructions.

Seek Old Time Players for Baseball Celebration

Old time major league baseball players will be asked to participate in the 60th anniversary celebration of the National league at Wrigley field Aug. 22. Charles Drake, Chicago Cubs publicity director, yesterday said that former major leaguers desiring to be present at the game should communicate with him at the Wrigley building, Chicago.

Whiskies that state their age in a number of summers (e. g., "7 summers old") indicate the old belief that whiskies aged only during the warm summer months. Nowadays, however, up-to-date distilleries age their whiskies in steam-heated warehouses, allowing Nature to work its wonders all the year around. As a result, whiskies of today are actually more mature at two years than they were in the old days at four.

GRANVILLE TO FACE JINX OF TRAVERS TODAY

Stake Called Graveyard of Favorites.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Granville, the son of Gallant Fox and the brother of Omaha, moves into the graveyard of favorites tomorrow, when he will defend his championship as best of the 3 year olds in the 67th Travers stake. This is the oldest race run in this country, and down its long history form has taken a beating.

In 1930 when Gallant Fox was champion, he lost in the mud to Jim Dandy, a 100 to 1 shot. Omaha went wrong last year working for the famous mile and quarter test which has a guaranteed value of $20,000,—and farther back Reigh Count and Victorian followed Petee-Wrack to the wire.

Has Running Mate.

Granville is owned by William Woodward, and will run coupled in the betting with Ogden Phipps' White Cockade, the Withers winner. Only five have been entered, and the entry looms as a very short priced favorite. Yet it will occasion no surprise if the champion is beaten.

The one most considered to have the power to do this is White Cockade, stablemate to Granville.

The other three are Mrs. Payne Whitney's Memory Book, which did so well back of Granville in the Kenner, and the Warren Wright entry of Sun Teddy and Count Morse.

Run Spinaway Stakes.

As a secondary feature the Spinaway, for juvenile fillies is carded. Thirteen have been entered for the six furlong dash for about $9,000, and the Schuylerville winner, Maecloud is likely to rule the favorite.

For the first time Victory in the Travers will carry with it possession of the Man o' War Gold trophy, captured by the super horse in his match race with Sir Barton at Kenilworth, Canada. Mrs. Samuel D. Riddle will present the cup from her box to the winning owner as she will be unable to go to the judges' stand.

Tries to Cash Fake Winning Ticket; Held

Race track police at Washington Park in charge of Lieut. Edward Kelly arrested John Dilling, 43 years old, of Helena, Mont., yesterday afternoon after he attempted to cash a bogus totalizator betting ticket.

Dilling is reported to have confessed to the track police that he had changed the number on a losing ticket to the number of the winner, Mary Cardinal, in the last race run on Thursday afternoon. It was a $5 ticket. Dilling was attempting to collect $30 for it when apprehended.

Says He Lost Bonus.

Dilling told the police he came to Chicago on June 20 with $400 he received as his soldier's bonus. He admitted playing the horses at Hawthorne, Arlington Park, and Washington Park, where police contend numerous changed tickets similar to that found in his possession were cashed. After a long grilling last night Dilling denied tampering with any ticket except the one he attempted to cash yesterday.

Lieut. Kelly announced that Dilling would be turned over to State's Attorney Courtney's staf this morning.

Cab Driver Also Held.

Arrested with Dilling was Morris Smiley, a taxicab driver of 1230 South Springfield street, who had driven the Montana man from the Fort Dearborn hotel to the track.

Dilling is an oil well engineer and told the police he changed his name from Deragowski to Dilling in 1919 when he located in Montana.

Police allege the total amount of money the tracks have lost this season as a result of cashing bogus tickets amounts to several hundred dollars. Dilling said all the money he had in the world after he arrived from the loop in the taxicab yesterday was $1.50.

Mud Runners at Washington Park Have Their Day

The first good old fasioned gooey, muddy track of the year in Chicago prevailed at Washington Park while yesterday afternoon's racing program was run off. Because most of the horses had not raced in the mud for so many months the handicappers had a rough afternoon of it while trying to pick the winners.

Arthur B. delivered for the players of favorites in the first race under an energetic ride by Jocky Basil James, but for the remainder of the afternoon the public choices did not fare so well.

The best race on the program was the fourth at six furlongs in which Emigrante, a mud running daughter of Epinard-Annabell Lee, moved into the lead on the turn into the stretch and later on fairly ran away and hid from her seven rivals. She had been overlooked by the players and paid off at $15.20. Veeks finished second. The favorite, Headliner, was third.

SHIRLEY B., raced to contention without need of pressure, closed gamely but was no match for the winner. BLACK RIVER forced the pace to the final eighth, then weakened.

EMIGRANTE, superior in the going and displaying good speed throughout, disposed of HI-HUN early, drew out in the stretch and won with plenty left. VEEKS, improved in the going, gained steadily, closed gamely, but could not menace the winner. HEADLINER, slow to get going and far out in the track from the start, closed with good courage, but was never dangerous.

HIGH MAN, favored by the going, was taken in hand for the early racing and kept on the inside throughout, was lucky to get through in the stretch, overhauled CELIBA, then drew away slowly. Latter rushed to command early, was steadied while setting the pace, offered good contention while giving way and held on gamely thereafter. HARRY RICHMAN attained a forward position early, was kept well up under occasional pressure, but faltered near the end.

CORUM, a strong factor from the start and apparently suited by the going, was kept well up under pressure, took command in the stretch, and held sway to the end. IMPERIAL EBEE lost much ground by racing wide, closed gamely and finished strong. OUR BUD, rushed to contention early, dropped back on the turn, came again, but weakened after offering a bid in the stretch.

FIRST PIGEON, favored by the going, moved up stoutly after half a mile, took command in the stretch, then drew out to win cantering. STEALING AWAY, a strong factor throughout, set the pace to the final eighth, gave way to the winner then just lasted to outfinish BRILLIANT ROSE. Latter, away in stride, dropped far back, was taken to the inside while gaining, closed resolutely and probably would have been second in another stride.

SHASTA BROOM, suited by the going, and displaying the most speed throughout, stood a long drive gamely and outfinished BISTRITA. Latter, well up from the start, offered good contention, but was not good enough. MISS GLACE moved up with a rush after half a mile, but was no menace for the first two.

PRIMA COMPANY FILES PETITION TO REORGANIZE

The Prima company, 825 Blackhawk street, manufacturer and distributor of beer, yesterday filed a petition in the United States District court for permission to reorganize under section 77B of the bankruptcy act. The company stated in its petition that it is unable to raise money to meet its obligations, chief of which is a $152,000 note maturity which occurs Sept. 1.

H. F. ERNST.

The company's stock which sold as high as $34.75 a share in 1933 after legalization of beer was quoted yesterday on the Chicago Stock Exchange at $2.12½.

The petition was filed on behalf of the company by the law firm of Chapman and Cutler. It listed total book assets of $3,043,288 and liabilities of $1,070,797.

Asset Value Explained.

The value of the assets listed the petition said, was not the realizable value in a forced liquidation but the value to the company as a going concern.

Assets listed included cash of $9,937; notes and accounts receivable of $159,496; fixed assets of $1,044,223, and stock inventory and containers of $1,213,883.

Liabilities reported included $162,912 of notes and accounts payable; accrued taxes of $75,980, and mortgage notes of $761,400.

The company said that it had been unsuccessful in its efforts to borrow funds to meet its Sept. 1 note maturity and other obligations which fall due within the next six months.

Plant on Northwest Side.

Prima owns the block bounded by Blackhawk, Halsted, Dayton, and Weed streets, on which its six story plant is located, and also a tract of land at 2540 Elston avenue on which there is a three story industrial building.

H. F. Ernst is president of the company. G. C. Skinner is executive vice president. Other officers are F. P. Westelaken, vice president; L. W. Ernst, treasurer, and A. J. Renn, secretary.

The predecessor of the Prima company was organized in 1890 as the Independent Brewing association. The present corporate title was adopted in 1923. The company made a public offering of stock in 1933. The last dividend on its preferred stock was paid in October, 1933. One dividend of 50 cents was paid on the common stock in July, 1933.

COTTON OFF 18-22 POINTS; REPORT LIVERPOOL SELLING

Hedging pressure and liquidation of holdings of cotton futures attributed to Liverpool more than offset reports of continued deterioration in the Oklahoma and Texas crops due to excessively hot weather. At no time were prices as high as Thursday's finish and closing trades were at the bottom with losses of 18 to 21 points in Chicago and other markets declined 18 to 22 points. [A point is equal to 1-100 cent per pound or 5 cents per bale.]

Spot cotton closed 20 points lower with New Orleans, Galveston, and Houston 12.20 cents and New York at 12.40 cents per pound. Prices follow:

BANK RESERVE INCREASE WILL BE MADE TODAY

But Action Causes Little Stir.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Today the federal reserve board's order increasing by 50 per cent the amount of reserves which commercial banks belonging to the reserve system must pledge with the reserve banks as security for their deposits goes into effect, but the widely publicized move has created so little stir in financial circles that most bankers will know of the change only through what they read in the newspapers.

Yesterday member banks of the reserve system had approximately 6 billion 100 million dollars of unemployed funds lying sterile in the twelve reserve banks. Of this amount about 3 billions were funds required by law to be pledged with the "fed" banks and the remaining 3 billion 100 millions were "excess" reserves.

Increases Pledged Reserves.

Today about a billion and a half of the "excess" reserves will be added to the specifically pledged reserves required by law. The figures vary from day to day, but when the additional reserves have been set aside to conform with the reserve board's order boosting reserves 50 per cent it is estimated that "excess" reserves—that is, idle bank funds neither employed nor legally pledged at the twelve reserve banks—will still amount to 1 billion 600 million or 1 billion 700 million dollars—possibly a little more.

When American bankers come down to work today, therefore, they will find that overnight the amount of "loose" bank funds has been reduced from about 3 billion 100 million dollars to approximately 1 billion 700 million dollars. They will not worry about this "momentous" change, however, because they are firmly convinced that it doesn't mean anything.

No demand for Idle Money.

In the first place, there is no apparent demand on the part of borrowers for the vast stocks of idle commercial bank funds that have been lying in the reserve banks for several years. The reduction in the amount of such funds available for lending, therefore, will mean no deprivation either for the bankers or potential borrowers.

Second, none of the banks affected will find difficulty in providing the money to meet the new requirement. In a few isolated cases individual banks were a little shy on cash, but they promptly obtained the money by sale of assets—chiefly government bonds. The fact that government bond quotations have been rising to new peaks consistently during the last week discloses that there has been little such forced liquidation.

Robbed of Significance.

The fact that the federal reserve board dared not do a complete job and raise the required legal reserves of banks high enough to eliminate "excess" reserves entirely robs its move of any significance—except a probable political one. Today, even after the boost in reserve requirements, the commercial member banks of the reserve system still have enough idle, unpledged cash to form the basis for a 13 billion 600 million dollar expansion of bank credit. Fear of such expansion was the reason given by the reserve board a month ago when it announced the increase in reserve requirements.

Chicago bankers are firmly convinced that the reserve board made the move in an attempt to mollify critics who were pointing out that the board lacked the courage to attempt to control the money situation. The board's action has not quieted this criticism.

View of Bankers.

Bankers point out that any action the reserve bank may try to take to forestall inflation is bound to be futile as long as the government continues to spend billions in excess of its revenues, borrowing from the banks to cover its deficits. Government borrowing from the banks does not increase excess reserves, but it inflates bank deposits.

Meanwhile, excess reserves are being pushed up again by further imports of gold from abroad and by treasury issuance of silver certificates against silver bought under the provisions of the silver purchase act put through congress two years ago.

RISE OF ONE PCT. IN COMMODITIES SHOWN BY INDEX

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(AP)—An increase of 1 per cent in wholesale commodity prices last week was reported today by the labor department. The department attributed the advance largely to sharp increases in farm products and food prices.

The price level as a whole was 8.1 per cent of the 1926 average, compared with 80.3 per cent in the week ended Aug. 1 and 80.1 per cent in the corresponding week last year.

Farm products increased from 81.5 to 83.2 for the week and foods advanced from 81.0 to 82.9 per cent.

Consumers Company's Plan Hearing Delayed to Sept. 2

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward Thursday continued to Sept. 2 the hearing on approval of the reorganization plan of the Consumers company, Chicago, under section 77B of the bankruptcy law. The hearing will be before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, who is now on vacation. Attorney Francis M. King, counsel for the trustees, reported that the required number of consents to the plan will be filed by that time.

Foreman Bank Officials Sued for $880,000

A suit to collect $880,000 from 32 former directors and officials of the Foreman - State National bank was filed in federal court here yesterday on behalf of Patrick J. Falvey, Glidden, Ia., a stockholder of the Foreman institution, which was taken over by the First National bank in 1931. The two banks also were made defendants in the suit.

W. W. HEAD.

The basis for the suit is an alleged wrongful and illegal cancelation of a note for $880,000 which was given by four of the defendants: Walter W. Head, now of St. Louis and then president of the State Bank of Chicago; Oscar H. Haugan, Chicago, chairman of the State bank; Walter C. Cox, Kenilworth, executive vice president of the State bank, and C. Edward Carlson, Winnetka, vice president of the State bank.

Transaction Described.

The bill charges that the four men withdrew $880,000 from the State Bank of Chicago between Nov. 1 and Dec. 14, 1929, and that "some or all" of them executed a promissory note for that amount.

At about this time, the complaint continues, the note was turned over to the Haugan State bank in connection with a merger of the state bank and it. Almost immediately, the note was passed on to the Foreman institution which absorbed the other two banks.

On Dec. 13, 1929, the bill alleges, the note was canceled by a resolution adopted by the Foreman directors and the note characterized as "utterly worthless and uncollectible." In contrast, the bill asserts that each of the four men was solvent and financially able to pay the note at that time.

"They designed, purposed, and intended that neither the sum of $880,000 nor any part thereof, nor interest thereon, nor any part of interest, should thereafter be repaid by any person whomsoever or in any manner whatsoever to the State Bank of Chicago or any successor," the complaint charges.

Charge Writeoff Concealed.

The complaint says the note was written off by a charge against the "contingent reserves" account of the bank so that the "true nature of the transaction should be concealed from the Foreman bank, national bank examiners, the controler of the currency, and the internal revenue department."

Others named as defendants, all former officials or directors of the Foreman bank: Albert I. Appleton, Joseph Wallace Cremin, William C. Cummings, Edward J. Engel, Alfred K. Foreman, Edwin G. Foreman Jr., Gerhard Foreman, Harold E. Foreman, Leroy A. Goddard, John M. Hancock, John Hertz, Ralph J. Hines, Willard Wright Jaques, Byron V. Kanaley, Waddill Katchings, Albert D. Lasker, Oscar G. Mayer, Charles A. McCulloch, George R. Meyercord, Carl Nyquist, William A. Peterson, Samuel Phillipson, Marvin B. Pool, Emil G. Seip, William Edwin Stanley, John R. Thompson, Percival W. Trudeau, and Philip K. Wrigley.

Accounting Is Asked.

The bill of complaint asks an accounting primarily from Carlson, Head, Haugan, and Cox. It seeks a decree directing payment of the $880,000 by the various defendants, and appointment of a receiver to collect the money.

The $880,000 should be paid over to the First National, which assumed the Foreman bank's deposit liabilities, and any liability of stockholders should be reduced by that amount, the bill sets forth.

An unconfirmed report yesterday said that the $880,000 was given to Head, Haugan, Cox, and Carlson as a special bonus in connection with the merger of the State and Foreman banks.

Continue Removal Hearing for Chicagoans in Oil Case

Removal proceedings against nine Chicagoans for trial at Madison, Wis., on charges of violating the Sherman anti-trust laws in connection with the purchase and sale of oil, were continued until Sept. 18 by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday. Attorneys for the defendants requested the continuance in order to study the indictments. Edward G. Seubert, president of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, and Henry M. Dawes, president of the Pure Oil company, are among the defendants.

PENNSY CUTS DINER RATES IN EFFORT TO AVOID OVERCROWDING

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—An experiment to determine whether overcrowding and consequent waiting in line by dining car patrons may be reduced is under way on the Pennsylvania railroad, it developed today.

The experiment consists in encouraging passengers to use dining cars either before or after the recognized times for meals.

Passengers in Pennsylvania coaches are offered reduced prices for meals if they are willing to eat breakfast before 7 a. m., to lunch before 11 a. m. or after 2 p. m. and to dine before 5 or after 8 p. m. The passengers are informed of the reduced rates in leaflets distributed by train crews. Although results are described as not conclusive, indications are that, not only is overcrowding in the dining cars reduced by this arrangement but business is increased.

GRAINS DECLINE; RAIN RECEIVED IN CORN BELT

Final Prices Near Lows for Day.

Lower prices prevailed for grains on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday. Corn was adversely affected by rains in parts of Iowa, Illinois and Indiana. As many operators who had fair profits lightened their holdings.

Highest prices of the day were made at the opening. The close was near the lowest levels of the day. Wheat lost 1¾ cents net, corn dipped 1⅛ to 1¾ cents with the new crop December and May deliveries the greatest loss, and oats eased as much as a cent. Rye showed relative strength due to spreading operations with wheat. Feed barley futures closed nominally unchanged.

Cash Corn at New High.

A new high level for corn was recorded in the cash market on the board of trade. No. 2 white corn in carlots sold at $1.26½ per bushel, or 1½ cent above the highest figure Thursday and the best price since early 1925. No. 2 yellow soy beans rose ½ cent to $1.41 to $1.41½ per bushel, a new high for several years.

Rains in the corn belt were sufficiently heavy to eliminate fears of additional drouth damage, but the precipitation was spotted. Heaviest rains fell in northern Illinois where the outlook for the crop is said to be the best in the state. As much as 3½ inches of rain was said to have fallen in Illinois and 2¾ inches in north central Iowa.

Country offerings of cash corn were somewhat larger due to better weather conditions. Purchases of 133,000 bushels were made yesterday for deferred shipment to Chicago. Commercial sales were 100,000 bushels.

Compare Closing Prices.

	Yesterday.	Thursday.	Week ago.	Month ago.
Wheat	$1.10⅝	$1.12	$1.10¾	$1.05
Corn	1.07⅝	1.08¾	1.01½	.89⅞
Oats	.42¼	.43¼	.40⅞	.39¼
Rye	.80⅝	.81	.79⅝	.72¼

Reports indicating production of wheat in the three western Canadian provinces might be considerably in excess of recent expectations caused a decline in that grain in Winnipeg. Losses ranged as high as 2½ cents with hedging pressure increasing toward the close. Deliveries of wheat at interior points in the prairie provinces are now running around 2,000,000 bushels daily. Liverpool gained a fraction due to continued wet weather on the continent.

A sale of 40,000 bushels of hard winter wheat was reported at Omaha yesterday for shipment to Wichita, Kas. New York received 20,000 bushels of Argentine oats.

Argentina Plants More Wheat.

Drouth and greatly reduced production of wheat in North America, with a consequent advance in the world price level, have materially increased the acreage seeded in Argentina this season. It was reported yesterday that approximately 18,500,000 acres will be planted to wheat in that country for this year's harvest. This compares with 14,200,000 acres last year and a five year average of 19,200,000 acres. Seeding is still under way. During the last week Argentina exported 1,669,000 bushels of corn to the United States, 268,000 bushels to Canada, and 343,000 bushels to Japan.

The Canadian wheat board was reported yesterday to have liquidated the last of its holdings of cash wheat. It is estimated the board still holds between 50,000,000 and 80,000,000 bushels of wheat futures.

PACIFIC MUTUAL COMMITTEE HERE IS DISSOLVED

Dissolution of the protective committee for Chicagoans holding noncancelable accident and health insurance policies in the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance company was announced yesterday by Richard A. Pick, 1 North La Salle street, who was secretary of the committee.

Pick explained the dissolution is due to the action of a Los Angeles court Thursday in reopening the entire reorganization case after it was found the presiding judge was a life insurance policyholder in the company, and also because of "disappointing response" and "apparent lack of coöperation" from policyholders here in supporting the protective committee.

Early this week the proposed chairman for the committee, Heman T. Powers, estate counselor, declined to serve because of the interest of clients in both life insurance and the noncancelable contracts of Pacific Mutual. The committee was to have opposed a reduction in benefits to health and accident policyholders, while life insurance payments were to be made in full.

COUNTY DROPS PLAN TO REFUND RFC HELD BONDS

After a conference yesterday of Cook county board members it was announced that no further action will be taken at the present to refund the $12,253,000 of county poor relief bonds held by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The RFC declined to turn in its bonds on the $47,000,000 refunding program carried out earlier this year by the county. A bill now pending in congress would cancel the $12,253,000 poor relief bonds and shift the cost of the expenditure from the county to the federal government.

Wheat Supply Adequate, Says Report of U.S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Total supplies of wheat in the United States for the 1936-'37 season are large enough for usual domestic requirements, but the supply of red spring wheat and durum is short, the bureau of agricultural economics reported today in its annual midsummer wheat outlook statement.

As a result importation of red spring wheat and durum will continue. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace at a press conference yesterday admitted wheat importations will continue, but insisted the amount of importation will not be large.

However, imports of milling wheat may be less than last year. Reduced production of hard red spring wheat and durum is due to the drouth, which has reached its greatest intensity in the spring wheat area. The domestic winter wheat crop is materially larger than in 1935 and is of good quality. Good yields also are in prospect in the Pacific northwest.

May Use More Red Wheat.

"It is probable that spring wheat mills in the 1936-'37 season will use a larger percentage of hard red winter and Pacific northwest wheat than last year," said the report. "A larger than usual quantity of soft red winter wheat is also likely to be used in bread flour. As a result, imports of milling wheat may be less than in 1935."

Wheat prices in the United States may be expected to average about as high relative to world price levels as during the 1935-'36 season, when the price of No. 2 hard winter at Kansas City was 15 cents over Liverpool, the bureau said. During the last three years short crops together with other influences resulted in wheat prices in the United States being maintained unusually high relative to the world market price.

Low Yields Boost Prices.

"Farm prices probably have been 20 cents to 30 cents higher than might have been expected with more nearly normal yields in the United States," the report continued. "A return of average or greater than average yields in the United States would result in an export surplus and prices would adjust toward an export basis.

"The acreage seeded for the 1936 crop, 74,000,000 acres, was the second largest in history, and seedings as large for the 1937 crop would produce fully enough wheat for total domestic utilization even if yields should turn out to be one-fourth below average."

Wheat production this year in this country, as of Aug. 1, was estimated at 632,745,000 bushels, which is somewhat below the domestic utilization of the last two years for feed, seed, and food, but above the five year [1923-'27] average. The carryover this year as of July 1 was about 150,000,000 bushels, indicating total supplies for the current crop year of 783,000,000 bushels. In 1935-'36 domestic disappearance amounted to 655,000,000 bushels and in 1934-'35 to 661,000,000 bushels, while the five year average was 620,000,000 bushels.

SPIEGEL, MAY, STERN TO BUILD $250,000 ADDITION TO OFFICE

Work will start next Monday on a $250,000 two story reinforced concrete addition to the present six story office building of Spiegel, May, Stern Co., Inc., at 1040 West 35th street. The addition east of the present building will have a frontage of 325 feet and will have foundations capable of carrying four additional stories, according to M. J. Spiegel Jr., vice president and general manager. It will double the present office capacity of the company. The site was purchased from the Weeks estate.

This marks another step in the expansion of the company's properties, made necessary by a rapid growth in business, which this year will establish a new high record, Spiegel said. In the first seven months of 1936, the company had sales amounting to $20,234,500, compared with $16,707,424 in the corresponding period of 1935, an increase of 21.1 per cent. Heretofore, the best year in the company's history was 1935, with net sales of $34,001,694.

FREIGHT TRAFIC DIPS FROM '36 PEAK, BUT IS FAR ABOVE YEAR AGO

Following the preceding week's expansion which sent freight trafic of American railroads to the highest level since October, 1931, car loadings in the week ended last Saturday decreased 19,258 cars, or 2.6 per cent, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. The total trafic of 728,293 cars failed by less than 1 per cent to equal the 1931 level.

However, the movement represented a gain of 146,216 cars, or 25.1 per cent over a year ago, and a gain of 124,325 cars, or 20.6 per cent, over two years ago.

The interstate commerce commission yesterday reported that net railway operating income of 144 railroads in June amounted to $50,312,581, against $34,102,703 in June, 1935. More recent figures of individual roads have shown similar improvement.

LIFE INSURANCE 7 MONTH SALES DIP 4.3 PER CENT

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—New life insurance sales in the first seven months of 1936 was 4.3 per cent below those of the corresponding period of last year, according to a report made today by the Association of Life Insurance Presidents to the United States department of commerce. In July, production was 16.8 per cent less than in July, 1935.

The report summarizes the new paid for business, exclusive of revivals, increases, and dividend additions, of 40 companies having 83 per cent of the total life insurance outstanding in all United States legal reserve companies.

Total new business for the seven months was $5,117,382,000, against $5,348,860,000 in the first seven months of 1935. New ordinary life insurance was $3,191,694,000, against $3,302,207,000, a decrease of 5.6 per cent. Industrial insurance was $1,580,235,000, against $1,493,461,000, an increase of 5.8 per cent. Group insurance was $345,453,000, against $473,192,000, a decline of 27 per cent.

For July, new business was $748,389,000, against $899,595,000, a decrease of 16.8 per cent. New ordinary insurance was $448,394,000, against $428,548,000, a gain of 4.6 per cent.

SPANISH WAR CUTS OFF OLIVE OIL SUPPLIES

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Olive oil importations from Spain—the source of half the world's supply—have been cut off during the last two weeks because of the Spanish civil war, and prices here have risen 20 to 40 per cent, a survey disclosed today.

Many importers reported they had orders on file in Spain, but commercial communication between Spain and the United States has been of such a low order that it is not known whether any of these orders have been put afloat.

Olive oil now coming into the country is from Italy, Greece, and Tunis. The wholesale market in the oil is demoralized, but quotations in general range between $2 and $2.25 a gallon against an average price of $1.40 to $1.50 a gallon a month ago.

BROKER LOSES $4,500,000 SUIT, BUT GETS CIGAR

New York, Aug. 14.—Gene McCann, broker who has been trying since 1933 to collect $4,500,000 damages from the New York Stock exchange, curb exchange, Better Business bureau, and 700 individuals and brokerage firms, won his first material reward today. Federal Judge Leibell gave him a cigar.

McCann, whose suit was thrown out of court last March, applied to Judge Leibell for a writ of mandamus empowering him to examine records of the case. He said he had no funds to pay a court stenographer for a transcription. The judge smiled, reversed the decision, and handed over the stogie.

Export Copper Soars to Best Price Since '31

European demand for American copper, expanding broadly during the last few days, yesterday boosted the price of export copper at New York 2½ points to 9.75 cents a pound, c. i. f., European base ports of Havre, Amsterdam, and Liverpool. This was the highest level since May, 1931.

The rise in the price to an equivalent with the domestic quotation foreshadowed an advance in this country. Usually the domestic price is 25 points above the export quotation.

The domestic copper price was lifted ¼ cent to 9.75 cents a pound a few weeks ago. That increase was preceded by the biggest buying movement in the history of the industry.

Sales Largest This Month.

Trade circles reported that sales in the domestic market Thursday were by far the largest for any day this month and the best since July 22, just before the latest increase in prices. Thursday's total was estimated in New York at 3,275 tons, compared with 851 tons Wednesday and 2,132 tons Tuesday.

Stocks of both domestic and foreign metal at the end of July stood at 432,322 tons, a decline of 26,596 from the preceding month, while stocks in the United States fell to 218,705 tons, the lowest level in two years, from 228,817 tons in June.

Consumption Increases.

World consumption in July totaled 146,042 tons. Domestic consumption amounted to 59,807 tons, compared with 57,149 tons a month earlier. Foreign consumption at 86,235 tons compared with 57,149 tons a month earlier. Foreign consumption at 86,235 tons compared with 85,141 tons in June.

With consumption continuing at the current rate, it is estimated that domestic stocks of refined metal are barely sufficient for four months' supply.

Several explanations of the new expansion of foreign copper buying are current, but use of the metal in manufacturing munitions and many war materials is the one most often heard.

Domestic demand, coming chiefly from the electrical transmission industry, but spreading throughout all industry, was thought to have been influenced by the talk of another price boost.

Consol. Oil Nets 7 Million in 6 Months

Consolidate Oil corporation yesterday reported a net profit of $7,029,374, equal to 49 cents a share, for the six months ended June 30, compared with earnings of $14,956,118, or 74 cents a share, for the full year 1935. No comparable figures of six months' earnings a year ago are available.

H. F. SINCLAIR.

H. F. Sinclair, president, said that with the declaration of the common dividend, payable Aug. 15, the board of directors inaugurated a policy of quarterly payments in place of interim disbursements. He said it is planned to declare extras in addition to the quarterly 15 cents a share when earnings justify. Subsequent common dividends will be payable on the fifteenth of November, February, May and August.

Columbia Gas Earns More.

The Columbia Gas and Electric corporation and subsidiaries reported a consolidated net income of $12,945,118 for the twelve months ended June 30, equal after preferred dividends to 51 cents a share on the common stock. This compared with $9,957,310, or 26 cents a share, for the preceding twelve months.

For the June quarter net income was $2,349,976, or more than 5 cents a share on the common stock, against $2,635,346, or 8 cents a share, in the 1935 period. For six months ended June 30 net profit was $8,717,755, or less than 45 cents a common share, against $7,716,964, or 36 cents a share, in the first half of 1935.

Union Pacific Railroad system reported a decline in earnings for the first half of this year. Net income of $2,976,519, or 44 cents a common share after preferred dividends, for the first six months, compared with $3,573,848, or 71 cents a share, a year ago.

Central Airlines, Inc., reported net profits of $9,867 for the first seven months of 1936, against a loss of $78,036 in the like period of 1935.

Remington Rand Profit Sags.

Remington Rand, Inc., reported for the quarter ended June 30 consolidated net income of $443,959, equal after preferred dividend requirements to 24 cents a share on the common, against $478,704, or 26 cents a share, in the 1935 June quarter.

American Cyanamid company had net income of $1,708,003 for the six months ended June 30, equivalent to 68 cents a share on the common, against $1,493,680, or 59 cents a share, in the like period last year.

Life Savers corporation and subsidiaries reported second quarter earnings of $271,682, equal to 77 cents a share, compared with $154,498, or 44 cents a share, in the preceding quarter, and $253,751, or 72 cents a share, in the like quarter of 1935. In the first six months of this year the company earned $426,180, or $1.21 a share, against $414,922, or $1.18 a share, in the first half of last year.

Julius Kayser & Co. and wholly owned subsidiaries reported net income of $645,842 for the fiscal year ended June 30, equal after dividends on the employés' preferred stock to $1.51 a share on the common. This compared with $408,085, or 93 cents a common share, in the preceding year.

Great Western Hauls 1,119 Truck Trailers Since July 7

The Chicago Great Western railroad hauled 948 loaded and 171 empty truck trailers over its line between Chicago and St. Paul in the period from July 7, when the service began, to Aug. 12, B. F. Parsons, trafic manager of the road, announced yesterday. The trailers carried about 16,000,000 pounds of merchandise, bringing the carrier $41,775 in revenue, he said.

STOCKS SLUMP IN FINAL HOUR SELLING WAVE

All Groups Suffer Sizable Loss.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—After moving about irregularly for the greater part of the session, the stock market turned downward in decisive fashion in the final hour today, causing losses of 1 to 2 points in the general list and as much as 7 in some of the more volatile issues. Closing prices were near their lowest levels of the day.

Volume increased as prices slumped, which appeared to encourage the bearish contingent. Total sales for the session amounted to 1,070,640 shares.

Many speculators were reported to be safely entrenched on the side lines awaiting the passing of the current phase of readjustment. Week-end profit taking also contributed to the decline.

Trade Reports Favorable.

Industrial and business reports continued favorable and forecasts on third quarter prospects were bullish.

The decline was uniform, with practically no group being able to resist the trend. Rails softened considerably and were among the first to turn downward.

Declines of 1 to 4 points were recorded for the group in spite of the increase in car loadings last week. Union Pacific was weakest, closing 4½ points under the previous day's price. Other rails to lose a point or more included Atchison, New York Central, Great Northern, Delaware and Hudson, and Southern Pacific.

Farm implement shares had a bad day. The volatile Case was charged with a loss of 7 points after being down 9 at one time. Deere lost 3½ and Harvester was hammered down 2. Sears-Roebuck weakened 2⅛ points, and Montgomery Ward closed unchanged. Continental Can and American Can each lost in excess of a point.

Steel Issues Weak.

Some of the steel preferred stocks, including Gulf States and Sloss-Sheffield, reached new high prices, but the common issues averaged losses of around a point.

Chrysler declined 2¼ and General Motors receded more than a point on reports of further curtailment of auto production. United States Smelting and American Smelting each moved more than a point lower in the silver section.

Eastman Kodak, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, Western Union, Columbia Carbon, Greyhound, Johns-Manville, and du Pont sustained losses running to 4 points.

AUTO OUTPUT FALLS, BUT RISE IS PREDICTED

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Ward's Reports, Inc., estimated today that output of the motorcar factories this week would total 55,329 units, compared with 84,153 assemblies last week and 60,470 in the corresponding week of 1935. The survey said that steel and accessory commitments for 1937 models are considerably larger than they were a year ago, and predicted that "the new model year will start off at a rapid production pace."

Cram's Reports estimated this week's output at 56,679 cars and trucks, compared with 81,704 last week and 56,386 for the corresponding week a year ago.

Both agencies predicted an upturn next week with the resumption of production by Ford.

AMERICAN HAIR PLAN IS FRAUD, SAYS MINORITY

Seeks to Enjoin Calling of Common Stock.

The breach between the management of the American Hair and Felt company, Chicago, and some of its minority common stockholders widened yesterday as the stockholders filed an amended bill before Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward for an injunction to restrain the company from calling its common stock at $5 a share, and the company issued a statement assailing charges made by the stockholders' protective committee.

The bill for an injunction charges the plan to call the stock and reissue it to tanners would violate an injunction issued by Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley in 1927 enjoining the company, then known as the Tanners Products company, from acquiring cattle and calf hair from tanners under a so-called "contributing stock plan," which was held to be in violation of the anti-trust laws.

Charges Trust Law Violation.

The bill charges similar violation of the anti-trust laws and says that calling of the stock and reissuance to tanners would constitute a fraud upon the minority stockholders. It is charged also that the book value for liquidation is greatly in excess of $5 a share.

Attorneys for the company asked the court to refuse to hear a stockholder motion on the bill on the grounds that it concerns the inner workings of a company incorporated in Delaware, and that jurisdiction belongs there. Judge Woodward continued hearings on both motions to Sept. 24.

Calling of the stock has been authorized by majority stockholders of the company, who are tanning interests supplying the company with hair. It is proposed that the stock be reissued to the tanners in proportion to their sales of hair to the company with payment in hair, if desired. Minority stockholders have protested that they wish to retain interest in what they regard a profitable business.

Reply of Company.

Replying to certain charges made by the protective committee headed by William Harsin of Harsin, Roberts & Co., brokers, the hair company said:

"The company has made every effort to warn both stock traders and the public that this stock was a special stock and subject to call and redemption. The recent trading in the stock, however, has been in defiance of that warning. The company, however, has gone at least as far, and we believe possibly farther, than any other company in its attempt to prevent the sale of its stock at prices in excess of the call price. The book value of this stock on June 30, 1936, on a consolidated basis, was a deficit of approximately 4 cents per share. The call is made at $5 a share."

BUTTER DIPS ON SELLING INDUCED BY RAIN REPORTS

Selling of butter, induced by rains over part of the leading producing sections and the forecast for more rain, carried November contracts ½ cent lower on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. The close was 34⅞ cents per pound, a new low on the current downturn. Spot butter was ¼ to ½ cent lower. Sales of futures aggregated 72 cars.

Midwest collections of eggs during the week ended Aug. 8 were 28 per cent less than during the corresponding period last year. With continued heavy marketing of poultry this led to fair buying of October eggs early. An upturn of ¼ cent was wiped out later due to profit taking. Closing trades were unchanged at 26⅜ cent per dozen. Sales were 87 cars.

A sharp decrease in egg production because of the drouth, was noted by the agriculture department, which said production per 100 hens was 35.8 eggs on Aug. 1 compared with 39.2 eggs a years ago.

Potatoes were unsettled, and closed 4 cents lower to 4 cents higher with January at $2.65 per 100 pounds. Sales were 7 cars. Prices follow:

DISTANT LARD DELIVERIES ADVANCE TO A NEW HIGH

Continued strength in the hog market led to a resumption of eastern buying of lard futures yesterday. Distant deliveries advanced to a new high for the season and showed an upturn of over ¾ cent per pound from the low point of Monday. The late reaction in corn brought in profit taking and also pressure from trade interests and the close was 2½ cents higher to 2½ cents lower. Clear bellies [salt pork] closed 7½ to 12½ cents lower. Cash lard was quoted at $12.25; loose, $11.55; leaf, $11.25, and clear bellies at $13.50 per 100 pounds. Prices per 100 pounds follow:

SUGAR

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was steady today at the advance of 5 points in spots established late yesterday when 28,000 bags of Porto Ricos sold to a local refiner for August shipment at 3.70c per lb. Further interest was noted today at this price and additional sales of 6,000 bags of Porto Ricos for August shipments and 18,000 bags of Cubas for September shipment were confirmed. Futures advanced 1 to 2 points early on further covering by trade interests, against sales in the outside market, but reacted later under liquidation and hedge selling. All the upturn was lost and final prices were unchanged to 2 points net lower. The volume of business was small, with sales of only 2,300 tons.

UTILITIES SWELL STATE SALES TAX BY 1½ MILLIONS

Year's Total Collections $73,120,342.

K. L. Ames Jr., director of the Illinois department of finance, reported yesterday that the state collected $6,675,317 on the 3 per cent tax on public utility sales in the period from Aug. 15, 1935, when the levy went into effect, to July 31, 1936. These collections were not included in the figures reported by Ames 10 days ago on collections under the 3 per cent retailers' occupational [sales] tax.

Total collections from retailers for the year ended July 31 were $66,445,036. Combined collections from retailers and public utility companies were $73,120,342.

List Monthly Collections.

August	$ 321,881.58
September	481,685.81
October	541,147.62
November	560,615.53
December	592,752.51
January	609,524.37
February	647,695.11
March	610,497.84
April	603,200.01
May	593,091.81
June	578,369.85
July	535,910.03
Total	$6,675,316.86

Of the total collected approximately $2,520,000 has been paid under protest. The protest payments have been made principally by the Illinois Bell Telephone company. The department has ruled that the company is not entitled to exemption on certain types of sales which the law extends to other utilities.

Sales of gas, electricity and water utility companies to "industrial" users are not subject to the tax. The telephone company is claiming a similar exemption and pending settlement of the dispute has paid part of its tax under protest.

Segregation Confusing.

Segregation of the sales tax receipts by the finance department has led to considerable confusion and has tended to minimize the amount collected. Ames defended the practice of segregation by saying that the retailers' tax and the utility tax are separate enactments of the legislature.

Heretofore the state treasurer has shown the combined collections under both taxes in his monthly report, while the finance department was reporting the retailers' tax separately. Ames said yesterday the state treasurer has agreed to segregate the two in future reports in accordance with the practice of the finance department.

Where Is the Home You Would Like to Buy?

One of the best ways to locate the home you want or, for that matter, any kind of property, is to check the offerings in the real estate columns of the Tribune want ad section.

The Tribune carries more real estate want advertising than any other Chicago newspaper. During the first seven months of 1936 the Tribune printed 50.23% more advertising in this classification than it did during the same period last year.

TRUST LOSES $202,000 BUYING FROM 'SPONSOR'

Assets Fall from Eight to Two Millions.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—The securities commission investment trust investigation turned today to a deal by which Chain and General Equities, Inc., a Boston trust, lost $202,000 on a purchase from its "sponsor."

David Schenker, commission counsel, asserted that Chain and General assets tobogganed from $8,000,000 in 1929 to a net market value of $2,000,000 in 1931. He questioned Paul Childs, former Chain and General president, regarding a deal under which Schenker said the trust lost $202,000 in a $400,000 purchase of stock from Childs, Jefferies, and Thorndike of Boston.

Schenker said that this firm, of which Childs was a member, organized Chain and General and asserted that in the stock transaction the trust was "dealing with its sponsors."

Childs agreed this was true, but added that Chain and General had purchased the stock voluntarily after being informed it was available. The stock was in Chain Store Funds, Inc., another company organized by Childs, Jefferies, and Thordike.

Later Schenker called William Michels and E. B. Wariner, both of New York, former Chain and General directors, for questioning about an investment trust transaction through which the attorney said Wallace Groves, New York and Baltimore financier, made a $360,000 profit in 1931.

Price Declared "Fair."

Previous testimony had been that Groves acquired a block of stock in Interstate Equities, Inc., of New York for $940,000, gained control of Chain and General, and disposed of his interstate holdings to the latter trust for $1,300,000.

Both Nichols and Wariner expressed the view that Chain and General paid a "fair price" for the stock, the former saying that if confronted with a similar offer again he probably would take it.

Hearings in the investigation were adjourned subject to call.

The closing price of the franc in New York was 6.58½ cents, unchanged from Thursday. Dutch guilders rose 2 points to 67.91 cents, Swiss francs 1 point to 32.60 cents and Belgian belgas ½ point to 16.85½ cents. British pound sterling declined 1-16 cent to $5.02⅜.

U. S. TREASURY LIFTS REPRISAL DUTIES ON GERMAN IMPORTS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The treasury department today announced the withdrawal of all countervailing duties on imports of German goods. The action followed the notice given by Germany that government and private subsidies as a means of boosting trade with the United States have been abandoned.

A note from the German government delivered to the state department yesterday by German Ambassador Hans Luther was understood to be formal notification of action already taken in Berlin some time ago to abolish the use of "aski" marks, barter deals and other methods used n payment of American goods shipped to Germany.

The American countervailing duties imposed because of the German practices and the retaliatory action by Germany had paralyzed trade between the countries.

Elimination of the restrictions will enable Germany to continue to import petroleum from United States. Germany needs the petroleum and big American companies have subsidiaries in the country through which they can invoice shipments of oil without asking payment. The subsidiaries would simply be credited with petroleum and would get inland marks for it. At the same time the United States may continue to buy certain German optical goods, obtainable only in Germany, for which payment must be made with 40-cent marks, the top official rate.

UTILITY WINS SUIT TO ESCAPE CONTROL LAW

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Refusal of United States district attorneys for the two divisions covering New York City to answer injunction proceedings brought by the Consolidated Edison company to evade the terms of the federal holding company law today resulted in the filing of a decree virtually exempting the company from prosecution under the statute.

United States Attorneys Lamar Hardy, of New York, and Leo J. Hickey, of Brooklyn, took so little action in the case that Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey was led to complain.

"When the motion was argued none of the five defendants [all federal officers] concerned appeared either personally or by counsel. "A lawyer in the government service was in the court room at the time. When questioned he replied that he knew nothing of the case, did not desire to be heard, and was present merely as an observer to report what happened."

The ruling by Judge Caffey permanently enjoins Harry Hickey taking any action under the holding company law on the ground that the Edison company is not engaged in interstate commerce. The utility act closes the mails to companies failing to register their stock.

PLAN 10 MILLION SEED CREDIT TO AID DROUTH AREA

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(AP)—A $10,000,000 seed purchase program to help farmers whose grain for next season's planting was destroyed by drouth was framed today by administration officials. Plans for purchasing grain seed through the federal surplus commodities corporation on funds from the farm credit administration were made at a conference this afternoon between F. R. Wilcox, president of the corporation, and W. I. Myers, farm credit governor. Officials said it might not be possible to announce details before Tuesday. The price to farmers would represent the cost to the government plus carrying charges.

Loans averaging between $1.25 and $1.50 a bushel on seed corn were forecast for this year compared with 45 cents and 55 cents on ordinary farm stocks of corn in 1934 and 1935.

NATIONAL BANKS BOOST FEDERAL BOND HOLDINGS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—National banks on June 30 held $8,447,364,000 in direct and fully guaranteed United States government obligations and $1,824,660,000 in long term "governments" maturing after 1949, the treasury announced today. All government obligations held Dec. 31, 1935, by the national banks totaled $7,812,112,000 while the figure on March 4 was $7,785,979,000. Long term obligations held Dec. 31 amounted to $964,876,000 and on March 4, $855,563,000.

It was expected that detailed figures for the national bank call of June 30 would be released within a few days showing all assets and liabilities. A further improvement in the position of national banks was anticipated at the treasury.

July Rural Retail Sales Below June; Over Last Year

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Daily average rural retail sales in July were 17 per cent under June, the commerce department reported today, but 18 per cent above July, 1935, and 51 per cent above July, 1934. In another report, the department said retail sales of 1,206 independent stores in Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin increased 16 per cent in dollar volume for the first six months of this year over the comparable 1935 period.

RETAIL BUYING DIPS, WHOLESALE TRADE EXPANDS

Consumer Purchases Far Above Year Ago.

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Moderate slackening of retail buying, due to exhaustion of summer stocks and the hot weather which deflected interest from early autumn displays, was offset this week in the wholesale markets, where previous gains widened, with more orders coming from some of the drouth districts, Dun & Bradstreet reported today. General industrial operations were steady, the review said.

Even though retail sales were maintained close to the level of 1931, consumer buying was not so brisk as earlier this month. Dwindling stocks of summer merchandise reduced the usual number of clearance sales.

Fur Garments Active.

Sales of fur garments were reported by some retailers as double last year's, and buying this week was substantial in winter cloth coats. School clothing has started to move, and sales of dry goods and groceries increased. The estimated gain of retail sales was 12 to 15 per cent over the corresponding 1935 week.

"Buying at wholesale proceeded well, with trade 'shows' and 'market week' events continuing to attract throngs of merchants to leading wholesale centers," the review said. "Shortened inventories and firm or rising prices are bringing advance commitments two to three weeks earlier than usual. Wholesale volume is estimated 20 to 30 per cent above the corresponding 1935 week.

Industrial Level Steady.

"In the industrial picture, operations remained generally unchanged. Manufacturers of electrical household appliances, heating equipment, paint, construction materials, hardware, and furniture continued at their previous schedules. Factories turning out jewelry, radios, pianos, school supplies, and foodstuffs were forced to advance production to catch up with overdue delivery dates.

"Although 10 to 15 per cent over a year ago, the production of toys was enlarged to meet the further additions to the backlog. The abrupt rise in orders to candy manufacturers was attributed to the higher prices announced as effective in September."

ELECT THREE TRUSTEES FOR AMOSKEAG MFG.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Creditors and bondholders of the Amoskeag Manufacturing company of Manchester, N. H., today elected three trustees, two of whom had been previously appointed by the court to serve temporarily, to liquidate the company.

The trustees, Frederic C. Dumaine Sr., treasurer; Joseph P. Carney, New England manager of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and J. Parker Straw, former superintendent of the company's mills, will be required to furnish bonds of $50,000 each.

Edward R. Hale, counsel for Frederick H. Prince, Boston and Chicago financier and a bondholder in the company, objected to the appointment of Dumaine.

TVA ASKS COURT TO DROP UTILITY INJUNCTION SUIT

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Attorneys for the TVA filed a motion in United States District court today asking that a suit brought against the authority by 19 private power companies operating in the Tennessee valley be dismissed for lack of jurisdiction. The motion said a civil suit against the authority can be brought only in the northern district of Alabama and quoted from the act creating the TVA to support the assertion.

In their original bill the power companies asked for a permanent injunction. This week an amendment was filed allowing the complainants to apply for a temporary injunction against the authority at any time before the hearing. The bill charges that "execution of the program promulgated by the defendants will necessarily and inevitably destroy all or a substantial part of the business and property of each of the complainants."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The bond market relinquished today much of the buoyancy that had characterized the previous two days and gave way to reactionary tendencies, which were most pronounced among the convertible and more sensitive domestic corporation issues.

The remarkable advance in United States gvernment loans was arrested only after seven of those issues had reached new high marks since their dates of issue. The group, however, turned irregular in late dealings and ended the day with small net declines predominating. The trading pace slackened somewhat with sales amounting to $9,114,000, as compared with $11,754,000 Thursday.

Broad Institutional Demand.

The market for treasury bonds has been influenced to a considerable extent by a broad demand on the part of institutional investors, according to some government bond traders. This demand, it is said, is based on the assumption that the treasury will not be in the market for new funds next month but will confine its September financing strictly to a refunding operation. Closing quotations in the federal list today showed gains of one to four thirty-seconds and declines of one to three thirty-seconds of a point.

Although the price averages in the domestic group were only mildly affected the most conspicuous movements today in that section were toward lower levels.

Secondary Rails React.

Secondary railroad liens were reactionary under the leadership of Allegheny corporation bonds, which dropped 1¼ to 2½ points.

Weak spots in the industrial list included Allis Chalmers 4s, American Type Founders 2½-5s, International Cement 4s, Pan-American Petroleum 6s, Penn-Dixie Cement 6s, and Richfield Oil 6s, all of which yielded a point or more.

Public utility bonds remained firm to slightly higher. Strength was shown by Hudson and Manhattan issues, which rose 1½ to 3⅛ points in fairly active trading.

Narrow and mixed price movement ruled throughout the list of foreign dollar obligations today. The group as a whole held firm, with strength in Dominican Republic issues featuring.

Remington Rand, Inc.

Investors' Guide: Will you tell me about Remington Rand?—Z. B.

Answer: Remington Rand, Inc., is one of the largest manufacturers of office equipment in the world. Though products cover nearly every department of the office equipment field, the typewriter division remains the most important source of revenue. It and the filing equipment and cabinet departments normally contribute nearly three-fourths of sales volume.

There are 15 plants in the United States and six abroad. Foreign sales constitute about one-third of total business.

Remington Rand was hard hit by the depression, as business concerns slashed expenditures and bought little new office equipment. Sales in 1933 were down to 35 per cent of their 1929-'30 peak. The earnings record by years ended March 31.

1932	32,247,000	3,036,000*	3.32*

Last year was the best since 1929-'30. In the first quarter of the current fiscal year, ended June 30, 1936, profits were almost nothing because of strikes, but plants are now operating on overtime schedules to fill orders running 35 per cent ahead of last year.

No dividends were paid from the end of 1931 until after a recapitalization was effected July 1, 1935. Dividend arrears of $26.25 a share on the 7 per cent first preferred and $30 a share on the 8 per cent second preferred were wiped out through issuance of 1 share of new $6 preferred, 1 share of 5 per cent $25 par preferred, and half a share of common stock for each old preferred share.

The company's 5½ per cent debentures were replaced this year by a $20,000,000 issue of new 4¼ per cent debentures, with common stock purchase warants attached. Stockholders are to vote Sept. 22 on a plan to replace the present preferred with $4.50 dividend preferred stock, to which will be attached common stock purchase warrants.

Now outstanding are 1,380,000 common shares. Dividends were resumed July 1, 1936, on the common stock by payment of 15 cents cash and 1 per cent in stock.

THREE LARGE THEATER FIRMS REORGANIZED

Bond Interest Cut; New Stock Planned.

BY AL CHASE.

Completion of the reorganization of three large Chicago moving picture theater properties, with bond issues totaling $2,580,300, was announced yesterday by Dayton Keith, chairman of the American Bond and Mortgage company bondholders' committee. New leases for the three—the Granada, the Marbro, and the Broadway Strand—have been made with the present operators, Balaban & Katz.

The reorganization plans, approved by Judge Philip L. Sullivan in the United States District court, provide for new corporations, stock of which goes to the holders of junior securities and stockholders of the old corporations.

Interest Rates Cut.

In each of the three new first mortgage twelve year bonds are being given to holders of present first mortgage bonds, drawing less interest than the original bonds. All of the new bonds are dated July 1, 1935 and interest to June 30, 1936 will be paid at the time of distribution of the new securities.

Under the new plan the theater rentals are to be applied in payment of taxes, insurance, nominal administration expenses and payment of interest. The remainder is to be used for retirement of the bonds up to a certain point. Then if the funds available for retirement reach a satisfactory figure, dividends on the stock of the new corporation may be paid, Keith said.

New Leases Made.

The new leases, running for the same term as the new bonds, are on a graduated percentage basis with minimum guaranteed rentals. The minimum rent on the 3,937 seat Marbro theater, 4106 West Madison, will be $90,000 annually, compared with a former $80,000 guarantee.

On the Granada theater, 6427-45 Sheridan road, with 3,442 seats, the minimum guarantee is $47,500, compared with $42,500 formerly. The 1,527 Broadway Strand, 1641 West Roosevelt road, will have a reduced minimum rent, $27,000, compared with $27,500 formerly.

The Marbro bond issue outstanding is $1,431,600 at 6½ per cent—the new issue is at 4 per cent. The Granada issue of $940,900, at 6½ per cent, will have its interest rate reduced to 3 per cent. The Broadway Strand $207,800 issue, at 6½ per cent, has been cut to 5 per cent.

HIGH GRADE HOGS ADVANCE TO NEW TOPS FOR YEAR

Hog receipts at the stockyards were cut to 6,000 head yesterday, the smallest Friday run in three months, as rains relieved the serious water situation in many sections of the live stock country, especially in territory tributary to the Chicago market. Top grade swine rose to new highs for the year, load lots of 210 to 220 pound averages reaching $11.60 and small lots $11.65, indicating gains of 35 and 40 cents compared with a week ago.

Lightweights and pigs, which were being sold freely a week ago, composed a much smaller share of the receipts yesterday, and these scored the sharpest advances, rising 15 to 25 cents. However, the bulk of yesterday's crop sold at about the same prices as those paid Thursday.

Practically no changes occurred in cattle prices yesterday. Receipts were light, totaling 2,000, including 700 direct to the packers, and the quality of offerings was rather plain. Some weakness was uncovered in grassy classes of steers.

No highly finished cattle arrived, the best here selling at $9.25, with the bulk at $7.50 to $8.75. Sixty head of 425 pound low grade steers sold at $3.75. Beef cows were steady to weak. Fed hefers held firm, but there was some weakness in the grassy kinds.

Packers paid steady prices for slaughter lambs, giving $10 for the best western range stock and $9.75 for natives. A few natives to city butchers reached $10.
